Nixon Takes Oath As 37th U.S. President

Pledges Energies To Peace

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Richard M. Nixon assumed the awesome powers and crushing burdens of the presidency today with a solemn commitment to devote all his energies to "the cause of peace among nations" and the healing of strident divisions among the American people.

The 56-year-old Californian, who was counted out of national politics after a crushing defeat just six years ago, became the 37th President of the United States at 9:16 a.m. (PST), the moment he completed the oath of office prescribed by the Founding Fathers.

AWARE OF PROBLEMS

With the somber countenance of a man fully aware of the problems confronting him, the new President delivered a 17-minute inaugural address pledging that under his administration, America will seek "the greatest honor history can bestow"—the title of peacemaker.

"After a period of confrontation, we are entering an era of negotiation," he told the thoroughly chilled but attentive audience estimated at 65,000 that jammed Capitol plaza to witness the most important civic ritual of the American republic.

Sleet and freezing rain, which had been forecast, held off during the hour-long ceremony. But the temperature was just above freezing, and 15 mile winds sharply increased its bite.

Nixon's address was delivered slowly, deliberately, with none of the informal digressions or oratorical gestures that usually characterize his speeches. He was interrupted by applause nine times, and received a one-minute ovation at the finish.

DEEP FEELING

Gravely—with obvious deep feeling—Nixon appealed to his countrymen to "stop shouting at one another," and to learn to listen, to care, to understand, to display in their everyday relations the simple but basic virtues of "goodness, decency, love, kindness."

Simply "to lower our voices" would help to relieve domestic tensions which have brought about "a crisis of spirit" in America, he said.

"Our destiny offers, not the cup of despair, but the chalice of opportunity," he said. "So let us seize it, not in fear, but in gladness."

To any who feared that a Republican administration might turn its back on the social programs of Lyndon B. Johnson's "Great Society," Nixon offered some assurances.

He said, "We will press ur-

MISSES HIGH NOON

For 16 Minutes Nation Is Without A Chief Executive

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 16 minutes today the United States technically had no president.

The terms in office of President Lyndon B. Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey expired at noon, as prescribed by the 20th Amendment to the Constitution.

However, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had been sworn in just after noon and so, theoretically, the power of the presidency was temporarily his until Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court administered the oath to Nixon.

Harry S Truman had missed the noon deadline by 29 minutes in 1949. Dwight D. Eisenhower by 32 minutes in 1953, and the late John F. Kennedy by 51 minutes in 1961.

But Eisenhower was also the only recent president to meet the deadline, taking the oath for his second term, in 1957, at 10:28 a.m. in a private ceremony.

That was on a Sunday and the public inauguration ceremony was held the next day. Eisenhower repeated the oath-taking then.

Storm Dumps Six Inches Of Rain, Causes Flooding

A relentless statewide weekend storm which dumped more than six inches of rain on parts of Marin and caused extensive flooding, accidents, rock slides and blackouts, will continue through tomorrow, the weatherman predicted today.

Following on its heels, a new series of storms is reported moving in from the Pacific.

Water flowed over the Gallinas Creek dike in Santa Venetia yesterday, flooding most of the streets in Gallinas Village and innundating lawns of hundreds of homes.

Water run up to three feet deep along Vendola Drive, Hawthorne Way, La Pasada, Mabry Way, Birch Way, Ash Way and a portion of Galerita Way. On several of the streets, youngsters rowed where cars usually travel.

The Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church at 635 Adrian Way was flooded with about six inches of water.

Eight families near the Glenwood Middle School site off San Pedro Road have been marooned since Saturday as water which formerly drained onto the recently filled site sat on Main Drive near Manzanita Avenue.

The San Rafael School District has contracted for a drainage system to take care of the water, but Supt. John F. Plank said the pump probably won't be in operation until mid-February.

Sausalito firemen had to use a rowboat to reach a call at Marinship and a houseboat which was home to about 20 hippies sank at 602 Humboldt Avenue.

Other significant flooding was reported along Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael, the Kay Park area of Tamalpais Valley, the Strawberry Peninsula, along Lucky Drive and Marina Village in Corte Madera.

During high tide yesterday, the California Highway Patrol closed a stretch of Shoreline Highway in the heliport area and a section of Miller Avenue near Tamalpais High School was closed from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company reported about 2500 customers in southern Corte Madera and the Enchanted Knolls and Scott's Valley areas of Mill Valley were without power from 7:04 to 7:28 p.m. Saturday after a tree fell on a

Inaugural Militants Arrested

ROPE BARRICADE

Large numbers of policemen and plainclothesmen arrived at the scene. A rope barricade was stretched across 14th street, at its intersection with Pennsylvania.

A band of the dissidents burned dozens of small souvenir American flags at a number of points along Pennsylvania Avenue. In one instance, a batch of 20 or so flags were ignited beneath a group of souvenir Republican elephants being sold by a hawker.

Police arrested at least 10 demonstrators at or near the flag burning. At one point, they held three youths immobilized with hammerlocks until a police patrol wagon came.

A few minutes later, two girls were picked up bodily by men in civilian clothes and carried kicking and screaming to a van. The flag burning took place near a bloc of bleacher seats purchased by counter-inauguration organizers.

SEVERAL ARRESTS

Several arrests were made before the demonstrators reached the parade route. One was a middle-aged man who rushed into the first ranks of the marchers. Three demonstrators, as well as the man, were arrested. "Communists! Communists!" he shouted. "Seig heil!" the paraders retorted.

Some of the demonstrators clustered in a huddle outside the famous Willard Hotel, the headquarters of the Inaugural committee. Some of them chanted, "The streets belong to the people."

The threatened disruption began in a park where the demonstrators gathered while, at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, the inaugural ceremonies were being held at

New U.S. Team Arriving In Paris For Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — The Nixon Administration's first team for the Vietnam peace talks began arriving in Paris today, and the four delegations were expected to get down to business before the end of the week.

Lawrence Walsh, who will replace Cyrus R. Vance as the U.S. delegations No. 2 man, arrived this morning. Henry Cabot Lodge, the delegation chief, was due tonight from Washington.

Walsh said on his arrival there are elements of optimism in the coming negotiations to end the war. But "the timing of it may be difficult," he added.

"It would be wrong to minimize the difficulties ahead," Walsh told newsmen at Orly Airport. "Everyone realizes we have made a good start, but everyone also realizes that there is a great deal more to be accomplished. It seems to me the elements are here for optimism, but the timing of it may be difficult."

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front proposed Saturday that the first session of substantive talks be held tomorrow But Lodge said the U.S. response would have to await his arrival in Paris, and other officials in Washington doubted the talks could get under way so soon.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, supervisor of the South Vietnamese delegation, was expected back in Paris early this week. He had returned to Saigon before Christmas while the talks were deadlocked over the shape of a conference table.

In Washington, Harriman told his successor the stage has been set for "new and serious talks for a peaceful settlement" of the war in Vietnam.

"You'll be hard to follow," replied Lodge. "I'll do my best and look forward to consulting you and getting your advice."

At the White House Harriman told President Johnson: "I'm happy we were able to keep the train on the track in your administration and are now turning it over to the new administration in a manner in which they can move ahead."

Lodge also conferred with President-elect Nixon at the Statler Hilton Hotel. There was no account of their talk, but the two posed for photographs and Nixon quipped: "Let the record show this is a round table," a reference to the agreement on a circular table which broke the procedural deadlock last week at the Paris conference.

After 10 weeks of stalemate on the table shape, the delegates from the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the NLF met Saturday to settle other procedural matters. A few hours later they unexpectedly announced a decision to cut short further haggling on minor items.

The sudden burst of speed stirred speculation that pressure had been brought to bear by Moscow on North Vietnam and Washington on its South Vietnamese ally.

Pueblo Skipper Testifies Request For 'Destruct System' Deferred

CORONADO (AP) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, skipper of the USS Pueblo, said today there was no "destruct" system on board to destroy secret equipment and code when the intelligence ship was captured by North Koreans because the Navy deferred his request for one.

He made the statement in opening testimony at a court of inquiry into the seizure of the Pueblo last year. He said the "destruct system"—a means of destroying secret equipment with explosives— was deferred because of "problems of time and money."

"I requested that a destruct system be installed on board," he said. "Not a specific one. I am not familiar with explosives. But I felt there would be people in Washington who would be able to give me specific action."

The Navy has said many valuable items of intelligence, codes and equipment were aboard the Pueblo when it fell into North Korean hands. Bucher has said previously that some but not all of the classified material was destroyed before the ship was boarded.

"I did request that a destruct system be installed in the electronic spaces on the ship," Bucher said. "I requested this together with the crypto (code) area.

"I wrote a classified letter about it and included it in my monthly reports to CNO (chief of naval operations)."

Bucher said action on his request, along with other suggestions for improving the Pueblo during its conversion into an intelligence ship in the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, was deferred partly because $1 million was cut from his conversion allocation.

"Eleven million dollars had been allocated for the conversion of two ships, the Pueblo and the Palm Beach, giving them $5.5 million each," Bucher said.

"This was cut back by $1 million on each ship," he said.

Among "the most important improvements deferred for some reason or another," he said, "was the destruct system."

Bucher said his request for the destruction equipment "went up through the chain of command and I received what I considered to be thoughtful replies. The chief of naval operations and others all commented on this specific point."

Navy personnel, civilians and 45 newsmen filled the small amphitheater where the inquiry is being conducted at the Naval Amphibious Base here. The 111-seat room ordinarily is used for classroom training.

A question facing the high-ranking court of inquiry, is: Did the ship intrude into North Korean territorial waters before it was boarded by the North Koreans last Jan 23?

North Korea says it did. Bucher, says it didn't.

Adm. Thomas I. Moorer, chief of naval operations, has said that the Navy never doubted Bucher's word. U.S. evidence, Moorer said shows the Pueblo as 16 miles from Yo Do Island —four miles beyond the Communist country's territorial limit—when she was boarded.

Dresses Warmly For Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP) — The quadrennial debate over what sort of hats a congressman should wear to presidential inaugurations took on a new dimension today via Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va.

Hechler, on the other hand, was more than prepared for today's 30-degree inauguration day temperatures.

Striking S.F. Teacher Holds Grades Depend On Negotiation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A spokesman for striking union teachers at San Francisco State College says some students may not get grades this semester unless California officials "back down and negotiate."

Prof. Arthur Bierman of the American Federation of Teachers, referred yesterday to the state's ruling that teachers who miss classes for five consecutive days without authorization are subject to "automatic resignations."

On the campus itself today, a steady rain thinned ranks of striking AFT teachers to the smallest since the union struck the campus Jan. 6.

The AFT, which claims one-quarter of the college's 1,300 faculty members, mustered only 15 pickets at the main entrance and small clusters of umbrella-carrying strikers at other spots.

Meanwhile, acting president S. I. Hayakawa was expected to meet today with a four-member team from the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which has begun a study of disturbances which have plagued the 18,000-student campus since Nov. 6.

Twenty-eight AFT teachers at nearby San Jose State College have been notified of their automatic resignations because of a sympathy strike in support of union members at San Francisco State.

Hayakawa has threatened similar action, but no specific resignations have been announced in San Francisco.

Bierman said yesterday AFT members want to give the students grades for their semester's work, "but can't unless Governor (Ronald) Reagan and the state college administration back down and negotiate honestly..."

"The only position we have at this moment is that if we are fired for striking, we will not be employees of S.F. State," Bierman said. "And if we're not teachers any more, we cannot give grades to students."

Police were called on campus yesterday when campus militants invaded the library while a group of volunteers, including Mrs. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, was attempting to return books to their proper shelves.

Thousands of volumes had been stacked on tables and floors after library assistants last week joined the strike of union teachers and minority student groups.

Dissident students created the chaos by checking out books in large quantities and returning them immediately. Other books were placed in wrong racks and several were stolen.

A group of about 50 students, faculty wives and volunteers was assisting in the library cleanup when dissidents entered and began yelling at the volunteers to leave. One book was thrown and several verbal threats were made before police restored order.

Militants have engaged in violence and vandalism on campus since Black Panther George Murray was suspended as a part time English instructor in early November. Then the Black Students Union and Third World Liberation Front struck to support 15 demands, dealing mainly with the upgrading of minority studies.

Nearly 170 persons have been arrested as the results of repeated clashes between demonstrators and police, who have been present on campus since Hayakawa took over the strife-torn school in the first week of December.

The AFT has threatened to call a statewide one-day strike at the 19-college system Wednesday in protest against the "automatic resignation" ruling.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

A Unity First

NEW YORK (AP) — Archbishop Iakovos, primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, preached yesterday at St. Patrick's Cathedral — becoming the first prelate of Eastern Orthodoxy to do so at a Roman Catholic church.

The archbishop, who previously led a prayer at the cathedral, called for Christian unity as a "sacred duty" in his sermon marking the opening here of the worldwide Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

"I am afraid that while we talk of Christian unity," he said, "we add another inch to the walls of partition for the simple reason that we do not like to part with what we call our own traditions and and disciplines."

Bitter Convention

ROME (AP) — Flaminio Piccoli was elected secretary-general of the ruling Christian Democratic party yesterday after a bitter convention dispute that threatened to split the party, Italy's largest.

Piccoli, 53, is considered a close ally of Premier Mariano Rumor, who resigned as party secretary-general Friday. Former Premier Aldo Moro tried to block Piccoli's election, accusing Rumor of trying to perpetuate "a hierarchy of power." Rumor's allies said Moro was bitter because he could not regain control of the party.

In the election held by the party's national council, Piccoli received 85 of 177 votes, and 87 were blank. The other five were listed as "for others," and it was not known how many of these went to Moro. At the start of the three-day meeting, it had been predicted Piccoli would get 75 per cent of the vote and Moro 25 per cent.

Telegraphers Out

LONDON (AP) — More than 3,500 overseas telegraphers struck for more pay today, disrupting cable and telex communications to and from Britain.

Government officials said the strike could have a serious effect on the stock exchange and money markets, trading companies, banks and newspapers.

Tom Jackson, general secretary of the Union of Post Office Workers, told newsmen: "This union was formed in 1871 and it is our first strike. It is pretty important to us. We are going ahead reluctantly, but determined."

The telegraphers are employed by the General Post Office, a government department. It has offered pay increases of 7 per cent, retroactive to last July, in return for measures the union claims would cut out more than 350 jobs. The union also says the raises should be 9 of 10 per cent.

Skilled telegraphers in London now earn a mimimum of $3,144 a year, but allowances and overtime can push their income much higher.

Abandon Ship

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The 493-ton Finnish freighter Bore IX was abandoned by her 13 crewmen last night after she listed and began to sink in a heavy snowstorm. Seven men were rescued, one was found dead on a life raft and five are missing.

"There is no longer any hope of finding any survivors," a spokesman of the Stockholm Coastal Radio said today. He reported the Bore IX was sinking in the Stockholm Archipelago, northeast of the Alma ground lighthouse.

Paper Suspended

SAIGON (AP) —Quyet Tien (Determined to Progress), one of Saigon's largest Vietnamese-language newspapers, was suspended today for an indefinite period, government sources said.

The newspaper, which has a circulation of 10,000 to 15,000, was suspended because a gossip column slandered Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, and Premier Tran Van Hong, the sources said.

Sea Water Funds?

JERUSALE M(AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol says President Johnson has asked the U.S. Congress to approve a multimillion-dollar aid plan for an Israeli plant to make sea water drinkable.

The proposal calls for a $40 million grant and an $18 million long-term loan. It would allow the Israelis to decide whether to use nuclear or conventional power.

Eshkol said yesterday Johnson told him of the recommendation in a reply to a farewell message sent by Eshkol to the outgoing President.

Housing Protests

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Tempers inflamed by a critical housing shortage are expected to make demonstrations a regular feature of Dublin weekends, with militants in two universities and Roman Catholic leftwingers joining in.

More than 1,000 demonstrators were evicted by club-wielding police when they staged a sit-down Saturday night in the heart of Dublin. Scores were injured, and organizers claimed young girls were manhandled and beaten.

Ireland's largest union, the Transport and General Workers Union, said it would call for protest demonstrations against the police later this week.

Saturday's demonstration was sparked by the hailing of a leader of the Dublin Housing Action Committee, a group pressing claims for the city's 10,000 families without adequate homes. The jailed man, Denis Dennehy, is on a hunger strike after being imprisoned for occupying a vacant house with his wife and young children.

Enters Hospital

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Frank Sinatra's father will undergo tests in Methodist Hospital for a possible abnormal swelling of a blood vessel in his abdomen.

Anthony Sinatra, 74, of Fort Lee, N.J., entered the hospital yesterday accompanied by his wife, Natalie, and singer-actor son, Frank. A spokesman said the elder Sinatra will be given tests during the next few days and was "resting comfortably."

Thomas Honored

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Entertainer Danny Thomas was honored last night for showing "The great spirit of loyalty, courage and benevolence that is a tradition of the people of Lebanon." He received the Order of Adonis medal from the Sons of the Desert Shrine Club. Thomas is of Lebanese descent.

Like The Cold

CHICAGO (AP — The baboons have been left out in the cold at Brookfield Zoo this year and they seem to be thriving on it.

Zoo Director Peter Crowcroft reports they may get a bit cold sitting in the snow but their coats are thick and gleaming and they are healthier than in past years, when they wintered indoors.

Infrared heaters have been installed under some cave ledges to keep them from getting too cold.

Negro Leader Says Ray Not King Killer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference's nonviolent education and direct action wing says James Earl Ray is innocent of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. But he isn't saying what evidence he has.

At a news conference yesterday, Rev. James Bevel said, "I won't discuss the specific evidence now because it wouldn't be beneficial to James Earl Ray. But he's not guilty."

RAY TELEGRAM

Bevel, 32, a former liaison officer between SCLC and militant Negro groups, sent a telegram to Ray Saturday which read:

"I would like to inform you that I would be very happy to take your case without fee. I was present on April 4 at the Lorraine Motel when Dr. King died—you have been accused of murdering him. Of course, I know you are not guilty."

NABBED IN LONDON

King, who headed the SCLC, was shot to death in Memphis, Tenn., last April 4. Ray was arrested in London following an intensive manhunt and extradited to Memphis where he faces trial beginning March 3.

Bevel said he didn't step up with his alleged information sooner because "I hadn't been responsive to him.

"But then I thought, 'Here's a man sitting here that shouldn't be here.' "

Bevel said he would continue to be "very good and warm" toward Ray even if Ray decides not to accept his services.

Bevel is not a bar member, but a laywer "by circumstances." A native of Itta Bena, Miss., he has represented himself several times in civil rights cases in Mississippi.

There has been no comment from either public defender Hugh Stanton in Memphis or Ray's attorney, Percy Foreman of Houston, to Bevel's telegram.

Ray has been housed in a heavily guarded cell in Shelby County jail at Memphis since his extradition.

He originally was scheduled to go on trial in November but Judge W. Preston Battle ordered a delay after Ray fired his lawyer, Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, Ala.

And last week, when Foreman was taken ill, Battle ordered Stanton to begin preparing a defense for Ray in case Foreman could not be ready for the March trial.

One Person Is Slain In Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gunmen shot and killed one man and critically injured another during separate holdups in downtown San Francisco.

James McClellan, 50, died of a bullet wound in the chest after being accosted on the street yesterday by a man who took his wallet containing $20, police said.

On another corner, Francis E. Rhodes, 19, of Alameda was shot through the chest Sunday after he was approached by a man who said: "Give me a quarter."

The shooting occurred after Rhodes said he was carrying only three cents.

Marines Flush Out, Kill 23 Reds In Tunnel Fight

SAIGON (UPI) — Half naked Marines carrying .45-caliber pistols in one hand and flashlights in the other killed 23 Viet Cong and captured 136 more in a battle 30 feet underground, military spokesmen said today.

The fighting raged during the weekend in the guerrilla tunnel network uncovered by some of the 3,000 Marines and 2,000 South Vietnamese troops sweeping the two-mile-square Batangan Peninsula 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

The drive into the peninsula, long a guerrilla stronghold, marked the largest Marine amphibious operation since the Korean War.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, Communist forces greeted the Nixon administration today with assaults against two U.S. bases near Saigon and a raid into the Central highlands city of Ban Me Thuot. The attacks in the hours before Richard M. Nixon's inauguration killed six GIs and wounded 17 more. U.S. artillery blasted the guerrillas back into the jungles.

12th Sirhan Juror Due

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's defense indicates it may accept as jurors the 11 persons unexpectedly seated by the prosecution in the young Jordanian's trial on a charge of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The five women and six men were provisionally seated Friday at the close of the trial's first week after the prosecution said it would accept the jury "as now constituted."

Should the defense also waive its peremptory challenges when the trial resumes tomorrow, the 11 tentative jurors would be permanently seated.

In this event the only argument remaining would center on the 12th juror and the six alternates who must be chosen before testimony begins. It had been expected to take two more weeks to seat a jury.

Militant Action Hit By Students

STANFORD (AP) — More than 1,000 Stanford University students have signed petitions stating "the type of violence displayed by Students for a Democratic Society has no place in an academic environment," a spokesman for the university said yesterday.

The petition drive was launched by John Munger, senior political science major from Tucson, Ariz., after a meeting of Stanford trustees was disrupted last Tuesday.

"The response has really been enthusiastic," Munger said. "We didn't have enough petitions."

Moscow Proposes Weapons Session

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today reaffirmed its willingness to begin a "serious exchange of opinions" with the United States on the reduction of nuclear missile systems for both attack and defense.

The timing of the statement, coincident with the inauguration of President Nixon, emphasized the new Soviet effort to get missile talks started with the United States.

The Soviet government is ready to discuss the "mutual restriction and subsequent reduction of strategic means of delivery of nuclear weapons, including defensive systems," the statement said.

The Soviet government believes it is possible, "though not an easy thing," to settle "concrete questions of curbing the arms race," said a statement read to a news conference by Leonid I. Zamyatin, head of the Foreign Ministry press department.

The statement also called for the "earliest entry into force" of the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons and "its faithful and consistent implentation." The U.S. Senate balked at ratifying the treaty after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Zamyatin repeated the main points made in a Soviet memorandum last July calling for a ban on underground nuclear tests, abolition of foreign military bases, prohibition of flights of nuclear-armed bombers beyond national borders, a halt in the manufacture of nuclear weapons and other measures.

At the same time, however, the statement said Communist countries "must see to the further strengthening of security" because of what it called the aggressive policy of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

OMEGA OPENS AT GRANADA SCHOOL

Two students play chess in one of three commons areas in Omega, the last and largest of the Granada School classroom clusters completed earlier this month. The cluster, which holds 120 students ages 9-12, has six teaching stations and three commons areas, a modification of the original cluster design of four teaching stations and one common area. The building completes the Granada School complex which has been cited throughout the country since it first opened in 1964 as an outstanding example of ungraded school architecture. Muir Beach Water Supply Due Study

How to improve the poor quality of Muir Beach's water supply will be discussed by Muir Beach Community Services District directors Wednesday at the Marin County Civic Center.

Richard C. Bain, chairman of the district board, said the meeting is set for 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chamber on the third floor.

The district has its own well and supplies water to the community of 200 persons, but the water is hard and has a high iron content, Bain explained.

He said there are two possible solutions:

1. Provide water from an existing well about a mile up Frank's Valley by piping it down to Muir Beach.

2. Annex to the Marin Municipal Water District. This would entail a cost of about $238,000 to bring water over the ridge to Muir Beach.

Under the state's Davis-Grunsky act, Bain said the district could get a loan for the $238,000 at a low 2.5 per cent interest over a long period of about 50 years. Such a loan must be approved by a vote of the community.

Representatives from the state, the Marin Municipal Water District, Seascape subdivision, and residents of Muir Beach have been invited to the meeting.

Quail have been known to tunnel in snow to escape hunters.

Novato Volunteer Heads Sheriff's Marine Patrol

Al Miller of Novato, active in the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol for nine years, was installed Friday night as patrol captain at an annual dinner meeting and installation service at the Loch Lomond Yacht Club in San Rafael.

New patrol lieutenant is Norman A. Tomlin of Fairfax. William N. Berg of San Rafael is yeoman; William J. Treber of Novato is purser; and Joseph M. Thomas, also of Novato, is master-at-arms.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos was installing officer. Retiring Captain Muggenthaler told the near 85 persons attending that about 4,000 man hours were contributed the past year by the 35-member organization. He said 68 rescues were effected.

The patrol is a voluntary search and rescue group.

Teachers Set Walkout At Sonoma State

The Sonoma State College American Federation of Teachers local will join a one-day work stoppage if threats to fire striking San Jose State College faculty members is carried out.

Dr. Bernice Goldmark, president of AFT Local No. 1764, said none of the professors have officially been fired, but said a strike would come within 24 hours of the first termination.

This is finals week at Sonoma State College, so the strike will not effect classes. Dr. Goldmark said most professors will administer the exams, but will not conduct routine office hours or attend committee meetings. She noted the faculty will also stage a demonstration on the strike day called by the statewide AFT.

The union has received strike sanction from the Sonoma County Labor Council and has won support from the associated students and the state academic senate.

High Court Limits Open Housing Repeals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court limited today the power of cities to repeal open housing laws.

In an 8-1 decision the court found Akron, Ohio, had put an unconstitutional "special burden" on its Negro residents by requiring bans on housing discrimination to have the approval of the majority of the voters in the city.

Justice Hugo L. Black, the only dissenter, protested strenuously that there was no foundation in the Constitution for this latest pronouncement on civil rights.

The test case was brought by Nellie Hunter, a Negro housewife, who had difficulty buying a house. She tried to rely on an open housing ordinance adopted by the city council that assured "equal opportunity" to decent housing facilities.

She was unsuccessful because the city charter had been amended to nullify the ordinance and to require that any future ones must be approved by the city electorate.

Justice Byron R. White, writing for the court, said the amendment "places special burdens on racial minorities within the government process." He added:

"This is no more permissible than denying them the vote, on an equal basis with others."

The court, before quitting early to attend the presidential inauguration of Richard M. Nixon, took these other actions:

Agreed to consider Capt. Dale E. Noyd's claim that the Air Force acted illegally in confining him while he was in the process of appealing his court-martial conviction to military courts. Noyd was confined on charges of refusing to train a student pilot for the Vietnam war.

Turned aside a challenge to the mobilization of Army reservists for Vietnam duty without a congressional declaration of war. A group of reservists from the Cleveland area, most of them already in Vietnam, had raised the challenge.

Refused to review lower court decisions which accorded victory to a mechanic who refused to pay a 25-cents-a-month union dues increase and wound up without a job. The mechanic, Vincent P. Brady of Wilmington, Del., won $10,617.80 in lost wages and the right to his old job back with Trans World Airlines.

Refused to prevent the establishment of a branch of Auburn University at Montgomery, Ala. An agency of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had contended opening of the branch would help segregated schooling.

Nixon Takes Oath As 37th President

gently forward" towards the goals of "full employment, better housing, excellence in education; in rebuilding our cities and improving our rural areas; in protecting our environment and enhancing the quality of life."

Retiring President Johnson laid down his burden of office with a smile that played about his face continually throughout the ceremony. When his Republican successor reached the platform, Johnson greeted him with a warm handshake and Texas-style backpatting embrace—which Nixon returned.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew took his oath of office shortly before Nixon was sworn in by his old California political rival, Chief Justice Earl Warren. It was in seeking the governorship of California in 1962 that Nixon suffered the defeat which nearly all politicians figured was fatal to his White House ambitions.

To Negroes, who voted overwhelmingly against him, Nixon pledged a continuation of the struggle for equal rights.

"No man can be fully free while his neighbor is not," he said. "To go forward at all is to go forward together. This means black and white together, as one nation, not two."

Nixon laid heavy stress on his administration's determination to work tirelessly for international peace, and to be "open" to new relationships with former adversaries.

"Let all nations know that during this administration our lines of communication will be open....We cannot expect to make everyone our friend, but we can try to make no one our enemy."

"To all who would be tempted by weakness, let us leave no doubt that we will be as strong as we need to be for as long as we need to be."

He challenged Communist bloc nations to "peaceful competition, not in conquering territory or extending dominion, but in enriching the life of man."

He also invited all nations to cooperate with America "to reduce the burden of arms, to strengthen the structure of peace, to lift up the poor and the hungry."

Nixon did not mention Vietnam by name. But he said:

"The peace we seek to win is not victory over any other people, but the peace that comes 'with healing in its wings' with compassion for those who have suffered; with understanding for those who have opposed us; with the opportunity for all the people of this Earth to choose their own destiny."

In his inaugural address, Nixon also said that America today finds itself "rich in goods, but ragged in spirit; reaching with magnificent precision for the moon, but falling into raucous discord here on earth."

"We are caught in war, wanting peace. We are torn by division, wanting unity. We see around us empty lives, wanting fulfillment. We see tasks that need doing, waiting for hands to do them."

To this "crisis of the spirit," Nixon said the only answer is a return to the basics of friendly hunan discourse.

He appealed particularly for a cessation of "angry rhetoric that fans discontents into hatreds."

"We cannot learn from one another until we stop shouting at one another—until we speak quietly enough so that our words can be heard as well as our voices."

He promised that his administration will listen to the voices of all the people, including "the voices of quiet anguish...that speak without words; the injured voices, the anxious voices, the voices that have despaired of being heard."

"Those who have been left out, we will try to bring in," he pledged, "Those left behind, we will help to catch up."

Nixon concluded the address with the Lincolnesque call to the nation to "go forward, firm in our faith, steadfast in our purpose, cautious of the dangers; but sustained by our confidence in the will of God and the promise of man."

Nixon, Agnew and their families went to the White House for "coffee and conversation" with the Johnsons about an hour before the start of the inaugural ceremony at the Capitol.

Johnson and Nixon rode to the Capitol together — a traditional act symbolizing the peaceful transfer of power which Americans have come to take for granted, but which is still regarded in some nations as a politica miracle.

Nixon wore formal daytime attire — club coat, striped trousers and homburg. Johnson, who insisted on wearing a plain business suit to his own 1965 inaugural, bowed to Nixon's preferences and dressed formally today.

IN MEMORIAM

NETTRO, ARTHUR "JIM"— In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, ARTHUR "JIM" NETTRO, who passed away January 20, 1963.

We often sit in silence
No eyes may see us weep;
But forever in our aching hearts,
His memory we will keep.

The call was short, the shock severe.
To part with one we loved so dear;
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts he liveth still.

'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again.
Where parting is no more;
And that the one we truly loved
Has only gone before.

The flowers we lay upon his grave,
May wither and decay;
But love for him who sleeps beneath,
Will never fade away.

KEY IS FLEXIBILITY

What Is An Ideal Teen-Age Center?

By JOANNE GRANT

A place where the pressure is off — where competition and challenge have been removed and young people can relax and do their thing is the ideal youth center.

That is the philosophy Kevin Crawley of the successful Santa Clara Youth Village sketched Saturday in an all-day conference at San Rafael High School on establishing a youth center.

Crawley described in detail the flexible Santa Clara facility where teen-agers can go to dance, play pool, participate in group encounter sessions under trained staff, do a dozen other things or just sit.

His report and others by Ronald Koller of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department and William Burgess of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau serves as a starting point for the day's discussion sponsored by Interact, a San Rafael High School service club sponsored by Rotary.

Talk focused on what kind of a center is needed, where it should be, who it should serve, whether it should be operated as a public or private agency, funding, staff and how to get community support.

"A wholesome place to go," was the consensus of one study group as to the type of place, while another called for "a center of choices." The ideas were as numerous as the group.

A major concern of a few of the 60 adults and teens was the group itself.

"You guys are set pretty well," said Carl J. Jensen, a student at College of Marin who works with several recreation departments in the county. He described most of the short-haired, conservatively-dressed youths as "headed for Rotary" and "the Establishment."

He expressed concern that the group did not include young people who might really need a youth center and that the planning discussions weren't including their needs. He cited teen drug users — "more than you think" — as not included.

Gary Kasprzak, a student at Redwood High School, expressed dismay that there were no black students or long-haired youths. He urged these be included in future meetings, although Rick Haenggi, president of Interact, assured him they had been invited to the Saturday meeting.

Another concern was with duplication of effort, as several participants noted other youth center studies already underway.

"There are about four or five groups trying to get something going," Jensen commented. "It seems like you are trying to compete with them."

Lothar Salin, a member of the county parks and recreation commission, suggested extending Youth Power, a teen organization which has started a coffee house in Terra Linda, to more of the county. "It would avoid some duplication," he said.

At the end of more than six hours of discussion, the group agreed on one point — more study and meetings are needed.

But a substantial segment also wanted to get something started so the next meeting wouldn't just repeat the first one.

Twenty-six of the persons attending volunteered to investigate places, staff and funding for a youth center and then set up another meeting.

Dr. Alan Ellsberg, principal of San Rafael High School, and Jensen were named chairmen of the steering committee.

Mrs. Vreeland March will be installed as president of the Marin Senior Association at 10 a.m. Friday at the San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets.

Reed Trustees Face Giant Budget Trims

The Reed Union School District board in a special workshop Saturday began its struggle to reduce a $2,347,467 tentative 1969-70 budget to fit an estimated district income of $1,876,285.

The five-hour session at Bel Aire School was attended by about 85 persons and dealt mainly with two of 10 categories in a proposed budget: administration salaries and teachers' salaries.

The budget, prepared by Supt. H. Joe Edgington, his staff, and school principals at the request of the board, is a possible solution for slimming down expenditures by $471,182, the difference.

The remainder of the categories will be discussed at the regular board meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, also at the school.

These include salaries for certificated employees other than instructors, a psychologist, a counselor, and a director of research grants; classified salaries besides the administrative office employees; health services; transportation; district operation; maintenance; fixed costs including employee health and welfare benefits; and capital outlay.

Edgington's total income figure, the $1,876,285, compares to the $1,925,065 which is to be spent this year, a difference of $64,531.

The tentative 1969-70 budget of $2,347,467 included a 6 per cent cost of living pay raise for teachers, plus a $440 across-the-board increase to make up last year's requested increase. Too, the administrative staff has asked for at least an 8 per cent salary increase, as have non-teaching employees.

Edgington on Jan. 7 said one possibility was a tax rate increase election possibly to be held April 15, to raise the district tax rate by $1 per $100 valuation. The current general tax rate maximum is $2.25, excepting overrides, and $3.535 total with overrides.

Board president K. L. Rice Jr., however, opened yesterday's workshop with the statement that the district must "reconcile our expenditures to the income we have." He declared the meeting would result in no decisions about the new budget, and that the $1 tax rate hike will not be accepted for active consideration until the board has "adequately" explored other resources in having a balanced budget.

He said district taxpayers apparently are getting the feeling that the board is going to seek the hike. The board, however, doesn't yet feel this is a necessary solution, added Rice.

Edgington's balanced budget proposes a total expenditure of $79,565 for administrative salaries for the post of superintendent, assistant superintendent, and five administration clerical employees. It calls for a total increase of $1,689 over the current year, a new total of $27,027. The superintendent also receives $10,337 in another category for supervising activities, and the balanced budget proposes that this be increased to $11,026, a raise of $689.

Teaching salaries would be reduced by $46,453 to a total of $952,450. The figure calls for a reduction of the teaching staff by 10 employees and would grant two-thirds of the salary hike request.

Rice said further study should be made of whether the district should obtain data processing next year, whether the post of half-time director of research should be eliminated, and what conferences should be attended at district expense by administration and teachers.

The board noted that a new school to be built, Reedland Woods School, will likely open in September of 1970, rather than as scheduled next January. Because of this delay, the board agreed that $47,719 previously alloted for operation costs of the school until September, 1970 and for capital outlay can be instead applied to district income for next year.

The capital outlay could then be alloted in the 1970-71 budget, it was pointed out.

Drake Students Win Elections; Two Runoffs Due

Levy beat Donald Glew and Les Thoelecke. Michael Herndon, a junior, defeated Jim Lindauer for vice president. Patti Daly, secretary, and Betsi Herrmann, treasurer, were unopposed.

Senior class winners were: Lenny Marconi, president; Mary Caiati, secretary, and Corinne Sartorio, treasurer. A runoff election for vice president will be held on Wednesday between Sandy Re and Al Tyler.

Junior class winners were: Debbie Olson, president; Julie Mensing, secretary, and Pam Murray, treasurer. A runoff election will also be held for the office of vice president between Darcy Corman and Connie DeMoss.

Sophomore class winners were: Mark Shepherd, president; Larry Jones, vice president; Kris Moffatt, secretary, and a runoff will be held between Leslie Keating and Bill Schultz for treasurer, also on Wednesday.

Vote count was withheld by school authorities.

Park Land To Be Reviewed

Whether or not to accept the offer of the North Marin County Water District for use of a half-acre which it owns on the hill at Vallejo Avenue and Seventh Street for a park will be considered by the Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The water district board last Tuesday offered the site with a 10-foot easement up to it to the city for use as a park. The water district had a tank on the site for many years, but removed the tank to another site, leaving a large flat spot on the side hill which commands a view of downtown Novato. This was the site offered to the city.

The commission will also continue its review of the park master plan.

Jewelry Taken From Allen Home

A diamond ring worth $1,000 was listed among items taken in a daylight burglary Thursday at the James S. Allan home, 298 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, police reported.

Also missing was a gold coin bracelet valued at $400, a .357 magnum revolver, a stereo, a take deck and a synthetic ruby ring, police said.

Young Churchill Planning A Fight

CHICHESTER, England (AP) — In politics the Churchills "never give up," Winston Spencer Churchill said today.

The 28-year-old grandson of Britain's World War II leader said his failure to win the endorsement of the Chichester Conservative Association for the district's seat in the House of Commons would not deter him from a political career.

The local Conservatives nominated Christopher Chataway, a former athlete who served one term in Commons, as their nominee in the next national election. Chichester is a Tory stronghold and the incumbent, Walter Loveys, has announced he won't run again because of ill health.

Fatal Ski Bus Held Unsafe

WOODLAND (AP) — The California Highway Patrol says a chartered bus involved in a West Sacramento crash which killed one person Jan 11 was "an unsafe vehicle."

Highway Patrol officials in Yolo County met with the district attorney Friday after five days of investigation of the wrecked bus. Officers cited the bus's "worn tires and deteriorated air bellows."

William Stone, 16, of Orinda, was killed in the crash and 29 persons were injured. The Diablo Charter Lines bus was taking Contra Costa County ski club members to Squaw Valley.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Be Sure Of Discards Before Drawing Trumps At Two Level

Almost all experts in the United States use the weak opening two-bid. An opening bid of two spades, two hearts or two diamonds shows a strong six-card suit in a hand that is not quite worth an ordinary bid of one. (The opening bid of two clubs, reserved for all very powerful hands, will be our subject next week.)

OPENING BID

South's opening bid of two hearts is a typical example of the weak two-bid. If South passed, West would open with one club and would rebid in spades. East and West would bid at least two or three spades, perhaps even four.

West would make 10 tricks at spades, setting up the diamonds to get rid of his two low clubs. South is far better off playing the hand at two hearts, which may well be the case if both East and West are conservative customers. What's more, South can even make his part score by careful play.

SPADE OPENING

West opens the king of spades, and East signals encouragement by playing the nine. West continues spades, and South ruffs the third round. Now South must immediately lead a club, postponing the trumps until a more convenient time.

West plays a low club, and South tries a finesse with dummy's ten. Luck is with declarer, for East must use the king to win the trick. East shifts to a diamond, but it is too late.

DIAMOND WIN

South wins with the king of diamonds and leads his other club. West steps up with the ace of clubs and leads another diamond to dummy's ace. Declarer is now in position to lead the queen of clubs to get rid of his last diamond.

At last the time has come to lead trumps. Declarer leads the ten of hearts from dummy. East wins with the ace of hearts and leads another diamond, but South ruffs with the king of hearts and draws trumps with the queen and jack.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two hearts (a weak two-bid), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—Q 9 7 2
♥—A 5
♦—Q 10 9 8
♣K 9 6.

What do you say?

Answer; Pass.

Partner has less than an ordinary opening bid, and so do you. If you both had opening bids, you would have a game. Since you both have less, the chances are that you can make only eight or nine tricks.

Police Raid Apartment, Nab Guns

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police discovered a cache of weapons plus Black Panther Party propaganda supplies early today when they raided an eighth-floor apartment reportedly being used as a base for sniper fire.

No injuries were reported from the rifle fire or the well coordinated police assault on the suspected apartment located about five blocks from city hall.

Two men and three juvenile girls were arrested at the apartment. The men were identified as Cleveland Brooks and Charles Henderson.

Officers said the girls admitted there had been rifle fire from the apartment, but they said the men were only shooting into the air "for kicks."

In addition to numerous rifles and several hundred rounds of ammunition, police said they found movie projectors and public address equipment belonging to San Francisco State College.

Police said the Black Panther Party materials included propaganda papers, membership application forms and a feature movie on the Panthers.

Blaze Destroys House Believed A Century Old

An unoccupied house, reported to be more than 100 years old, was destroyed by fire early yesterday on Shoreline Highway, two miles north of Tomales.

The two-story, eight-room, wooden house, formerly was the home of the Guldager family, pioneers in the Tomales area, reported Louis Bloom, county fire chief. Owned by the Guldager estate, it had been vacant for more than a year, the chief reported.

Marin County firemen got the call from a passerby at 12:20 a.m. and when the first truck arrived, the building was more than half destroyed, Chief Bloom said.

The cause of the fire is under investigation, and no estimate has been made yet of the loss, the chief said.

Four Hurt In Almonte Crash

Four persons were injured and one hospitalized yesterday after a pickup truck sideswiped two oncoming cars in Almonte, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Albert M. Decker, 49, of San Francisco, was reported in fair condition today at French Hospital, San Francisco, with four broken ribs and face cuts. His wife, Barbara J. Decker, 48, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes.

Another driver, Jack M. Lee, 27, of Hayward, was treated at Marin General Hospital for back strain and his passenger, Jeannie P. Hom, 21, of San Francisco, was treated there for a bruised scalp.

The highway patrol said the accident occurred at 3 p.m. on Almonte Boulevard when a truck driven by Sandra L. Tupper, 16, of 133 Locust Avenue, Mill Valley, crossed the center line and hit the Decker and Lee cars. She was cited for driving across the center line.

San Anselman Jailed In Theft Suspicion

A 33-year-old San Anselmo man was booked into County Jail early yesterday on suspicion of burglary after he attracted the attention to an off-duty patrolman while allegedly breaking into a coin laundry.

The suspect, Harry C. Hostetter, 33, of 1175 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, also was booked on suspicion of burglary tools and of possession of narcotics paraphernalia. He was held in lieu of $2,500 bail, and was to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. today.

The off-duty San Rafael officer, Walter P. Kosta, had just returned at 5:30 a.m. to his apartment at 100 Bayo Vista Way, San Rafael, when he heard Hostetter clanging around in an adjacent laundry room. Investigating, Kosta said he found Hostetter with the tools in his hands and found that attempts had been made to pry open coin boxes to the washing and drying machines.

An 18-year-old Kentfield youth was booked into Marin County Jail Friday on suspicion of possession of marijuana after he fled from his car parked on a dirt road in Ross, police said.

Streets Review Set In Petaluma

The Petaluma City Council will review plans for the widening of Magnolia Avenue and the extension of Liberty Street at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today.

At the Oct. 7 council meeting, area property owners lodged complaints and caused council to turn down the plans and request more studies be made. The plan, as presented by City Engineer David Young, includes the widening of Magnolia Avenue to 70 feet from Petaluma Boulevard north of Keokuk Avenue and the extension of Liberty Street from West Street to Magnolia.

At the Jan. 6 meeting, the council denied the rezoning of four acres of Cherry Street at Magnolia because plans to construct apartment houses would interfere with extension of Liberty Street.

Then, he told police, he hitchhiked back to Sausalito, then the car of his stepfather, Stanley Jensen, and drove it to Santa Monica and back, returning Sunday, when he went to police and turned himself in.

Behr Appointed To Crusade Planning Seat

Former Marin County Supervisor Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley has been named to a special committee of the Bay Area Social Planning Council which will conduct a study of the United Bay Area Crusade.

The study has been requested by UBAC, Shetterly said, to determine what services it should support in view of changing times and new needs.

The large amounts of governmental funds now available for human needs and the continuous emergence of new voluntary charitable organizations seeking community support are two factors that caused UBAC to seek the evaluation, he said.

What Kind Of President? Nixon's Words Tell Us

Richard Milhous Nixon today took the oath of office as President of the United States. In doing so, he acquired personal power matched by few other men in the world.

Political pundits and "just plain folks" have done a lot of speculating the past few months on what kind of President he will be.

Perhaps no man who enters the White House becomes just the sort of President he has planned to be. Probably none becomes just the sort of President he has promised to be. Some abandon completely campaign promises that were important in winning election.

RICHARD NIXON'S campaign statements, however, were for the most part consistent with his previous record as congressman, senator, and vice president. Thus, they may give a clearer picture of how he hopes to perform as President than do most of the cerebrations of the pundits.

Here, in his own words, are Nixon's stands on various issues as given during the campaign:

FOREIGN POLICY: "I think we need a foreign policy where other nations in the free world bear their share of the defense of freedom." "The United States is a Pacific power. Both our interests and our ideals propel us westward across the Pacific."

VIETNAM: "I would consider it to be a dishonorable settlement for the United States, under any kind of subterfuge, to pull out." "I oppose a coalition government."

ARMS RACE: "I would restore the strength of the United States" in nuclear weapons. "The Sentinel antiballistic missile system represents a major step."

RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA AND RED CHINA: "We must and shall negotiate. But where the Soviet Union is concerned, talking peace and acting weak does not promote peace." "Trade with China, recognition of China, admitting it to the UN should come only when the Chinese Communists indicate by deeds that they want to be a part of the civilized family of nations."

FOREIGN AID: "Let us help our friends who help themselves, but let us not help any who help our enemies."

DOMESTIC UNREST: "I will expect federal departments concerned with social problems all to be actively dedicated to the stimulation of new voluntary efforts." "What should the role of government in Washington be? To return to the states and cities the resources to do the job themselves."

CRIME: "We will reduce crime and violence when we enforce the laws." "The tragic lesson of guilty men walking free from hundreds of courtrooms across this country has not been lost on the criminal community."

SOCIAL SECURITY: "We must provide immediately for cost of living adjustments in Social Security and railroad retirement benefits."

These statements offer, at best, only a very general outline of what Nixon plans as President. A careful man, he probably avoided specific commitments in realization that they might rise to haunt him.

It has been said that "the President proposes, but Congress disposes." The Congress is controlled by Democrats. What kind of President the man from Whittier in Los Angeles County becomes may depend largely on how well he is able to work with a Democratic Congress. And that process is bound to work some changes in the nature of his presidency.

Thoughts On A Rainy Night

We sometimes feel a bit depressed when the rain pours and the winds blow with gale force and the temperature approaches freezing. Here we are stuck out in the Marin woods, while on the radio a brassy-voiced singer is belting out a tune about forgetting all your worries and cares downtown, where lights are all brighter and everyone's happy.

But our depression lasts only as long as it takes to scrape the mud from our shoes and shake off our raincoat. For forgetting worries and cares, there is nothing like snuggling into a warm chair with a good book, magazine or newspaper or watching television while the rain pounds on the roof.

The lights may be brighter, but we know everyone isn't happy out there. We've been there once or twice.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The public's right to determine the future of education in local districts and its impact on the pocketbook may be reassured if a proposal by state Sen. John G. Schmitz, R. Tustin, gains passage in the 1969 legislative session.

His bill would repeal a part of AB-272, passed in 1967 by the Assembly as a part of an education package sought by then-Speaker Jesse Unruh, which allows all school districts to increase their tax rates without limit, beginning July 1, 1971, without going to the people for approval.

Efforts to repeal the measure in 1968 fell by the wayside.

IN AN ATTEMPT to get an early start in the 1969 Legislature, Schmitz introduced the bill, SB 35, and a resolution on the opening day and called his proposal "among the most important items in my 1969 legislative program."

Schmitz has obtained the signatures of 23 other senators, including seven Democrats, as co-authors. Thus a majority of the Senate is on record in favor of the repeal measure.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is reported to be in support of Schmitz's measure.

AS SOME legislative reviewers like to put it, to grant school officials the right to raise taxes as much as they wish, without the restraint of voter approval, is like turning a child loose in a candy store.

Nearly every educator believes that all elements of education should be expanded continually, without regard to the cost to the public. Many of them object to the need to go to the public for approval of any of their programs.

As Schmitz pointed out: "The cost of public schools is by far the largest single burden imposed by government on the local taxpayer, who is now able to exercise some control over their rising costs by limiting school taxation.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Of Teacher Strike And Old Profession

Recently, a reader referred to the present tactics of the AFT as "street fighting," while at about the same time, Mr. (Gary) Hawkins (AFT local president) was protesting, "We're professionals." (How they love that word!) Well, so are prostitutes, fella! The main difference between the two aforementioned groups of "professionals," at the moment, seems to be that one is honest, the other hypocritical. I leave it to the observer to decide which is which.

This is also a good time for the public to be told definitely whether, in fact, the striking teachers (you should pardon the expression) are going to be paid for the time they have been absent from the classroom. It might also not be a bad idea to inform the rank and file of other unions, who have been told to observe the picket lines (and who might thereby find their pay curtailed) that there have been many allegations from people at the state college camppus that the teachers (the "brains," y'know) have devised a pretty sneaky way of having their cake and eating it too. While ostensibly "on strike" (and with others out in sympathy with them,) they are allegedly having passes signed by Mr. Hawkins to enable them to go to classes and so avoid losing salary, and probably their jobs.

Is there anyone "out there" who can confirm or deny these allegations? If they are true, it is hard to understand how the San Francisco Labor Council with its responsibility to all union members could possibly sanction such a weird strike, where one union's members cross their own picket line, while asking members of other unions to honor it.

Senior Citizens Let Down Again

Senior citizens who placed their faith in President-elect Nixon, and his pledge of automatic Social Security increases to tie in with the rising cost of living, will be disappointed on reading tonight's (Jan. 14) I-J when they learn that Robert H. Finch advised our Persident-elect against this pledge!

The senior citizen in many cases pays state income taxes on his pension, also pays real estate taxes in order to live in his own home, rather than live in low-rent housing for the elderly which his taxes also help pay for!

Perhaps our very busy Assemblyman (William T.) Bagley can find time to represent the senior citizen, many of whom are in dire need of tax relief.

An alternative would be waiting for the senior citizen group (already organized statewide) to form tax relief committees to make a few demands of their own.

Consider the "dissidents" with the outstretched hand, their demands, all wanting part of the old man's pension. We can all hobble down to the polls though when it is time to vote again!

Arab Responsibility In Mid-East War

In answer to H. Cummings" letter of Jan. 7, I would like to state the following:

For hundreds of years the Arabs neglected the Holy Land which they conquered by force. The old Jewish land of "milk and honey" became a desolate desert, infested with malaria and hunger. In the last 60 years Jews returned to their old homeland and made the desert bloom again. The Arab land owners became rich, selling their arid land to the Jewish settlers for high prices. Hundred thousands of Arab workers from all over the Middle East migrated to Palestine to share the new prosperity. Arabs and Jews lived together in peace until the Moslem leaders enticed the Arab masses to a "holy war" against the Jews. This "holy war" was the beginning of the Middle East tragedy. Arabs and Jews became refugees when in 1948 the armies of five Arab states invaded Israel. While Israel absorbed and cared for the Jewish refugees from the Arab countries, the Arab nations failed to absorb the Arab refugees, but used them as political football.

If Arabs instead of negotiating with Israel continue this futile "holy war," then the children of the Middle East will end up like the children of Biafra.

Miwoks' Life Style Survived For Long

Until the (Josephine) Dawson letter appeared here Jan. 13, I missed your curious little editorial about the Coast Miwok Indians on Jan. 2. Late though this is, I hope it will relieve your concern over their lack of the "equivalent of money."

The Coast Miwok not only had money, they were the originators and central source of the medium of exchange for a great deal of Northern California, clamshell disk beads. As we use greenbacks as an equivalent of value, or trade medium, they used beads.

Much as you deplore the life style of the Coast Miwok, it must have been right for them. They lived in Marin for two to three thousand years until, as my book "The Wrath of Coyote" relates, the whites exterminated them. In view of what we've done in 150 years, what odds would you give on the "Effluent Society" lasting as long as the Miwok in Marin?

Think of the new customers you'll draw!" Quite unperturbed, the waitress answered, "Here in Waterbury, sir, we worry lots more about going tipless than topless!"

THE DRUMMONDS

No Need To Wait For History To Evaluate Johnson's Successes

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is no need to wait for history's verdict on ths presidency of Lyndon B. Johnson.

During his five years in office Mr. Johnson has confronted more difficult crises than most of his predecessors and most of the time he has made the right decision at the right time for the right reasons.

A weaker, less determined President might have faltered. Lyndon Johnson faltered hardly at all and the result today is that in the cause of peace, in the cause of racial justice, in the case of ending poverty the nation has at most points been lifted up to a forward road.

THIS ISN'T JUST opinion without proof. And it is a judgment which we believe is shared by the next President. Richard Nixon is showing he intends to build on the innovative measures of the Johnson years and carry them forward, not undo them at any major point.

At the moment LBJ himself is tending to put a low-key estimate on his record "We tried," he is saying. The record is far better than that. Mr. Johnson not only "tried," he succeeded.

He has done more than any previous President to make better education available to more students from elementary schools to college.

He has done more than any previous President to make racial justice a reality in America and to enable black citizens to lay hold of their civil rights and voting rights.

The antipoverty program fumbled and faltered in some of its execution, but Lyndon Johnson is the first President to focus national attention on the problems of so much poverty in the midst of so much affluence and to galvanzie the nation's conscience into beginning to do something about it.

THE KENNEDY-JOHNSON years have been marked by a longer period of sustained prosperity and high economic growth than ever before. LBJ brought about a tax reduction when it was needed to stimulate the economy and, however tardily, persuaded Congress to increase taxes when it was critically needed to restrain the economy.

In all of these areas and in others Mr. Johnson succeeded in persuading Congress to enact the necessary legislation. It was a remarkable achievement, but not LBJ's alone. He was helped by two decades of advocacy and national debate which crystallized public support. Mr. Johnson inherited this public support and used it brilliantly.

In foreign policy the achievement to which history may pay the greatest attention is that the Johnson presidency avoided nuclear war and helped to negotiate the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

IT IS TOO SOON to attempt a verdict on the Vietnamese war because the wisdom of our defense of South Vietnam will be judged by the kind of peace which emerges from the Paris talks.

Mr. Johnson made these talks possible by stopping the bombing of North Vietnam and he did so not because of the pressures from his critics at home but because Hanoi finally accepted the conditions which he said would make ending the bombing possible.

And he gave up running for re-election at a time when there was every probability he would be renominated and when most political reporters thought his chances of re-election were better than even. He did so in the cause of peace.

TODAY LYNDON JOHNSON is leaving office under a cloud of animus and hostility primarily because of the Democratic liberals who didn't like his style and his southern accent and becaue of the anti-Vietnamese war critics who felt that the United States did not have enough at stake in Southeast Asia to defend a small country so far away. .

But the two greatest presidential failures of the last 100 years — Ulysses S. Grant and Warren G. Harding — left office in the sunshine of popular praise.

History's verdict corrected these two misjudgments and will likely correct the other.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

U.S. Proposes To Build Radio Net For Saigon

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Latest multi-million dollar project for South Vietnam is the construction of a nationwide radio network.

It is to cost between $10 million and $20 million in foreign aid funds.

Unless this unannounced plan is junked by the incoming Nixon administration, the Agency for International Development proposes to build at least four powerful stations that would give all of South Vietnam modern radio coverage.

The network is to be completed within 18 months — provided a new large-scale Communist offensive doesn't wreck havoc. That's what happened last year when the Reds' surprise Tet assault destroyed or heavily damaged some stations of a network then being developed.

UNDER THE AID PLAN, the new network would have two channels — on military, one civilian. The former would be under U.S. control and solely for military purposes. The civilian channel would be run by the Saigon government, and not subject to the U.S. in any way.

AID authorities say the multi-million dollar radio project is favored by the State and Defense Departments.

This spring a powerful new Voice of America radio station will go into operation at Tinang in the Philippines. It is costing $27 million to build, will have 10 250,000-watt transmitters and will broadcast to all of Southeast Asia, Red China and reach deep into central and eastern Russia.

REPUBLICAN members of the potent House Education and Labor Committee are quietly but emphatically serving notice on President Nixon's advisers that they are to be fully consulted on the formulation of anti-poverty and welfare policies and legislation.

This demand is sharply laid down in a letter from Rep. William Ayres, O., ranking Republican on the committee, to Richard Nathan, of Brookings Institution, who is chairman of the task force on public welfare.

Inside word is that the Nathan panel has submitted a report recommending sweeping changes in the Johnson administration's anti-poverty and welfare programs. These findings have not been made public but are said to propose:

Dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity, which administers the anti-poverty program, and shifting of its various activities and projects to the Labor Department and Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Representative Carl Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, has introduced a bill to contribute OEO for another four years with an appropriation of $2.18 billion. For the current fiscal year, Congress voted only $1.79 billion.

Also proposed by Perkins are measures for scrutinizing and evaluating the anti-poverty and welfare programs.

This is ironic, as throughout last year the Democratic chairman persistently blocked and ignored Republican demands for studies and investigations of these operations. Representative Ayres repeatedly sought such inquiries.

You Want To Be On Welfare Better Hire A Good Photographer

Can you look at the picture of a welfare recipient and tell whether he deserves general relief aid, or whether he should be cut off and told to fend for himself?

If looks were the main criterion, there would be a drastic change in how you'd go about getting on relief. You Couldn't afford to go dragging into the welfare office with three kids in tow and hair looking like a wet mop to ask for help.

No, sir! You'd leave the kids with a baby sitter, go to the beauty parlor and manicurist, outfit yourself with the latest spring fashions, and take a taxi to the Civic Center so as not to muss up your coiffure. The clever ones might even take their own photographer along to make sure the photos don't look like a jail mug shot.

IT'S DOUBTFUL that the photo idea, a brainstorm of new County Supervisor Louis H. Baar, will ever be adopted. But we've gotta admit it would have enlivened the long sessions of the supervisors.

The conversation would go something like this.

"Now this one has short sideburns, is clean shaven and has an honest face. Give him $100 per week."

"Oo-lala! Look at her! The poor thing must have worn that same skirt since she was 10. Get her some clothes or she'll freeze."

"Now that's what I call a deserving man — crew cut, white shirt and tie, neatly pressed suit . . . But wait a minute. Wonder where he got the money to spruce himself up like that? Why, he looks better than I do. Let's hold up on him until we check out his laundry and cleaning bill."

THE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL Commissioner has other duties than chasing down bugs and insects. For example, just recently he brought a load of lettuce to a screaming halt at the gates of San Quentin. Agricultural Commissioner R. Allan Ballard and his men found, not contrabrand, but 19 crates of Romaine lettuce that were decaying.

But for the alert inspectors, the rotting lettuce would have gone into the prison menus. The whole shipment was dumped at Redwood Sanitary Dump in Novato.

MOST OF THE RED berries are gone from the pyracantha bushes at the Civic Center, which is good news in one respect. The fat and saucy robins that gorged themselves on the berries and messed up the parked cars will now have to go elsewhere.

THE SAUSALITO police station entrance to the inpectors' room on the second floor is pitch black at night. Any citizen who has occasion to visit the inspectors would have to be an experienced burglar type to make it safely in the dark. Wonder why they don't put up a bulb or two to light the way?

Tam Students Pick Officers

He defeated Steve Crain, 434 to 223.

In other offices, Vicki Goodman was elected secretary by a vote of 708 to 319 over Kathy Quigley; Chris White got 788 votes in an unopposed bid for re-election as treasurer; Mark Conlan was unopposed for rally commissioner, winning 726 votes, and Sue Clark and David Abrahams were unopposed for upper and lower class representative-at-large, respectively.

Gall Of Campus Dissidents –The Jews Have A Word For It

When first I heard the Yiddish word, chutzpa, I found it difficult to understand. Like the Spanish idiom, simpatico, which also has subtle and not readily translatable suggestions, I was left feeling that the English language is, alas, lacking in depth as it appeared incapable of rendering the full meanings and implications of many foreign idiomatic expressions.

My observation was not entirely accurate, of course, for there are many English words which, in turn, are not easily defined in other languages. But enough, let's go on.

CHUTZPA MEANS — and I'm groping for a satisfactory definition — a wringing out of every possible advantage in any given situation, a sort of overwhelming effrontery, gall to an appalling degree.

But, you see, I'm already on a snag, so I'll resort to a few examples:

A store holds a sale which limits two to a customer of a particular product and the entire family is brought in and each member buys two of the sale items. That's chutzpa.

A child murders his parents and then throws himself on the mercy of the court on the grounds he is an orphan. That's chutzpa.

NOW THE FRENCH have an expression, fin-de-siecle, which beyond its literal meaning (end of an era) also has certain connotations and shadings which escape true interpretation. Roughly, the phrase suggests a contempt for the traditional views of custom, morality and attitudes. Amplifying, it connotes the end of an established order that satisfies logic and restrains and fetters depravity and decadence.

An illustration: Two young ladies of good family chatting together. One says she's in love with Pierre and he with her. The other asks why then is she so sad? Pierre has no money is the reply, and my parents want me to marry Armand who is fat, bald but very rich. Well, says the friend, marry Armand and make Pierre your lover. Fin-de-siecle young ladies.

TODAY WE ARE experiencing conditions which exemplify these two widely separated words. Unfortunately, English has no words which properly vocalize the arrogance of behavior that chutzpa suggests nor the subtlety of the end of an era that fin-de-siecle implies. Yet our existing situations fairly cry out for such expressions and if we had them, we'd, no doubt, have a better perspective and a clearer focus of these matters.

Let's look at a few examples:

At several colleges and universities, students rebeling and using violence are demanding the right to control the administration, the curriculum and hiring and firing of faculty members. Chutzpa!

In the various poverty programs the idea is advanced that those who are the recipients of the largesse should have the control of the money to be spent because, ostensibly, they best know the needs of the poor. Chutzpa!

Among the many demands of black power militants there runs a recurring clamor that black people be reimbursed for the injustices and sufferings of their slave ancestors. Chutzpa!

And the very fact that, in many quarters, such nonsense is given forbearance, credence and serious consideration brings us to the French expression, fin-de-siecle!

Novato Trustees May Reassign Plan Contract

A contract with Kal Porter and Associates for designing the second half of the shop at San Marin High School will be considered by the Novato Unified School District board when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the administration building.

Rockwell and Banwell were the architects of the high school. Some members of the board of trustees were dissatisfied with it and at the Jan. 6 board meeting, asked Supt. James G. Bunker to contact Porter to see if he would complete the design on the shop. The district had just received approximately $166,800 in federal aid to districts impacted by military bases, for the project.

The board will receive a statement from Rockwell and Banwell for its architectural services, discuss completion of the plaving field at San Jose Junior High School costing approximately $60,000 and discuss the summer school program.

257 More Persons Hijacked To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A young man clutching a Dominican Republic passport hurdled another passenger and ran "like a football player, dodging from tourist to first class" before grabbing a stewardess and forcing an Eastern Airlines jet to Cuba. It was one of two hijackings yesterday that took 257 persons to Havana.

The Eastern DC8 Jet—hijacked as it neared the end of its new York-to-Miami flight—and all but one of its 168 passengers flew on to Miami during the night.

An Ecuadorian prop-jet carrying 81 persons was seized by four men armed with submachine guns and remained in Cuba. There was no explanation why Cuban authorities, who cite safety in refusing to allow big jets to leave with passengers aboard, detained the smaller prop-jet.

These were the sixth and seventh commercial airliners hijacked to Cuba in 18 days.

Most passengers on the Eastern jet returned to Miami early today aboard two prop-jets sent to Varadero, Cuba, to get them. They told newsmen the young hijacker had given no indication that he planned to seize the plane before leaving his seat and grabbing stewardess Pamela Gates of Syracuse, N.Y.

Capt. R.D. Smith of Atlanta, Ga., said the hijacker held "what appeared to be a hand grenade. The thing had a little cap with a little handle down and he had the handle squeezed."

The Ecuadorian plane landed at Jose Marti Airport in Havana at 6:30 p.m.—12 minutes after Smith's jet landed at Miami. Aboard were a crew of six and 75 passengers, including four men reportedly carrying machine guns.

Bound to Miami from Guayaquil, Ecuador, the prop-jet lost radio contact with its base soon after takeoff. Communications were restored when pilot Dean Ricker, an American citizen, landed at Barranquilla, Colombia, to refuel.

Colombian President Carlos Lleras Restrepo refused to allow the plane to take on fuel, but Ricker told airport authorities by radio that one of the hijackers would kill him if fuel was not made available.

The Colombian Ministry of Defense then allowed the delivery.

DICK'S FORMER BOSS SAYS IT'S MR. PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon telephoned former President Dwight D. Eisenhower last night and said he was embarrassed when his former boss told him he won't be calling him Dick any more.

Nixon spent about 15 minutes on the telephone with the man he served as vice president.

"This is the last time I can call you Dick for a while," Eisenhower was quoted as saying to Nixon, sworn in as 37th president today.

"That is very, very embarrassing for me," Nixon replied. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reported that segment of the conversation but said the rest of their talk was private.

Tam Valley Accident Hurts Fairfax Man

Bruce R. Watson of 381 Forrest Drive was treated at Marin General Hospital.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Watson missed a turn in the road near Cabin Drive and his car went about 260 feet down a hill, hitting a power pole.

Four Die In Crashes Of Three Planes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Stormy weather was blamed in part for the crashes of three light airplanes over the weekend in which four persons died.

A single-engine plane dropped off radar screens as it approached Hayward airport Saturday night in a driving rainstorm.

The plane carried two men identified as John D. Rutzebeck, 52, owner of a Hayward distributing firm, and Kenneth Brown, 43, of Bellevue, Wash. The pair was returning from Houston, Tex.

Witnesses said the plane came out of a cloud and plunged into the mountainside just north of Highway 96.

Chesterfield was on a flight from Fresno to Eugene, Ore. He had radioed that one of his engines had "iced up."

A retired Navy commander died in the third crash, also Saturday night. His plane went down while making a radar approach to Reno airport. The pilot was identified as Wayne J. Welty, 46.

Jet Is Tomb For 38 In Sea At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — On the bottom of the storm-tossed Pacific today lay the battered wreckage of a U.S. jetliner in which 38 persons died. A mile away rests the hull of a European jet in which 11 are entombed.

Aboard the United Air Lines Boeing 727 when it crashed Saturday night after take off for Denver, Colo., and Milwaukee, Wis., were a theology school president . . . a college coed . . . the parents of six Wisconsin youngsters . . . one of United's four "Flying Le Roys."

One body was recovered from the jet fuel-stained waters around the crash site. Searchers also found scraps of the fuselage and mail sacks in the waters cut by sharks' fins.

Heavy seas and rain hampered search operations yesterday.

"He was a wonderfully human man," said a friend of Dr. Lowell B. Swan, 58, president of Iliff School of Theology, a Methodist institution at Denver.

"If there is a good in this tragedy," said Dr. Harvey H. Pothoff, "it is that Dr. Swan—up to the last minute of his life—was doing the things he liked best."

The two had represented Iliff at a ministry recruitment conference at Claremont School of Theology near Los Angeles. Dr. Pothoff returned to Denver Friday.

Bonnie J. Cottle, 19, was returning to the University of Colorado after visiting her parents in Palos Verdes Estates near Los Angeles. Her father, Capt. J. Russell Cottle, is manager of United's flight operations at Los Angeles International Airport from which the plane took off.

In West Bend, Wis., six children ranging in age from 2 to 16 were told their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Shroeder Jr., apparently are dead.

Returning as a passenger to Denver to pilot his own flight was United Capt. Warren H. Le Roy who joined the airlines with his brother, Capt. Vernon Le Roy, on Feb. 7, 1944. Their cousins, First Officer J. E. and J. V. Le Roy of Chicago, were the rest of the quartet.

About a minute after the plane took off at 6:20 p.m., pilot Arnold Leverson radioed:

Radar showed the plane made a left-hand turn about 12 miles west of the coastal airport. Then radio contact with the plane was lost and its blip on radar screens disappeared.

ROSS

Mayor's Wife Loves The West

By GRACE HENDERSON

This is the first of a series of articles and interviews of the wives of mayors in Marin County cities.

"Everything in the West is so big" said the lady who came from Schenectady, N.Y. to make her home in California. Mrs. Frederick S. Allen has came to appreciate the vastness of the western United States since her marriage April 17, 1937 and becoming a young housewife in San Francisco.

Barbara Allen compared the two areas of the country while seated in her comfortable house near the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, her home since 1946. Both ends of the country have beautiful scenery, she said, but that of her home state is confined to much smaller areas. She told of her love for the western United States, her home for many years now. Pictures and maps of her former home in upstate New York hang in the den off the kitchen, a well-used section of the house.

A most gracious woman, Barbara told of her problems with deer, the role of being a mayor's wife (Ross), of her rented home in San Francisco during World War II and of her family, an obvious source of enjoyment.

A civic-minded woman, Mrs. Allen recently released her position on the Marin County Cancer Board after serving 10 years. Now it is a rotating board with members being retired in turn. "But I'll probably be back next year," she added to emphasize her interest in cancer research.

Barbara is a member of the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary also, the Northgate Group of Marin Art and Garden Center and the Marin Garden Club. The family attends St. John Episcopal Church.

Fred Jr. is the only one of the four Allen children married. He and his family reside on Shady Lane in Ross. Living at home of Jonathan, Tommy makes his home in San Francisco; and daughter, Alice who just turned 21, is a student at Lake Forest College in Pine Manor, Chestnut Hill, Mass. Two grandchildren prompted a quick "sure" when Barbara was asked if she babysat.

To the query of "What advise would you have for other women whose husbands are contemplating being a town mayor?", the Ross matron replied "It's great. I like it and think any woman would enjoy the experience.

The family home, situated on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, embraces a house whose original rooms were constructed in 1906. Rooms have been added and the accumulation of nearly 32 years of married life has mellowed the rooms inside into a welcoming retreat.

A cheery fire dispelled the gloom of a dreary day as we sat chatting about the role Mrs. Allen plays in the city of Ross, population 2,768. All residents and their welfare are the concern of Mayor and Mrs. Allen and there is joy and satisfaction in watching their community progress, she said.

In the side yard of the rolling grounds is a now unused tether ball pole which was utilized by the children but now supports a flag pole from which the American flag flies, not because this is the residence of the town's highest official but because Mrs. Allen enjoys showing her pride in being part of America. In fact, on extra-patriotic days, Barbara flies a flag from an upstairs window also.

As for the friendly little deer who are rose-fed from Mrs. Allen's garden, they were fenced out this year but still surround the area. The bubbly creek through the front yard adds to the woodsy setting and is crossed by a picturesque wooden bridge, the large shake-covered house sits predominantly at the curve of a well-used driveway, all giving a feeling of serenity and stability, almost a retreat from a troubled world.

From the kitchen door and to the back, on a hillside, is what Barbara terms her "coffee walk", a path leading to a weather-worn wooden chair where she "communes with nature" during her frequent strolls for coffee breaks.

As she was escorting her guest out the front door following a tour of the home, Mrs. Allen pointed to a small packet of suspicious-looking fodder on a table in the front hall. She told of a young man having been to the house and, seeing the packet, expressed surprise that she, of all people, would have marijuana displayed so openly.

She says she now knows what marijuana looks like and the young man can identify catnip — that the mayor's wife keeps for her family cat.

MRS. FREDERICK S. ALLEN of Ross reflects on being the wife of the city mayor. Her love of nature is evident throughout the two-acre family home and grounds. "I have rose-fed deer" Mrs. Allen stated, adding she had fenced her roses this past summer in an effort to keep the four-footed pests from chewing petals from their stems. Woman Compares Self With First Lady

By JOAN SWEENEY

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — Ruth Matthews, who created many of the clothes Mrs. Richard Nixon wore during her husband's successful campaign for the presidency, said she designs for women who lead the kind of life she herself does.

THESE ARE BUSY, committed women with families who must travel a great deal —a description that fits Mrs. Nixon.

For these women, Miss Matthews does coordinated groupings -- coats, dresses, suits, sweaters, blouses, skirts, pants plus shoes, purses and scarves utilizing two or three colors in solid and print combinations—that can be worn interchangeably. The clothes are sold only in her own four shops in Beverly Hills, Palm Springs, New York and Chicago.

MRS. NIXON first came to her New York shop shortly before the Republican National Convention last summer.

"I don't know why. She just came into the store," said the tall (5-feet, 11-inches) slender designer who is in her late 40s. "I think one of her friends told her they liked my clothes."

"I did a lot of things for the campaign. I think all the things you saw on television during the Miami convention were mine."

BUT SHE ADDED frankly that she did not know whether she would continue to contribute to the new First Lady's wardrobe. "I don't know what's going to happen now. Mrs. Nixon buys from other people too," she said during an interview in her office above the

Actually Matthews is a husband and wife team.

"I am very fortunate. I have a marvelous husband who runs the business," she said of her second husband, Arnold Albert, a former movie producer to whom she has been married for 20 years. They launched their marriage and their first shop about the same time.

THE COUPLE maintain homes in the Brentwood area of West Los Angeles and in Palm Springs and an apartment in New York. In addition to her 25-year-old son by her first marriage, she has a 14-year-old boy, Tracy, and a 12-year-old, Trevor.

"I don't do ball gowns because I don't go to balls," she said. "I do the kind of clothes for the kind of life I live and I'll tell you about my life:

"WE LIVE in three cities and we spend a good deal of time in Europe. We're sailors, my husband and I, we're golfers. I'm a painter. I'd like to be a much better painter. We live in a garden. Our house is filled with patios. Every room has a garden.

"We spend a good deal of time with our children.

Threrefore, I haven't been able to do the luncheons or partying ... I just don't have time. If I do have a lunch time I run over and take a French or Italian lesson."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Watch That Bachelor Buddy, Says An Old And Faithful Wife

I've watched this man operate for several years. Let me describe him as a warning to husbands who have bachelor buddies:

Now for the big job: Butter up the little wife. Give her the attention the husband overlooks. Be Mr. Helpful. Because the husband trusts his buddy, he allows many "alone" situations. The wife, meanwhile, has been artfully led to believe she is neglected. Oh, it takes "art" all right, to remain friends with a guy whose wife you are about to seduce.

Mission accomplished, the affair can go on right under hubby's nose. When the light dawns, it's exit for buddy, and maybe curtains for the marriage. The woman is just another notch in this bachelor's belt. He then goes back to an old faithful who is waiting and hoping that someday he'll marry her — when he gets married women out of his system.

Do you think he ever will? — OLD FAITHFUL

DEAR OLD FAITHFUL:

Only when his system no longer works, and then he'll be too old for anything buy notch-counting. Before you become a much older "Faithful," lock the door on this wolf. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is not a problem but a plea to in-laws: Don't take advantage!

Soon after I married my husband I discovered I had not married one man but an entire family. I was suddenly beseeched to play chauffeur, seamstress, chef, secretary, psychiatrist, babysitter, and to loan out my personal belongings to them at any time. All those talents of which I had been so proud, suddenly became curses. Many nights I came home dead tired from work and had to go out on some task for my sisters-in-law, none of whom work outside the home. I've tried to teach them the things I can do, but they'd rather have me do them.

I've been able to stand this because I knew we'd be moving soon. Next month we're going to another state. Some girls aren't so lucky. — DOORMAT NO LONGER

Preserve Fruit

Pomegranate, once the shell is broken, will keep longer if the seeds and juice are removed to a screw-top jar, mixed with sugar (about 1 tablespoon to ¼ cup of seeds), and refrigerated. The sugar helps preserve the fruit and intensifies the fresh pomegranate flavor and bright crimson color.

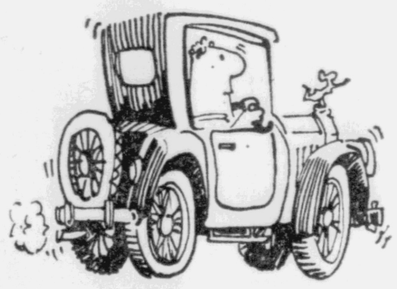
Vigilantes Appear In Alabama Town

By ROGER HAMMER

ASHLAND, Ala. (UPI)—The keeping of law and order has posed no big problem for this backwoods Alabama county. And a group of women, organized behind a pistol-toting beautician, are making sure things stay that way.

A few months back, someone observed that Clay County Sheriff John Green was very shorthanded—with only one deputy to police a county of 12,500 people.

Ethelyene Pope, a 50-year-old beautician with the voice of a seasoned drill sergeant, went into action. She formed the Clay County Women's Sheriff's Auxiliary—an 80-woman force.



They don't wear uniforms—but they all mean business.

"We plan to meet once a month," Mrs. Pope said. "It's more precautionary at this point than anything else. There hasn't been any real trouble."

The first meeting was at Mrs. Pope's house. It looked like any ladies' get-together attended by housewives, teachers and secretaries. But these ladies were learning how to break a stranglehold and how to disarm an attacker.

Things went so well they moved the second meeting to a dusty second floor courtroom at the county courthouse and took up firearms training.

The women brought their own weapons, including little purse-size Derringers and huge semiautomatic shotguns used to chase chicken thieves.

Two state troopers were on hand to help Sheriff Green instruct the women on how to handle the weapons.

"I've never seen so many different pistols," a trooper commented.

Interest ran high through the two hours of instruction. The women compared guns — "Yours is cute" — and figured out how they worked — "Mine must need oil."

When they felt they had mastered how to load and shoot guns, the women asked about firing practice and occasions when they might have to use arms.

An older woman, a look of determination on her face, asked about the possibility of a prowler inside her house.

"What should I do with him?" she asked. "Should I try to run him off by firing a few shots at his feet?"

Another woman, with silver gray hair, suggested politely, "Maybe you could just say, 'Would you kindly leave my house'?"

Some of the women live in lonely sections of the county without even a phone in their farmhouses.

Others work in small factories and drive as far as 30 miles to work each day. One woman told of being terrorized while driving one night when toughs tried to force her off the two-lane road.

Among the group were nurses who take hospital night calls and teachers who drive cheerleaders to football games at night.

"I'm responsible for them, too," a teacher said.

Mrs. Pope closed the meeting with an announcement that she would take orders for chemical disabling spray canisters from anyone who wanted them. She also said future meetings would discuss first aid, firing guns and judo.

Sheriff Green said he has had no trouble in the community which might warrant use of the women in an official capacity, but he said if needed they could be deputized.

And he added, "They could always bring the men coffee and sandwiches."

Markets Stock Many New Items

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—The average supermarket carries between 6,000 and 8,000 food items, many of which were not available five years ago.

The University of Nebraska Extension Service says that 1,500 new items appear on the market each year. Consider, for example, the amount of space now given to snack foods—cookies, crackers, beverages and candies, not necessarily new foods, but new forms of the well known.

THE SAN RAFAEL High School Parent-Teacher Association will meet tomorrow evening, 7:30, at the high school cafeteria. A faculty panel of seven members will present their view on the subject of an open campus.

The policy in question would allow students to leave the campus during the noon hour and free periods, something not now being done. Reports will be made on results of a telephone poll of parents and merchants in the Montecito shopping center and a vote taken by those present.

All parents of San Rafael High School students are urged to attend.

THE MARIN USO Mobile Unit members will receive USO service hour pins at the January meeting Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. Valentines will be addressed to servicemen in the 44th Signal Battalion and USO clubs in Vietnam and officers and councilmen for the Bay Area USO Mobile Unit will be elected.

GIRL SCOUTS from Marin and four other counties of the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council, who are troop consultants, troop organizers, registrars, trainers or field staff members, are invited to attend a staff conference at the Scottish Rite Auditorium in San Francisco on Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

THE LAWYERS WIVES of Marin will meet at the Tiburon Lodge at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday. Following a luncheon James Soetaert, director of Probation Services, will speak on "Delinquency in Marin."

Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Selma Larson and Mrs. Vernon Harris of San Rafael.

THE WOMEN'S Guild of the Star of the Sea parish in Sausalito will sponsor a luncheon prepared by the Ladies Luncheon League on Thursday at noon in the parish hall, 181 Harrison Avenue. Reservations chairmen are Mmes. Norman Wohlschlaeger and George Kowski.

THE MARIN County Presidents' Council of Parent-Teacher Groups will meet at 10 a.m., tomorrow at St. Rita's Hall in Fairfax for its second quarterly meeting.

The Rev. Bernard Cummins, archdiocesan superintendent of schools, will be the speaker.

All P-TA members, chairmen, officers and school principals and confraternity of Christian doctrine are expected to attend. Financial problems of the various organizations and ideas concerning the utilization of community resources for the benefit of parochial schools, CCD groups, adult education and Newman clubs will be discussed.

THE OLIVE SCHOOL Parent-Teacher Association will present "The First of the 3 R's" for discussion at its meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the school in Novato.

Members of the Olive School faculty will be participants in the panel discussion. They are: Mrs. Beverly Pierson, kindergarten; Mrs. Barbara Barros, first grade; Gerald Bird, second grade; Mrs. Judy Stevens, third grade; and Mrs. Caroline Petersen, librarian. Mrs. Shirley Young, reading specialist at the school, will moderate the program.

ART REVIEW

It's A Grand Show For Marin Artists

By LAURA DEVENDORF

SAN FRANCISCO — In trying to create a word picture of non-objective art, it helps if there is something commonplace to relate it to.

Such comparisons are rarely easier than in this month's exhibit at the Arlene Lind Gallery, 473 Jackson Street, showing Patrick Haberman, and Marin artists Don Henrico and Julien Wood. On a grand and colorful scale, their show is like being surrounded by giant, half-eaten Lifesavers, by 3-dimensional letters of the alphabet and by nickel-plated steel spaghetti trees.

Haberman's canvases, gigantic or small, are nothing more than portions of overlapping circles which float in space and are cropped by the paintings' edges. His paint is flat and his colors are bluntly unbeautiful but he makes each canvas move and happen uniquely in spite of all of it.

Henrico paints simply, too, but his canvas shapes are not simple. Since last seen his designs have stayed the same, the "M," "Z," and interlocking "Gs" are still basic but he shows more confidence and depth.

The differences are noted in "3 Part Progression," a series of three-like shapes which grow in size and in heightened tones of blue and green. Another is an interlocking "G" that takes sophisticated advantage of flat black against gloss and the cut of a thin intense blue line which is echoed strongly in the wide painting edges.

One real departure is Henrico's addition of step-up levels in a rather sterile all white painting which needs heavier shadows, more levels or shades of white to make it really satisfying.

All the simple geometrics and bright hues on the walls are a perfect backdrop for Wood's gleaming twists of flat-edged metal. Growing up and out from a base, Wood's beautiful flow of lines forms moving outlines which suggest mass. It's like a mass of moving energy and the pointing, projecting ends suggest that it continues to grow and move into infinity.

The simplicity of the show is deceptive. The complexity underlying Wood's work is easiest to see but it is there for Henrico and Haberman too, both also artists of fresh and appealing talent.

Concert-Lecture At San Domenico

Rev. Clarence Rivers and "The City Folk" will appear in a concert-lecture at San Domenico School's Alumnae Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday, according to Joseph P. Burke, vice president of the Marin Chapter of the Council of Catholic Men, which is sponsoring the event.

Father Rivers, a young Negro priest from Cincinnati, Ohio, is the composer of "An American Mass Program," contemporary mass music.

Donations to the Bay Area Committee to Save Biafran Children will be accepted at the concert.

A VENETIAN CANAL — Two youngsters prepare to turn their street in Santa Venetia into a canal, using a rowboat instead of a gondola. This scene at La Pasada and Adrian Way was repeated throughout Santa Venetia today as some streets had as much as three feet of water flowing over them. (Independent-Journal photo by Frank Farrara)

Sausalitan Arrested On Gun Charge

A 20-year-old Sausalito musician and two companions were to appear before the U.S. commissioner in San Francisco today for setting of bail on a charge of illegal possession of machine guns.

Michael Maloney of Gate 1 was arrested Friday with his companions by agents of the federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division, accompanied by San Francisco and Oakland police.

The other two are, Albert C. Holbert, 31-year-old laborer from Newport Beach and James Winterbourne, 29, a salesman from Capistrano Beach.

The three were arrested, according to the division's area supervisor, B. K. Uptagrafft, after unloading a trailer of weapons and ammunition at a San Francisco warehouse.

Seized with the men were 30 World War I M-1 rifles, kits for rendering them fully automatic and a large quantity of ammunition.

Uptagrafft said the trio had been under surveillance for some time, but declined to give further details.

Maximum penalty for possession of such weapons is five years imprisonment and/or a $2,000 fine.

Holbert, who was armed, Uptagrafft said, faces an additional charge of being armed during the commission of a federal crime, a charge carrying a mandatory minimum one-year prison term on conviction with a maximum of 10 years.

Hub Man Arrested On Bench Warrant

Paul Kenneth McSweeney, 21, of 1380 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was arrested yesterday on a bench warrant for failing to appear in court to enter a plea on a charge of stealing a carbine from a car on April 29, last year.

McSweeney, who was held in lieu of $500 bail, was to appear in court today.

A tree limb knocked out power on Curry Avenue in Sausalito from 6:34 to 7:05 p.m. Saturday, affecting about 50 customers.

Fifteen customers on Prospect Avenue and Barber Street in San Anselmo were without power from 7:30 p.m. Saturday to 4:30 a.m. Sunday when a tree crashed through a line and broke two poles.

A tree at 49 Palm Avenue, San Rafael, crashed through a power line and onto a car driven by Gustav D. Anderson, 31, of San Francisco, last night. Anderson was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut chin. About 25 customers in the area were without power until 6 a.m. today as a result of that uprooting.

A large earth slide blocked San Carlos Avenue at Bridgeway for several hours yesterday, but was cleared by mid-morning today. Other slides were reported on Filbert Street near Easterby Street, in Sausalito, an Panoramic Highway, on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Inverness and on Raven Road in Sleepy Hollow.

The Nalifornia Highway Patrol reported a slide at 9:30 p.m. Saturday on Highway 101 at the Rodeo Avenue crossing which caused two accidents.

The Marin County Fire Department's rescue squad was called out to aid three fishermen stranded on a large rock offshore from the Muir Beach Overlook yesterday.

Fire Chief Louis Bloom reported. 16-year-old Lindly Prine III of San Pablo made it to shore to get help for his father, his sister and a friend at 12:33 p.m. The four had been fishing since 7:30 a.m.

Meanwhile, his father, Lindly Prine, and his sister, Linda Prine, made it off the rock and, when the rescue squad arrived, Prine was assisting Douglas P. Crane, 24, also of San Pablo, to shore.

Rain reports, covering 48 hours to 8 a.m. today included, Ross, 6.75 inches; Woodacre, 6.22; Civic Center, 5.12; Terra Linda, 3.4; Novato, 2.58; Petaluma, 1.99; Sausalito, 3.90; Bolinas, 2.82; Tamalpais Valley, 4; Mill Valley, 3.45; Tiburon, 2.92; Corte Madera, 5.12, and Hamilton Air Force Base, 3.32 inches.

Storm reports indicated heavy damage throughout the state, with San Louis Obispo one of the hardest hit cities. Schools there were closed today as residents dug out of the storm which dumped about 14 inches of rain in 32 hours.

A total of 19 deaths were attributed to the storm in Southern California.

Massive dirt and rock slides blocked the Coast Highway south of Big Sur and State Route 89 on the east coast of Lake Tahoe.

The most serious flooding was reported in the Sierra Nevada foothills from the Merced River to the Tule River. The Fresno and Chowchilla Rivers also were expected to peak near flood stage.

The driver of the other car, Evelyn D. Van Nest, 54, of 55 Marinero Circle, Tiburon, was not injured in the accident, which happened at 5:42 p.m.

Trees Damage Claimed In Suit

A Greenbrae man, upset over the wandering roots of his neighbor's trees, has filed suit against him in Marin County Superior Court asking that the trees be removed.

Dennis H. Lewenthall of 181 Via La Cumbre says that willow and poplar trees planted by his next door neighbor, C. W. Miner of 193 Via Cumbre, have already damaged his lawn and shrubbery and are now threatening the foundation of his house.

In addition to having the trees removed, Lewenthal wants Miner to pay an unspecified amount for damage.

Spray, Guns Used To Rob 7-11 Market

Two men armed with guns and chemical spray robbed the 7-11 Market, 703 B Street, San Rafael, of about $275 Saturday night, police reported.

A clerk, William A. Schaller, 52, told police the two walked into the store at about 7 p.m., pulled out dark blue .45-caliber automatics and ordered him to "open it up."

After he emptied the cash register, one of the gunmen told Schaller "look at this," and then sprayed his eyes with a chemical spray and struck his head with his gun.

While the holdup was going on, a customer, Ronald D. Abrao, 25, of Richmond, entered the store. He was sprayed in the face by the second gunman and knocked down.

The two were described as in their late 30s and from five feet, six inches tall, to six feet tall. One had a crew cut, and the other longer, parted hair.

Police said the same two men may also have been the two who robbed the Stop and Go Market in San Rafael of about $300 on Jan. 4. They also used spray chemical on their victims.

Apartment Bomb Scare–A Hoax

A bomb threat which resulted in the evacuation of residents of the Capri Apartments at 1520 San Anselmo Avenue early yesterday was a hoax, San Anselmo police reported.

Officers said an unidentified man telephoned police headquarters at 1:06 a.m., reporting a bomb was in the apartment house laundry room.

Officers said the residents returned to their apartments at 1:45 a.m.

New board members will join the Marin Economic Opportunity Council when it meets at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Room 206 of the Marin County Court House. On the agenda is a report by Robert P. Simmons of a board training conference.

Council Will Review Baar Replacement

The San Rafael City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall, will consider appointment of a replacement for former Councilman Louis H. (Bud) Baar, who was elected a county supervisor.

The council also will consider a replacement for resigned city planning commissioner Carl S. Brown and a successor to Baar's seat on the parks and recreation commission.

A new councilman would serve only until the April 15 election. Among those in the running for the seat are three planning commissioners, attorney Frederick C. Robbins Jr., Joseph J. Garbarino, a proprietor of Marin Sanitary Service, and John J. Adams, a San Francisco auto sales executive.

In other business, the council is scheduled to give final approval to changes in the city's curfew ordinance to delete potentially unconstitutional language, to review police cadet duties and salaries and to consider charter amendments for a public vote to enable the council to appoint the police chief, city attorney, city clerk and city treasurer, all of whom are now elected.

Brothers Linked To UCLA Slayings

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two brothers implicated by witnesses in the shooting deaths of two Black Panther Party members at the University of California at Los Angeles were sought by police today.

An all points bulletin was issued for George Phillip Stiner, 22, and Larry Joseph Stiner, 21, both identified as students at UCLA.

Black Panthers spokesmen reported here and in San Francisco that the party supplied the names of the two men to police, but West Los Angeles detectives refused to identify the affiliations of the sources.

"Several witnesses to the shootings linked the Stiner brothers to the murders," a police spokesman said. "They were able to supply us with the 'street names' of the two suspects, they couldn't give us the full names.

"Based on the street names we were able to show them some mug shots as a result of prior bookings and the witnesses identified these two people from the photographs."

The spokesman said the police "would rather not say at this time" whether the witnesses were members of the Black Panthers.

The shootings Friday occurred at a meeting of about 150 Negro students concerning the proposed Afro - American studies center at UCLA.

The meeting reportedly was to resolve a dispute between the Panthers, the Black Students Union and the US organization over who was to be appointed director of the center.

Three Los Angeles officials of the Panthers called a news conference today and said they would release photographs of four persons they believed were responsible for the shootings.

A spokesman said the photos would be turned over to West Los Angeles police detectives to demonstrate the cooperation of the Panthers with the investigation.

Police said the Stiner brothers had been wanted by Orange County authorities on suspicion of robbery, burglary and attempted murder in September, 1968.

Detectives said they voluntarily turned themselves in to Los Angeles police who remanded them to the custody of Santa Ana, Calif., authorities. Records of the final disposition of the case were not available yesterday.

The victims were John Jerome Huggins, 23, and Alprentice (Bunchy) Carter, 26. They were felled by three shots from a 357-magnum pistol. Huggins was an area captain of the Panthers and Carter was a deputy minister of defense.

A few hours after the shooting, police raided Huggins' home and arrested 17 Panthers. Several weapons were confiscated and police said they feared the group might be planning "retaliation" for the slayings.

LeMay Hinted As Candidate For Governor

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay, George Wallace's 1968 running mate, is being considered as a candidate for governor of California next year by the American Independent Party.

"We are thinking of Gen. LeMay," said Keith M. Greene of San Francisco, the new state chairman of the party which backed former Alabama Governor George Wallace for president.

TWO FACTIONS

The AIP-split into two warring factions—met in Sacramento yesterday and picked officers who pledged to carry on the party's conservative philosophy.

Another political party with an opposite philosophy — The Peace and Freedom Party—also met in Sacramento.

Now down to 35,000 official members, the Peace and Freedom group decided it would push its political activity at the local level.

Two men who favor control by community organizations, drawn from anti-war, black power and student oriented groups, were elected co-chairmen. They are John Haag of Venice and Mike Schen of Pasadena. Secretary is Bob Clark of Los Angeles

Greene, a former auto dealer, brought up LeMay's name as a potential AIP gubernatorial candidate as he chatted with newsmen just after defeating James Slaughter, a Sacramento rancher and worm farmer, for chairman of the party.

NO CONSENT

He said the party had not yet obtained LeMay's consent. The general, a Californian, once considered running for the U.S. Senate in the state, and was active on the fringes of politics before he became the AIP's vice presidential candidate last year.

Greene said that the next two years will be crucial for the AIP, and that Wallace will have to assume active control if the party is to survive.

Registration has dropped from more than 100,000 to 72,068 in California following the election.

Internal disputes that hampered the Wallace presidential campaign were evident at the yesterday state central committee meetings.

Greene's group—carrying the official sanction of the secretary of state's office—met in a suburban motel, and hired armed private guards to keep out a dissident faction.

The dissidents, meanwhile, met in an unguarded downtown lodge building in Sacramento and elected William K. Shearer as chairman. Shearer insisted his group—and not Greene's—was legal.

Slaughter, the outgoing chairman of the official group, said the guards were hired to keep the Shearer faction out.

Clerk's Scream Scares Off A Possible Robber

The clerk, Judy L. Eddy, 26, of 8 Charlotte Drive, Apt. 3, San Rafael, told deputies a man in his mid-29s carrying a "long metal bar in his hand," approached her at 1:30 a.m. and she screamed.

The man dropped the weapon, which proved to be carriage assembly from a typewriter, and fled the building.

TO HONOR FLIGHT — The U.S. Postal Department today released this design for a new six-cent postage stamp to commemorate the Apollo 8 mission. It will be issued on May 5 at ceremonies in Houston, Tex. In colors of gray, blue and white, the moon surface is in the foreground with distant earth at the top.

Legislative Committee Lineup Due

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislators looked forward today to learning who will sit on which committees, and which lawmakers will be tapped for the powerful committee chairmanships in 1969.

Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, indicated he would release the upper house lineup early this week. No major dvelopments were anticipated, and seniority again was expected to be the chief guideline for picking committee members and chairmen.

COUNTS LESS

It's not the same story in the lower house, however, where seniority counts for less, and Republicans have a clear working majority over Democrats of 41-39. The Senate is 20-19 Republican, with one vacancy, but it takes 21 votes in the 40-seat upper house to conduct most business.

Aides to Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R - Tracy, said the new lower house leader probably will name most committee members and chairmen on Thursday. A substantial reshuffle will take place, with most Democratic chairmen ousted and Republicans taking numerical control of most committees.

It was the Democratic chairmen and majorities which often thwarted Gov. Ronald Reagan's "Creative Society" legislation in the past two years.

URBAN AFFAIRS

Monagan also was expected to make a special announcement on Wednesday of the chairman of the new committee dealing with urban affairs. Reports were that its chairman was likely to be one of the five Negro members of the Assembly, all of who come from urban areas.

Meanwhile, two Negro legislators said they will introduce legislation aiming to improve schooling of black children and give their parents a bigger say in their education.

Assemblyman Bill Greene and Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, both Democrats, said their bill will seek an independent, experimental school district centered in the south-central area of Los Angeles.

It would put a governing board in power separate from the city school system. Greene said he and Dymally spent time in New York last month looking at a similar system there, "and we are convinced the desired results can be produced for the education of our children, without encountering the problems and chaos which now exist in the New York school decentralization program."

Hickel Gets Panel Nod, 14-3 Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Interior Committee today approved the appointment of Walter J. Hickel to be secretary of interior in the Nixon Administration.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the committee, said the vote in a closed session, to recommend confirmation was 14 to 3.

Other cabinet selections for the new administration either have been approved or were expected to be approved by Senate committees later today or by mid-week at the latest.

Jackson said a few details concerning divestiture by Hickel of some financial interests remained to be cleared up for the record, but said these presented no bar to the committee's approval.

"He has met the minimum standards for secretary," Jackson told reporters. "I think the President is entitled to his Cabinet choice."

Hickel stood by in a committee anteroom during the one-hour, 45-minutes the committee discussed his appointment.

Fairfax Council To Review Budget

Fairfax City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Fairfax Women's Club, will review the 1968-69 budget.

Also on the agenda is a request from Matthew Farr for rezoning of property known as "Meadowland," a report on the city's newly created steno-clerk position and a cost-of-living increase for retired employees.

Antimissile Sites Foes To Be Heard

Marin County's objections to antimissile sites will be discussed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow morning at the request of new Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Michael Wornum.

The old board of supervisors last August asked that Angel Island not be considered as a site, and "opposed an antimissile site in Southern Marin if another site can be found in Marin County, other than Angel Island."

More funds will be requested to meet increased activity in the courts and in the sheriff's department. The sheriff asks that the number of matrons be increased from the present seven to ten when the department moves into the new Hall of Justice, and additional funds for the drug abuse bureau.

In the afternoon, the county counsel will submit his opinion that the supervisors do not have the legal authority to photograph recipents of general relief.

Judges of Superior and Municipal Court will ask legislative bills to increase the salaries of court reporters and Court Commissioner E. L. Nininger. County Administrator Alan Bruce differs with the judges on the court commissioner's salary raise. Present salary is $1,000 per month. The judges propose that the court commissioner's salary be raised to $1,490 per month ($17,880 per year) for the first year, increasing through the fifth year to $21,720 per year.

The county administrator contends this is too big a jump, since the court commissioner is not an attorney and cannot act as judge pro tem.

Masked Gunmen Take $1,500 In Tavern Robbery

Two armed men, wearing stocking masks robbed the Buckhorn Tavern, 615 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma, of $1,500 shortly after the 2 a.m. closing Saturday.

Bartender Robert C. Sifield, 40, said the two men emerged from their apparent hiding place in a storeroom as he was putting the night's receipts in the safe. Waving revolvers at him, the pair taped Sifield's mouth, wrists and ankles and left him on the floor in the men's restroom.

Sifield was not found until 8 a.m. when owner Robert McCoy came to open up the bar.

Councilmen Slate Baar Testimonial

Mayor C. Paul Bettini and the San Rafael City Council will give a prime rib dinner and dance for former Councilman Louis H. (Bud) Baar at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

A no-host cocktail hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. Russ Coughlin, radio and television personality, will be master of ceremonies.

Baar was elected a county supervisor in November.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Concepts Of Patient Care Have Changed Greatly For Angina

VAN DELLEN

Concepts of disease are in a constant state of flux. More than 30 years ago physicians were reluctant to tell a person with angina pectoris that he had heart trouble. In those days the diagnosis was tantamount to a death sentence.

Today, not only is the patient told of his condition but he is told how to live and work wth the disorder. He may even be encouraged to exercise more.

VARIOUS REASONS account for this change. Earlier diagnosis is possible, because our physicians are better trained and have more sophisticated diagnostic equipment. In the past, only advanced cases ere recognized.

In this disorder, chest pain is due to narrowing of the coronary arteries that supply blood to the heart muscle. Distress varies from a dull ache to a crushing, burning, or viselike pain in the region of the breastbone.

NITROGLYCERIN continues to be the medication of choice. A tablet is placed under the tongue whenever pain starts. But modern therapy also employs this remedy as a preventive. The person learns to take the drug before doing any thing he knows, from experience, will precipitate pain.

Inderal is used for the same purpose but is a prescription item.

TOBACCO IS BANNED in all cases. Certain surgical procedures are available to improve the cardiac circulation. Low-fat diets help reduce the cholestoral level in the blood. This decrease has a secondary effect upon hardened coronary arteries and helps keep the vessels open, so they can function better.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

TRACES OF LEAD

A reader writes: Could a person have lead in his bones for 30 years and not know it? After X-rays, my doctor asked me if I had been exposed to the metal. I was, more than 30 years ago.

REPLY

The only lead that shows under X-rays after this period of time comes from bullets or shrapnel. To my knowledge, there are no characteristic X-ray findings of the element in bones. There are other causes for such densities in the bones of grownups.

SOAKS AND GOUT

A reader writes: Will soaking a gouty foot in very hot and then very cold water relieve distress?

REPLY

No. Foot baths are not necessary because pain can be lessened within a few hours by taking drugs such as colchicine, cortisone, or the salicylates. There also are other products, such as Benemid and allopurinol that help prevent recurrences.

FATTY TUMORS

A reader writes: What should be done about fatty tumors in various parts of the body?

REPLY

Nothing, unless they are unsightly, or are located in an area where they interfere with shaving or wearing certain clothes. In these circumstances, removal is advised, although it is not absolutely necessary. Fatty tumors (lipomas) rarely become malignant.

Finch Views No Black Members In The Cabinet

Robert H. Finch, who will serve as Nixon's secretary of health, education and welfare, said in an interview in the Jan. 24 edition of Life magazine that one reason for this was a feeling by many Negro leaders that they have to be increasingly militant or lose their constituencies.

TV REVIEW

ABC Adding Sports To Newscasts

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—ABC-TV, which has been trying various devices to increase the audience of its half-hour evening news, now is turning to sports reporting as an added attraction.

With its two larger network competitors, CBS-TV and NBC-TV, generally dominating the evening news audience, ABC-TV in the recent past has attempted more and more to go its own way, to carve out its own special niche.

First it announced that it would be gearing its attention to contemporary matters in the social sense, in addition, of course, to covering the news that had to be covered. The implication was that ABC-TV, whose specialty is the young audience, would be oriented more to pop events and people that deserved news attention and were of particular interest to youthful viewers.

Then ABC-TV introduced a whole slate of columnists-of-the-air who, ever since, have been popping off refreshingly on their views of the world. These editorialists have appeared often, whenever the occasion seemed right.

Now comes the big venture into sports reporting on a network's evening news program—an issue that is not at all quite as ordinary as some might suspect.

It is true that these evening news reports give mention to a major sports event when it occurs—such as a World Series game. But with the half-hour being such a relatively limited time in which to cover the world's news, precious attempts — or suggestions — concerning the inclusion of sports coverage have not always met with favor among key persons.

The sports department at ABC-TV, however, has more weight than at any other network. It has been a tremendous success, and an innovator of many aspects of network sports reporting. In terms of prestige, it is the single area in which ABC-TV can fairly claim frequent superiority to its larger competitors.

Thus, while most televiewers will continue to get the majority of their video sports news on local roundups, ABC-TV late this month will begin five-minute "instant sports specials" on the network's evening news broadcasts. These five-minute inserts will be shown, says ABC-TV, when breaking sports news "warrants in-depth coverage."

Two Persons Injured On Rainy Roads

Two persons were injured in storm related accidents in Marin Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Kathy McCarthy, 18, of Santa Rosa, suffered rib pains in a two-car collision on northbound Highway 101, opposite Harbor Street, San Rafael, at 11:50 p.m., officers reported.

Jewell braked when a spray of water hit his windshield and his car swerved, according to the patrol, colliding with a car by Donald E. Rossi, 22, of Santa Rosa.

In a one-car accident on San Geronimo Valley Drive, east of Park Street, Woodacre, Floyd Porteous, 17, of Woodacre, suffered body pains.

Porteous was a passenger in a westbound car driven by Michael Richard R. A. Shand, 19, of San Geronimo, which slid on wet pavement and rolled over three or four times, officers reported. Porteous told officers he would see his own doctor.

New Repertory Company Will Bow On Feb. 1

The Artist Repertory Company, a new group of Marin professional actors, will present three plays at the Sir Francis Drake High School Little Theater on Feb. 1.

At 2 p.m. "Bindlefrink To Get There, Fagroon To Get Back," an original musical fantasty for children, will be presented, according to Gregory Norgaard, managing director and founder of ARC.

That evening, "Sing To Me Through Open Windows" by Arthur Kopit and "Spoon River Anthology," a series of character vignettes by Edgar Lee Masters, will be seen at 8 o'clock.

Members of the company are Diana Gilbert and Jo Ann Sloane of Forest Knolls, Phillip Pratt of Fairfax, Sarah Lou Lacey of Larkspur, Charles Callister of Tiburon, Beth Dowling of Mill Valley, Cynthia Jones of Sausalito and Norgaard, who lives in San Anselmo.

Resignation Review Before Hub Board

Reconsideration of the resignation of Robert W. Corlett from the San Anselmo School District board is scheduled for the board's 7:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow in the Red Hill School Library.

Corlett resigned Jan. 7 but the board has asked him to contiune until expiration of his term on June 30.

Novato Victims Sue Over Tires

Alfred D. Rowland and his wife, Janet S. Rowland, of Novato, injured in an automobile accident in January, 1968, have filed $300,000 suits against San Rafael firms Triple S Auto Service and Ames Ford Sales charging that defective tires caused the accident.

Rowland, who was driving, suffered internal injuries and fractures of both legs when his car hit a chain link fence on Highway 101 at the Terra Linda overpass.

His wife also suffered fractures of both legs and facial cuts.

The Rowlands, who also named 30 John Does in the suit, ask $150,000 each as well as payment of medical expenses.

Rancho Olompali Suspects Deny Dope Charges

The residents of the Rancho Olompali commune north of Novato have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a variety of narcotics charges.

The district attorney changed his charges Friday, saying it was not heroin found in the main house at the ranch, but cocaine. Also found there were DMT, a dangerous drug, and peyote, a narcotic, according to the charges.

In addition, McKendrick is charged with possessing cocaine, peyote and DMT, and Doyle, Minakov and D'Amore are charged with possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

Any $7,000 car looks good in a glittering showroom. The Mercedes-Benz 280S shines in a tight spot on the highway.

Look underneath, and you'll begin to see why.

The Mercedes-Benz 280S does not have pin striping, a wall-to-wall grille, or a hood two feet longer than anything it pretends to enclose.

But its classic lines, free of faddish touches, will grace any driveway —and will still be pleasing long after newer styling furbelows have rendered this year's crop of "dreamboats" obsolete.

The real beauty of the 280S, though, lies not so much in how the car looks, as in what it does.

Endowed by Mercedes-Benz engineers with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans in the so-called "fine car" field, the 280S steers, maneuvers and stops as if your life depended on it.

This is one reason why Car and Driver magazine, with a world of cars to choose from, concludes that the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Of all cars in the "luxury class" field, the Mercedes-Benz 280S is rated the safest, most roadworthy. Read why.

Racing car suspension

For a clue to the almost uncanny handling and evasive ability of the 280S, scrunch down and look beneath the rear bumper—at the axle. It's not the rigid "beam" axle of most domestic cars. It is articulated.

This Mercedes-Benz low-pivot swing axle permits each rear wheel to move up and down independently of the other, just as the front wheels do. The result is leech-like roadability.

If you know what you're looking for, you can also spot heavy-duty thrust arms, individual coil springs and shocks, and a horizontal hydropneumatic load-leveling device.

All in all, suspension ideas more common on 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars than 5-passenger sedans.

A passenger car doesn't need a suspension fit for a racer, argue some critics. True, reply Mercedes-Benz engineers. For everyday city driving, this is sheer engineering extravagance.

But some day you might have to get off the pavement, onto a stretch of potholed back road. You might have to enter a sharp curve or a turn-off faster than you intended. You might have to jockey out of a tight spot while cruising at 65 mph on a busy highway.

And, suddenly, you realize that this engineering extravagance is no extravagance at all.

Sharp reflexes

Occasionally, it is also necessary for a 3,400-pound automobile hurtling along at high speed to stop abruptly.

Once more, Mercedes-Benz engineers draw on their experience with World Champion racing machinery. They employ the more expensive, but clearly superior, type of brakes used almost universally on today's professional racing circuits.

Disc brakes.

The engineers don't stint, either—by putting disc brakes only at the front wheels, and settling for conventional drum brakes on the rear. They insist on attaching a massive disc brake to every wheel of every Mercedes-Benz.

Someday, doubtless, 4-wheel disc brakes will be offered on a domestic "luxury" car.

Accurate steering is vital for maximum control, too. In an emergency, you don't have time for a sweeping twirl of the wheel.

The ingenious Mercedes-Benz recirculating-ball-type steering system of the 280S eliminates sloppy play in the wheel—and blesses you with the "feel" of the road. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Taut, sensitive steering is retained even with Mercedes-Benz power steering—characterized by Car and Driver as "unquestionably the most precise unit of its kind ever developed."

If trouble comes

The responsiveness which makes the 280S such a joy to drive is its best defense against blundering motorists. However, if the worst happens, the car is designed to shield you. Naturally, it meets all the U.S. safety regulations. But Mercedes-Benz safety goes beyond the letter of these laws.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay shut on impact. The front and rear of the car are engineered to crumple in a crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

"A fellow hit me when I stopped at a toll booth," reports one Mercedes-Benz owner. "People in his car were hospitalized. But I just opened my door and stepped out."

Showroom experiments

The 280S is as habitable as it is roadworthy and safe.

Slip behind the wheel, and flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, hour after hour. It should: it was designed with help from orthopedic physicians.

Check the rear shelf. Carpeted. Feel the underside of the dashboard. There's no spaghetti tangle of wires. It's fully finished off. Finger the wood trim—real walnut, not plastic.

No shortcuts

Every 280S begins life in a shower of sparks. It is not bolted into being, like a conventional car, but solidified by thousands of welds. After 50,000 miles or so, you may start to wonder if it will ever rattle.

More than four coats and 44 pounds of paint and primer rust protection are lavished on each car. Even the insides of the hubcaps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, the 280S gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

Unconventional? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not build conventional cars—and never will.

Fuel injection available

Machined to racing tolerances, the 2.8 liter, overhead cam, six-cylinder engine of the 280S is built to run flat-out on Germany's autobahns for hours on end (it often does)—and can cruise at any posted speeds in America, with energy in reserve.

However, if you'd like even more power, you may choose the 280SE. The "E"—for Einspritzmotor —gives you a Bosch 6-plunger fuel-injection system that boosts horsepower by nearly 15 percent, at virtually no sacrifice in gas mileage.

NOTE: Another variation, the 280SEL, affords a wheelbase 4 inches longer, and with four inches additional legroom in the rear compartment. Maneuverability is unimpaired.

24-page brochure

To learn more details of the remarkable 280S—$7,000 complete with automatic shift, power steering and electric windows ($6,249* without frills)—mail the coupon for a color brochure.

Better still, drop by the showroom and arrange to test the car. Driving is believing.

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $4,780*.

HOW THE WEST WON—Ken Willard of the San Francisco 49ers, representing the West, plowed into a stiff East defense for a 10-yard gain in first quarter of yesterday's NFL Pro Bowl at Los Angeles. It took a trio of Easterners to stop Willard, including Chris Hanburger (55). The West won, 10-7. (AP Wirephoto)

West Wins In Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When they first started playing catch, quarterback Roman Gabriel and end Carroll Dale were reserves with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

Yesterday the pair combined for a last-quarter 25-yard gain and two plays later the West team scored to earn a 10-7 victory over the East in the NFL's 19th Pro Bowl game.

"It sure was great having Dale out there catching my passes again," Gabriel said after the victory.

"He and I came up the hard way together. He was a second-string receiver and I was a second-string quarterback. We would usually go into the game together after the first stringers were through."

Dale, now a regular with the Green Bay Packers, wound up with only three catches but the 25-yarder came with less than 3½ minutes to play and the West trailing 7-3.

Donny Anderson of the Packers bulled 22 yards up the middle one play later and Bill Brown of the Minnesota Vikings smashed the remaining yard for the go-ahead score.

Don Meredith of Dallas started for the East at quarterback but a stubborn West defensive line didn't allow a first down for the first 24½ minutes of the game. So midway in the second quarter, New York's Fran Tarkenton came in.

On his first offensive play, Tarkenton was dropped by Viking end Carl Eller for a nine-yard loss.

"Our defense played a fine game," said winning Coach George Allen of the Rams. "The footing was a little poor and the linemen put a lot of pressure on Tarkenton."

"But he's so unconventional, you can never really anticipate

Rain Washes Out Final Round Of Kaiser Golf

Barber Declared Winner

NAPA (AP) — Heavy rains for a third straight day forced cancellation today of the final rounds in the $135,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament and swept Miller Barber into the championship.

Barber, a veteran from Sherman, Tex., posted a 9-under-par 135 for 36 holes at the conclusion of play Friday and no more rounds could be finished.

So the Texan collects a top prize of $13,500, exactly one-half the top pay-off had the tournament gone the full 72-hole route.

Tournament director Jack Tuthill of the Professional Golfers' Association announced at 8:40 a.m. today, "We're not going to be able to finish. This course won't be playable tomorrow. You can't even get to the tees today."

As they were Saturday, all scores were scratched yesterday, leaving the field just like Friday's night's.

Barber led with a 68-67—135 nine under par, a stroke ahead of Devlin, two ahead of Palmer and three ahead of Charles Coody of Abiline, Tex., and the first day leader, 23-year-old Bob Lunn of Sacramento.

Sloshing through with five birdies, Tommy Aaron, in his eighth year on the tour, had gone nine under par for the tournament yesterday, tying him with Devlin, who had birdied his second hole and was playing his fifth when the round was suspended.

"I was surprised I was playing so well," said Aaron.

Forty-five players had completed nine holes including Californians Dave Stockton and John Miller, the only amateur in the field. Each shot a four-under 32.

Despite the rain yesterday, more than 1,000 fans followed the three-some of Palmer, Barber and Lunn. Lunn started off with a birdie, hit two bogeys and grabbed a birdie with a 15-foot downhill putt.

The last multi-rainout was at the Westchester Classic in 1967 when rounds were washed out Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The tour golfers now head for Monterey and the Bing Crosby invitational tourney, praying for no rain.

HOW THE WET WON—A greenskeeper looked like he was playing an aquatic version of suffleboard yesterday as he attempted to "squeegie" water off green at Napa's Silverado Country Club. But the heavy rains proved to be too much and play was canceled today in the second Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament. (AP Wirephoto)

Oaks Set New ABA Record

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Oaks hold the American Basketball Association record of 16 straight victories and will try to boost it to 17 Wednesday at Los Angeles.

The 116-105 victory over New York the Oaks posted yesterday afternoon at Commack, N.Y., erased the league record set last year by the Pittsburgh Pipers.

The Oaks beat the Pipers Saturday night 111-108 to tie the record.

WITHOUT RICK

Since losing their superstar Rick Barry Dec. 27 because of torn knee ligaments, the Oaks have won nine games. Their last loss was Dec. 9.

The Nets, for whom the loss was the sixth straight, led early in the second quarter and were behind only 96-92 with 7:35 left. Then the Oaks ran off 10 points to go out of reach.

Warren Armstrong scored 30 points for Oakland, and Levern Tart led the Nets with 28. Manny Leaks of New York and Doug Moe of the Oaks got 17 each, and Leaks had 23 rebounds.

Thurmond Leads S.F. Past 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach George Lee isn't saying his San Francisco Warriors would be in first place if Nate Thurmond hadn't missed 11 games with a thigh injury ,but he has some interesting figures.

Lee was discussing Thurmond's value after the Warriors defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 98-97 in a National Basketball Association game yesterday.

"They say," observed Lee, "that every time you get the ball, its worth one point. Thurmand averages 20 rebounds a game. He averages about 24 points. That's 44.

BLOCKS SIX

"You have to figure he blocks about six shots a game. That means he's worth about 50 points a game."

Lee also mentioned there were a number of times during a game that Thurmond intimidates a shooter. There was a good example in the contest yesterday.

San Francisco led 98-95 with less than 20 seconds remaining. Philadelphia's Archie Clark drove for the hoop for what appeared to be an easy lay-up. He missed, however, as Thurmond loomed alongside.

TOUGH BREAK

Thurmond, in addition to missing 11 games, played in one he shouldn't have, according to Lee. Considering that the Warriors are fourth in the Western Division, 12 games behind leading Los Angeles, the loss of Thurmond has been a crippling blow for San Francisco.

The 220-pound Thurmond virtually beat the 76ers himself yesterday, if you believe Lee's figures. He hauled down 34 rebounds, an NBA high this season. Wesley Unseld of Baltimore had the previous high of 29 in November.

Thurmond also blocked at least a half dozen shots and scored 35 points.

BACK OKAY

Thurmond says the thigh muscle is much better, but not yet 100 per cent. He noted that a back condition which has sidelined him in previous seasons hasn't given him any trouble, knocking on wood as he said it.

Lee feels that if Thurmond can remain healthy, the Warriors will improve their position in the West and be tough in the playoffs.

The smaller 76ers dropped out of second place in the East behind Boston as a result of the defeat, only the fourth this year on their home court where they've won 16.

Philadelphia had a cold-shooting afternoon—33 per cent from

Finn Leads Monte Carlo Auto Rally

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Finland's Rauno Aaltonen, in an Italian Lancia, led in the field of weary survivors who reached here at the end of the first stage of the 1969 Monte Carlo rally today.

Aaltonen, winner of the rally in 1966, along with the same British co-driver, Henry Liddon, reported no trouble en route and good weather all the way from Athens. Their car was in immaculate condition after a wash outside the town.

They were followed in by another Lancia, crewed by Britain's Tony Fall and John Davenport, who also started from Athens. Next came the Italian Giuseppe Ceccato, in a Fiat.

There were few reported dropouts during the night but the actual number could not be known until after the last arrival due here early this afternoon.

All the big teams were intact although overnight Pat Moss Carlsson of Britain erroneously had been reported as missing at one checkpoint in western France.

The British Ford team of three escort twin Cams was expected on time and manager Henry Taylor commented this morning "when they get here, the real job starts."

After a night's rest, the top-placed teams set out tomorrow on a 920-mile run over the Chambery loop in the mountains behind Monte Carlo. The deciding battle Wednesday will take the top 50 over 417 miles through seven special mountain stages.

Seals Win To Stay In Second

OAKLAND (UPI) — The National Hockey League season is only half over but the Oakland Seals have already bettered their entire 1967-68 victory total.

The expansion Seals gained their 16th victory of the campaign last night with a 6-3 triumph over Pittsburgh and, in addition, broke a winless home series against the Penguins.

IN SECOND

With its 16 wins, one better than the team registered a year ago, Oakland will go into the second half of the season with a firm hold on second place in the Western Division race.

The Seals are a distant 17 points behind St. Louis with a 16-24-6 record but are two points ahead of Los Angeles.

Hicke, who will be one of three Oakland players participating in tomorrow's NHL All-Star game, rapped in his 16th and 17th goals in the first and third periods. He also was credited with two assists.

ALL-STARS

Centerliner Laughton also rammed home two goals with Carol Vadnais and Norm Ferguson adding the other two Oakland tallies.

In addition to Hicke, Ted Hampson and Vadnais will represent the Seals in the All-Star clash which will be played in Montreal. Vadnais will be replacing Gary Jarrett, who was injured in a game last week.

The next Oakland game will be against the Canadiens in Montreal Thursday.

Tam Soccer Team Shuts Out Redwood

Andy Copperman scored the only goal and goalie Wayne Setnary turned in a shutout as the Tamalpais High School soccer team defeated Redwood of Larkspur, 1-0, Saturday in a Marin County Atheltic League game at Mill Valley.

NBC DECLARES VICTORY IN TV RATING TEST

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. declared itself the winner of the first post-Super Bowl television ratings test.

Yesterday's all-star games — The American Football League at Jacksonville, Fla., and the National League at Los Angeles — were the first games since the AFL New York Jets upset the NFL Baltimore Colts 16-7 in the Super Bowl Jan. 12.

The Columbia Broadcasting System, which televises NFL games, usually is well ahead of NBC and the AFL games in the ratings.

But an NBC spokesman said the overnight Nielsen ratings for the New York area showed that NBC had a 21.3 rating yesterday to a 5-1 for CBS during the hour that the games overlapped.

The ratings mean that 45 per cent of the television audience was watching the AFL game on NBC from 4 to 5 p.m. while only 11 per cent was watching the NFL game on CBS. The AFL game was in the second half during that hour, the NFL game in the first half.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

Dawson Leads West Stars In Come-From-Behind Win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Len Dawson, 12 years a pro but overlooked by all of the American Football League coaches except his own, succeeded where youth failed as the West came from far back to defeat the New York-dominated East 38-25 in the league's annual All-Star game.

Although he topped the league in average yards gained during the regular season, the 33-year-old National League reject from Kansas City was overlooked by the coaches in favor of San Diego's 28-year-old John Hadl in their selection of the West's All-Star team.

But Hank Stram, coach of the West, lost no time correcting the error. He selected his Chiefs' quarterback as a member of the squad and it proved a smart move yesterday as the West chalked up its fourth All-Star victory against two defeats before a rainy day crowd of 43,869.

Dawson replaced Hadl at the start of the second half with the East leading 19-3 chiefly because of the passing and the smart signal calling of New York's Joe Namath, the league's Most Valuable Player. Broadway Joe completely overshadowed Hadl, who was far off in his passing.

New York's Jim Turner kicked the last of his six field goals early in the final quarter to lengthen the margin to 25-13 but that ended the East's scoring as Dawson took complete charge with assists from three comparative youngsters—Jim Lynch, Floyd Little and Paul Robinson, the league's No. 1 rookie from Cincinnati.

Little provided the first big burst when he took a short pass from Dawson. The bow-legged former Syracuse University All-American from Denver cut down the left side and wasn't stopped until 81 yards later on the one-yard line. Hewritt Dixon of Oakland went over on the fourth down.

Lynch successfully covered an onside kick and Dawson and his mates were on their way again from the East's 43. This time Robinson went over from the one for the first of his two quick touchdowns.

A pass from Dawson to Warren Wells of Oakland ate up 37

Roche Wins First Round Net Match

Roche, a pro, defeated Barry Phillips-Moore, a fellow Australian, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 while Mrs. Court, a registered player, stopped another Aussie, Judith Gohl 6-0, 6-0.

In other women's matches Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., defeated Francis Luff of Australia 6-1, 6-3 and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco knocked off Gail Chanfreau of Australia 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. In an all-Australian match Helen Gourlay upset Judy Tegart 2-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles led the American advance in men's competition, whipping Marc Bolle of Belgium 6-2, 6-2, 6-4. Gonzales is the top American seed at No. 6.

Riverside Race Put Off By Rain

RIVERSIDE (AP) — The 44 cars in the Motor Trend Riverside 500 race sat on blocks today, their radiators drained and battery cables disconnected, awaiting next Sunday and the rescheduled stock car race.

A steady downpour which pelted the 2.7-mile track and more than 20,000 fans forced officials to postpone yesterday's seventh annual running. It was the second weather delay in the race's history.

Two years ago, with Parnelli Jones leading after 50 laps, a sudden deluge forced a one-week postponement. Jones didn't seem to mind the delay, though. He maintained his lead and won.

It was the only year in which Dan Gurney failed to wind up with the checkered flag.

GOLF

MIAMI, Fla. — Joanne Gunderson Carner became the first amateur golfer to capture an LPGA-sponsored tournament when she won the $35,000 first annual Burdine's Invitational PGA by one stroke over veteran pro Shirley Englehorn with a par 216.

BOWLING

CANTON, Ohio — Dottie Fothergill of Attleboro, Mass., won the National Professional Women's Bowling Tournament with a 176-164 victory over Peggy DiBattista of Youngstown, Ohio, in the final one-game roll-off among the first five finishers.

SKIING

MADISON, Wis. — Adrian Watt of Duluth, Minn., outdistanced three of his Olympic teammates and won America's central division ski jumping championship with jumps of 205 and 204 feet on Blackhawk Hill.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. — Odd Hammerness of Norway soared 215 and 220 feet and scored an average 17 of 20 points for style on each to post an over-all 196.1 total and win the Masters Ski Jump Tournament.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. — George Krog, a 22-year-old University of Denver senior from Washington, D.C., made jumps of 234 and 225 feet on the 70-meter Olympic Hill to win by a 6½-point margin the initial event of the seven-week-long first Kennedy International Memorial Winter Games.

GENERAL

CLEVELAND — Warren Lahr, a defensive halfback for the Cleveland Browns of the NFL for 11 years and later a television sports announcer, died of an apparent heart attack at the age of 45.

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS — The Minnesota North Stars removed John Muckler as coach of the National Hockey League team and returned General Manager Wren Blair to the bench shortly after the North Stars went through their eighth straigh loss and 14th straight game without a victory.

BASKETBALL

Western Power Teams UCLA, Santa Clara Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Very conceivably, the western regionals of the NCAA playoffs could wind up with two undefeated powerhouses pitted against each other.

Unless something unforeseen occurs during the remainder of the regular campaign—and it's not likely—UCLA and Santa Clara, nationally ranked first and third, respectively, will charge full-steam into the regionals with perfect seasons.

The same two teams met in the regional finals last year—but with blemished records. UCLA came out on top in that one, 87-66, to move into the NCAA championship round.

Johnny Wooden's Bruins ran their record to 12-0 Saturday as they scored a rousing 64 points in the second half to easily outdistance Houston, 100-64.

And the high-scoring victory was accomplished with the fabulous Lew Alcindor on the bench for most of the game with a throat ailment. However, with his sub, Steve Patterson, controlling the boards and keying several fast breaks, the Westwood quintet was unstoppable.

John Vallely paced the well-balanced UCLA scoring attack with 18 points with Bill Sweek adding 15 and Curt Rowe 14.

To record a new school mark of 16 straight triumphs, the Santa Clara Broncos had to journey to nearby San Jose where they shot a sparkling 55.1 per cent from the field to down the Spartans, 64-49.

Six-foot-ine junior center Dennis Awtrey, who was the game's top scorer with 22 points, led the first half attack with the Ogden boys, Ralph and Bud, picking up the scoring pace over the final 20 minutes.

The loss was San Jose's first in five West Coast Athletic Conference starts.

Surprising Washington gained sole possession of first place in the Pacific 8 Conference with a 60-42 victory over Oregon State. In posting their third straight conference win, the Huskies stormed to a 36-18 lead and were never headed.

Washington can stretch its Pac 8 lead to a full game over UCLA tonight when it hosts winless Oregon. In the only other league meeting, Oregon State travels to Washington State.

Ted Wierman dropped in a pair of free throws in the dying seconds to give Washington State a narrow 67-63 decision over a late-rallying Oregon five in another Pacific 8 game Saturday.

In other WCAC games, University of Pacific, with Bill Stricker scoring 27 points and grabbing 11 rebounds, defeated Pepperdine, 73-62; Santa Barbara edged San Francisco, 62-59; and St. Mary's downed Loyola, 78-73.

San Francisco State took over the lead in the Far Western Conference with a 78-63 nod over previously unbeaten Sacramento State; the Cal Aggies overpowered Humboldt State, 82-69; and Nevada scored a come-from-behind 87-80 decision over Hayward State.

Dee Andros To Stay As Oregon St. Coach

Dee Andros, whose name originally was Konstandies Demosthenes Androcoupolis, Saturday rejected an attractive offer to leave his head coaching job at Oregon State for Pittsburgh, which has had three 1-9 seasons.

"I guess you could say sentimental reasons are the main thing," he said. "It's tough to get together your own squad and then up and leave them."

Oregon State has finished second in the Pacific Eight Conference for three straight years and Andros has a 26-13-1 record during his four years here.

"We will go down our list again," said Athletic Director Casimir Myslinski of Pittsburgh.

Pitt had reportedly offered Andros $27,000 a year. This is believed to be about $5,000 more then he has been getting at Oregon State.

Andros is the third man to turn down the Pittsburgh job. Frank Kush of Arizona State and Jack Wiley, an assistant at Pitt, earlier rejected the position.

When Andros returned to the campus after a visit to the east he was met by several hundred students and the Oregon State pep band.

"Please don't go. We want you to stay," the students chanted.

Andros met Friday night with the school athletic board and said they came to "a very satisfactory agreement."

Andros' wife, Lou ,said she, too, was impressed by the student rally. "It really got to us...the band and the kids here," she said.

Headlines in Portland's two newspapers read:

"H'ray Great Pumpkin will stay" in the Oregon Journal and "Pumpkins Still in Season; Deecides to Stay" in the Oregonian.

FULL SLATE FOR MARIN PREP CAGERS

San Rafael High School's Bulldogs, still smarting from an 84-64 loss to Terra Linda basketballers Friday night, hope to get back on the winning track tomorrow afternoon — but the prospects aren't bright.

Coach Mike Diaz' Bulldogs must entertain the front-running Novato Hornets in the Marin County Athletic League's featured basketball game of the day. Novato has a 14-4 won-lost season record, best in he county, and 3-0 in league play as compared to San Rafael's 7-7, 2-1 credentials.

The other top game of tomorrow afternoon will pit Terra Linda at Tamalpais in Mill Valley, each with a 2-1 league mark. Elsewhere, it's San Marin of Novato (0-3) at Redwood (2-1) in Larkspur and Drake (0-3) at Marin Catholic (1-2) in Kentfield.

All games will start at 4 p.m. followed by junior varsity games.

Raiders' Atkinson Arrested

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) —Oakland Raider George Atkinson, who intercepted a pass in the West's defeat of the East in the American Football League All-Star game yesterday, had a less glorious moment as he walked off the field and was arrested.

Atkinson, a 22-year-old rookie defensive halfback who was graduated from Morris Brown College, was arrested on a fugitive warrant charging him with abandoning two illegitimate children.

"Someone's trying to take me for a joy ride," the Savannah, Ga. native said. He said the suit was filed by a woman from his home town whom he had known several years ago.

"I was real proud of playing in this game in my first year and then this thing had to happen."

"I never heard from her, and now all of a sudden six years later, when I'm playing professional football, she comes up with this," Atkinson, who now lives in Atlanta, said.

Atkinson said he paid his own $2,000 bond and would go to Savannah today to make arrangements for a hearing on the suit.

Rough Day For West All-Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ken Willard, San Francisco's running back, suddenly pulled up after running a few yards for the victorious West in the third quarted of yesterday's Pro Bowl football game. No one had hit him.

Willard, it became known later, pulled a hamstring muscle and, apparently earlier, suffered a fractured collarbone.

Los Angeles Ram Deacon Jones was in and out of the game with a right ankle sprain. His teammate, Maxie Baughan, hurt his knee and will have surgery on it this week.

Lynch then came up with another great play when he grabbed Griese's pass and raced 37 yards to the one from where Robinson scored. Jan Stenrud of Kansas City kicked a 32-yard field goal in the closing minutes for the last of his three field goals—the longest of which was a 52-yarder in the opening period.

"We just gave away too much in the second half," said Wally Lemm of Houston, coach of the losers. "Alvin Reed (Houston) dropped a couple of good passes from Namath in the first half or we might well have been farther ahead. But loss of that onside kick, Emerson Boozer's fumble which led to a third-period touchdown, Little's long run and Lynch's interception really hurt us."

"Little's run gave us the spark," said Stram.

Most of the East's players, however, gave credit for the victory to Dawson, who was voted the game's outstanding back. George Webster of Houston, with two interceptions in the first half, was named the outstanding lineman.

Dawson held the advantage over the other three quarterbacks. He completed four of nine passes for 158 yards. Hadl gained only 23 with four completed of 19.

There wasn't much difference between the East's two passers. Namath was seven out of 18 for 98 yards and Griese nine out of 14 for 97.

what he's going to do," said Ram Merlin Olsen of Tarkenton. Olsen was a nearly unanimous pick as lineman of the game.

The East gained only 81 yards in the first half and trailed 3-0 at intermission on Ram Bruce Gossett's 20-yard field goal. An earlier 52-yard Gossett attempt bounced high off the cross bar and fell back onto the playing field.

Meredith got the East's only score midway through the third period on a 34-yard pass to Cleveland's Paul Warfield, who eluded San Francisco 49er defensive back Kermit Alexander and raced in for the touchdown.

Then Gabriel and Dale teamed up.

"We sent Anderson on a sweep," Allen explained. "Then, on the next play, Gabe used a play-action pass, faking to Brown. Dale was open up the middle."

"They just caught us in a zone defense with Dale one-on-one with (St. Louis Cardinal Larry) Wilson," said losing Coach Tom Landry of Dallas.

"Babe called all his own plays and I thought he mixed them up real well," said Allen.

Gabriel was named player of the game by writers.

It was the 12th West triumph. The East has won seven.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Executone Shows A Steady Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What stock could you suggest for a high school student with a limited amount to invest? — B.R.

A. Executone, a young and forward-looking communication company, seems to fit your situation.

Recently negotiated marketing agreements with the Swedish subsidiary of International Telephone and with RCA should expand Executone's sales base. Several of the company's products are medically oriented: a nurse call system, a doctor's pocket paging device and a patient-run remote control for operating TV, signaling a nurse, and so forth.

Sales, which have moved ahead annually, should be about $11 million for the year just ended. Final quarter earnings of about 60 cents will lift full year 1968 net to around $1.20 a share, up from 97 cents in 1967.

Q. Because of a company stock purchase plan, I own shares of common and $3.75 preferred Standard Oil of Ohio. Should I keep these? Now after a change in company policy I work for Leaseway Transport and am buying shares of this company under a similar arrangement. What is your advice? — B.R.

A. Sohio, primarily a petroleum refiner and marketer, more recently has expanded operations to include chemicals, minerals, coal, motels, restaurants and vending. Lacking significant crude production — a situation which could change dramatically if the Oil Shale venture moves ahead — the shares have had limited investor appeal in an other wise "hot" oil market.

However, on a long-term basis holdings should do well, with the petrochemical division providing additional stimulus.

Leaseway Transport, after two years of declining earnings, has estimated that 1968 gross and net will be at record levels. With 25 per cent of total revenues coming from automobile transportation, last year's high level of car production was an important factor in earnings improvement.

Internal expansion plus acquisitions — pursued aggressively — will help to offset the more cyclical car transport operations. Shares are an attractive holding, particularly in view of the growth in the more profitable leasing and contract areas of Leaseway's operations.

Market On Mixed Side At Closing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks closed mixed today, largely reflecting normal uncertainities that accompany a change of administration in Washington. Trading was moderate.

Steels were mixed. Motors also lacked direction.

Cities Service was weak. Sinclair held to the upside much of the day.

Northwest Industries moved forward after announcing plans for a tender offer for B.F. Goodrich. The latter hadn't opened for trading during the first three hours.

Airlines were mixed.

'Stripper' Wells

Fibreboard Buy Set

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Fibreboard Corp., which has owned a 50 per cent interest in Pickering Lumber Corp. since 1965, has entered into an agreement to acquire the remaining 50 per cent interest from Yuba River Lumber Co. on an exchange of stock basis estimated at approximately $11 million.

Nixon Takes Oath As 37th U.S. President

Pledges Energies To Peace

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon assumed the awesome powers and crushing burdens of the presidency today with a solemn commitment to devote all his energies to "the cause of peace among nations" and the healing of strident divisions among the American people.

The 56-year-old Californian, who was counted out of national politics after a crushing defeat just six years ago, became the 37th President of the United States at 9:16 a.m. (PST), the moment he completed the oath of office prescribed by the Founding Fathers.

AWARE OF PROBLEMS

With the somber countenance of a man fully aware of the problems confronting him, the new President delivered a 17-minute inaugural address pledging that under his administration, America will seek "the greatest honor history can bestow"—the title of peacemaker.

"After a period of confrontation, we are entering an era of negotiation," he told the thoroughly chilled but attentive audience estimated at 65,000 that jammed Capitol plaza to witness the most important civic ritual of the American republic.

Sleet and freezing rain, which had been forecast, held off during the hour-long ceremony. But the temperature was just above freezing, and 15 mile winds sharply increased its bite.

Nixon's address was delivered slowly, deliberately, with none of the informal digressions or oratorical gestures that usually characterize his speeches. He was interrupted by applause nine times, and received a one-minute ovation at the finish.

DEEP FEELING

Gravely—with obvious deep feeling—Nixon appealed to his countrymen to "stop shouting at one another," and to learn to listen, to care, to understand, to display in their everyday relations the simple but basic virtues of "goodness, decency, love, kindness."

Simply "to lower our voices" would help to relieve domestic tensions which have brought about "a crisis of spirit" in America, he said.

"Our destiny offers, not the cup of despair, but the chalice of opportunity," he said. "So let us seize it, not in fear, but in gladness."

To any who feared that a Republican administration might turn its back on the social programs of Lyndon B. Johnson's "Great Society," Nixon offered some assurances.

He said, "We will press ur-

MISSES HIGH NOON

For 16 Minutes Nation Is Without A Chief Executive

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 16 minutes today the United States technically had no president.

The terms in office of President Lyndon B. Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey expired at noon, as prescribed by the 20th Amendment to the Constitution.

However, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had been sworn in just after noon and so, theoretically, the power of the presidency was temporarily his until Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court administered the oath to Nixon.

Harry S Truman had missed the noon deadline by 29 minutes in 1949. Dwight D. Eisenhower by 32 minutes in 1953, and the late John F. Kennedy by 51 minutes in 1961.

But Eisenhower was also the only recent president to meet the deadline, taking the oath for his second term, in 1957, at 10:28 a.m. in a private ceremony.

That was on a Sunday and the public inauguration ceremony was held the next day. Eisenhower repeated the oath-taking then.

New U.S. Team Arriving In Paris For Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — The Nixon Administration's first team for the Vietnam peace talks began arriving in Paris today, and the four delegations were expected to get down to business before the end of the week.

Lawrence Walsh, who will replace Cyrus R. Vance as the U.S. delegations No. 2 man, arrived this morning. Henry Cabot Lodge, the delegation chief, was due tonight from Washington.

Walsh said on his arrival there are elements of optimism in the coming negotiations to end the war. But "the timing of it may be difficult," he added.

"It would be wrong to minimize the difficulties ahead," Walsh told newsmen at Orly Airport. "Everyone realizes we have made a good start, but everyone also realizes that there is a great deal more to be accomplished. It seems to me the elements are here for optimism, but the timing of it may be difficult."

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front proposed Saturday that the first session of substantive talks be held tomorrow But Lodge said the U.S. response would have to await his arrival in Paris, and other officials in Washington doubted the talks could get under way so soon.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, supervisor of the South Vietnamese delegation, was expected back in Paris early this week. He had returned to Saigon before Christmas while the talks were deadlocked over the shape of a conference table.

In Washington, Harriman told his successor the stage has been set for "new and serious talks for a peaceful settlement" of the war in Vietnam.

"You'll be hard to follow," replied Lodge. "I'll do my best and look forward to consulting you and getting your advice."

At the White House Harriman told President Johnson: "I'm happy we were able to keep the train on the track in your administration and are now turning it over to the new administration in a manner in which they can move ahead."

Lodge also conferred with President-elect Nixon at the Statler Hilton Hotel. There was no account of their talk, but the two posed for photographs and Nixon quipped: "Let the record show this is a round table," a reference to the agreement on a circular table which broke the procedural deadlock last week at the Paris conference.

After 10 weeks of stalemate on the table shape, the delegates from the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the NLF met Saturday to settle other procedural matters. A few hours later they unexpectedly announced a decision to cut short further haggling on minor items.

The sudden burst of speed stirred speculation that pressure had been brought to bear by Moscow on North Vietnam and Washington on its South Vietnamese ally.

Storm Dumps Six Inches Of Rain, Causes Flooding

A relentless statewide weekend storm which dumped more than six inches of rain on parts of Marin and caused extensive flooding, accidents, rock slides and blackouts, will continue through tomorrow, the weatherman predicted today.

Following on its heels, a new series of storms is reported moving in from the Pacific.

Water flowed over the Gallinas Creek dike in Santa Venetia yesterday, flooding most of the streets in Gallinas Village and innundating lawns of hundreds of homes.

Water run up to three feet deep along Vendola Drive, Hawthorne Way, La Pasada, Mabry Way, Birch Way, Ash Way and a portion of Galerita Way. On several of the streets, youngsters rowed where cars usually travel.

The Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church at 635 Adrian Way was flooded with about six inches of water.

Eight families near the Glenwood Middle School site off San Pedro Road have been marooned since Saturday as water which formerly drained onto the recently filled site sat on Main Drive near Manzanita Avenue.

The San Rafael School District has contracted for a drainage system to take care of the water, but Supt. John F. Plank said the pump probably won't be in operation until mid-February.

Sausalito firemen had to use a rowboat to reach a call at Marinship and a houseboat which was home to about 20 hippies sank at 602 Humboldt Avenue.

Other significant flooding was reported along Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael, the Kay Park area of Tamalpais Valley, the Strawberry Peninsula, along Lucky Drive and Marina Village in Corte Madera.

During high tide yesterday, the California Highway Patrol closed a stretch of Shoreline Highway in the heliport area and a section of Miller Avenue near Tamalpais High School was closed from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company reported about 2500 customers in southern Corte Madera and the Enchanted Knolls and Scott's Valley areas of Mill Valley were without power from 7:04 to 7:28 p.m. Saturday after a tree fell on a

Inaugural Militants Arrested

ROPE BARRICADE

A band of the dissidents burned dozens of small souvenir American flags at a number of points along Pennsylvania Avenue. In one instance, a batch of 20 or so flags were ignited beneath a group of souvenir Republican elephants being sold by a hawker.

Police arrested at least 10 demonstrators at or near the flag burning. At one point, they held three youths immobilized with hammerlocks until a police patrol wagon came.

A few minutes later, two girls were picked up bodily by men in civilian clothes and carried kicking and screaming to a van. The flag burning took place near a bloc of bleacher seats purchased by counter-inauguration organizers.

SEVERAL ARRESTS

Several arrests were made before the demonstrators reached the parade route. One was a middle-aged man who rushed into the first ranks of the marchers. Three demonstrators, as well as the man, were arrested. "Communists! Communists!" he shouted. "Seig heil!" the paraders retorted.

Some of the demonstrators clustered in a huddle outside the famous Willard Hotel, the headquarters of the Inaugural committee. Some of them chanted, "The streets belong to the people."

The threatened disruption began in a park where the demonstrators gathered while, at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, the inaugural ceremonies were being held at

Pueblo Skipper Testifies Request For 'Destruct System' Deferred

CORONADO (AP) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, skipper of the USS Pueblo, said today there was no "destruct" system on board to destroy secret equipment and code when the intelligence ship was captured by North Koreans because the Navy deferred his request for one.

He made the statement in opening testimony at a court of inquiry into the seizure of the Pueblo last year. He said the "destruct system"—a means of destroying secret equipment with explosives— was deferred because of "problems of time and money."

"I requested that a destruct system be installed on board," he said. "Not a specific one. I am not familiar with explosives. But I felt there would be people in Washington who would be able to give me specific action."

The Navy has said many valuable items of intelligence, codes and equipment were aboard the Pueblo when it fell into North Korean hands. Bucher has said previously that some but not all of the classified material was destroyed before the ship was boarded.

"I did request that a destruct system be installed in the electronic spaces on the ship," Bucher said. "I requested this together with the crypto (code) area.

"I wrote a classified letter about it and included it in my monthly reports to CNO (chief of naval operations)."

Bucher said action on his request, along with other suggestions for improving the Pueblo during its conversion into an intelligence ship in the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, was deferred partly because $1 million was cut from his conversion allocation.

"Eleven million dollars had been allocated for the conversion of two ships, the Pueblo and the Palm Beach, giving them $5.5 million each," Bucher said.

"This was cut back by $1 million on each ship," he said.

Among "the most important improvements deferred for some reason or another," he said, "was the destruct system."

Bucher said his request for the destruction equipment "went up through the chain of command and I received what I considered to be thoughtful replies. The chief of naval operations and others all commented on this specific point."

Navy personnel, civilians and 45 newsmen filled the small amphitheater where the inquiry is being conducted at the Naval Amphibious Base here. The 111-seat room ordinarily is used for classroom training.

A question facing the high-ranking court of inquiry, is: Did the ship intrude into North Korean territorial waters before it was boarded by the North Koreans last Jan 23?

North Korea says it did. Bucher, says it didn't.

Adm. Thomas I. Moorer, chief of naval operations, has said that the Navy never doubted Bucher's word. U.S. evidence, Moorer said shows the Pueblo as 16 miles from Yo Do Island —four miles beyond the Communist country's territorial limit—when she was boarded.

Dresses Warmly For Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP) — The quadrennial debate over what sort of hats a congressman should wear to presidential inaugurations took on a new dimension today via Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va.

Hechler, on the other hand, was more than prepared for today's 30-degree inauguration day temperatures.

Striking S.F. Teacher Holds Grades Depend On Negotiation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A spokesman for striking union teachers at San Francisco State College says some students may not get grades this semester unless California officials "back down and negotiate."

Prof. Arthur Bierman of the American Federation of Teachers, referred yesterday to the state's ruling that teachers who miss classes for five consecutive days without authorization are subject to "automatic resignations."

On the campus itself today, a steady rain thinned ranks of striking AFT teachers to the smallest since the union struck the campus Jan. 6.

The AFT, which claims one-quarter of the college's 1,300 faculty members, mustered only 15 pickets at the main entrance and small clusters of umbrella-carrying strikers at other spots.

Meanwhile, acting president S. I. Hayakawa was expected to meet today with a four-member team from the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which has begun a study of disturbances which have plagued the 18,000-student campus since Nov. 6.

Twenty-eight AFT teachers at nearby San Jose State College have been notified of their automatic resignations because of a sympathy strike in support of union members at San Francisco State.

Hayakawa has threatened similar action, but no specific resignations have been announced in San Francisco.

Bierman said yesterday AFT members want to give the students grades for their semester's work, "but can't unless Governor (Ronald) Reagan and the state college administration back down and negotiate honestly..."

"The only position we have at this moment is that if we are fired for striking, we will not be employees of S.F. State," Bierman said. "And if we're not teachers any more, we cannot give grades to students."

Police were called on campus yesterday when campus militants invaded the library while a group of volunteers, including Mrs. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, was attempting to return books to their proper shelves.

Thousands of volumes had been stacked on tables and floors after library assistants last week joined the strike of union teachers and minority student groups.

Dissident students created the chaos by checking out books in large quantities and returning them immediately. Other books were placed in wrong racks and several were stolen.

A group of about 50 students, faculty wives and volunteers was assisting in the library cleanup when dissidents entered and began yelling at the volunteers to leave. One book was thrown and several verbal threats were made before police restored order.

Militants have engaged in violence and vandalism on campus since Black Panther George Murray was suspended as a part time English instructor in early November. Then the Black Students Union and Third World Liberation Front struck to support 15 demands, dealing mainly with the upgrading of minority studies.

Nearly 170 persons have been arrested as the results of repeated clashes between demonstrators and police, who have been present on campus since Hayakawa took over the strife-torn school in the first week of December.

The AFT has threatened to call a statewide one-day strike at the 19-college system Wednesday in protest against the "automatic resignation" ruling.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

A Unity First

NEW YORK (AP) — Archbishop Iakovos, primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, preached yesterday at St. Patrick's Cathedral — becoming the first prelate of Eastern Orthodoxy to do so at a Roman Catholic church.

The archbishop, who previously led a prayer at the cathedral, called for Christian unity as a "sacred duty" in his sermon marking the opening here of the worldwide Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

"I am afraid that while we talk of Christian unity," he said, "we add another inch to the walls of partition for the simple reason that we do not like to part with what we call our own traditions and and disciplines."

Bitter Convention

ROME (AP) — Flaminio Piccoli was elected secretary-general of the ruling Christian Democratic party yesterday after a bitter convention dispute that threatened to split the party, Italy's largest.

Piccoli, 53, is considered a close ally of Premier Mariano Rumor, who resigned as party secretary-general Friday. Former Premier Aldo Moro tried to block Piccoli's election, accusing Rumor of trying to perpetuate "a hierarchy of power." Rumor's allies said Moro was bitter because he could not regain control of the party.

In the election held by the party's national council, Piccoli received 85 of 177 votes, and 87 were blank. The other five were listed as "for others," and it was not known how many of these went to Moro. At the start of the three-day meeting, it had been predicted Piccoli would get 75 per cent of the vote and Moro 25 per cent.

Telegraphers Out

LONDON (AP) — More than 3,500 overseas telegraphers struck for more pay today, disrupting cable and telex communications to and from Britain.

Government officials said the strike could have a serious effect on the stock exchange and money markets, trading companies, banks and newspapers.

Tom Jackson, general secretary of the Union of Post Office Workers, told newsmen: "This union was formed in 1871 and it is our first strike. It is pretty important to us. We are going ahead reluctantly, but determined."

The telegraphers are employed by the General Post Office, a government department. It has offered pay increases of 7 per cent, retroactive to last July, in return for measures the union claims would cut out more than 350 jobs. The union also says the raises should be 9 of 10 per cent.

Skilled telegraphers in London now earn a mimimum of $3,144 a year, but allowances and overtime can push their income much higher.

Abandon Ship

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The 493-ton Finnish freighter Bore IX was abandoned by her 13 crewmen last night after she listed and began to sink in a heavy snowstorm. Seven men were rescued, one was found dead on a life raft and five are missing.

"There is no longer any hope of finding any survivors," a spokesman of the Stockholm Coastal Radio said today. He reported the Bore IX was sinking in the Stockholm Archipelago, northeast of the Alma ground lighthouse.

Paper Suspended

SAIGON (AP) —Quyet Tien (Determined to Progress), one of Saigon's largest Vietnamese-language newspapers, was suspended today for an indefinite period, government sources said.

The newspaper, which has a circulation of 10,000 to 15,000, was suspended because a gossip column slandered Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, and Premier Tran Van Hong, the sources said.

Sea Water Funds?

JERUSALE M(AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol says President Johnson has asked the U.S. Congress to approve a multimillion-dollar aid plan for an Israeli plant to make sea water drinkable.

The proposal calls for a $40 million grant and an $18 million long-term loan. It would allow the Israelis to decide whether to use nuclear or conventional power.

Eshkol said yesterday Johnson told him of the recommendation in a reply to a farewell message sent by Eshkol to the outgoing President.

Housing Protests

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Tempers inflamed by a critical housing shortage are expected to make demonstrations a regular feature of Dublin weekends, with militants in two universities and Roman Catholic leftwingers joining in.

More than 1,000 demonstrators were evicted by club-wielding police when they staged a sit-down Saturday night in the heart of Dublin. Scores were injured, and organizers claimed young girls were manhandled and beaten.

Ireland's largest union, the Transport and General Workers Union, said it would call for protest demonstrations against the police later this week.

Saturday's demonstration was sparked by the hailing of a leader of the Dublin Housing Action Committee, a group pressing claims for the city's 10,000 families without adequate homes. The jailed man, Denis Dennehy, is on a hunger strike after being imprisoned for occupying a vacant house with his wife and young children.

Enters Hospital

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Frank Sinatra's father will undergo tests in Methodist Hospital for a possible abnormal swelling of a blood vessel in his abdomen.

Anthony Sinatra, 74, of Fort Lee, N.J., entered the hospital yesterday accompanied by his wife, Natalie, and singer-actor son, Frank. A spokesman said the elder Sinatra will be given tests during the next few days and was "resting comfortably."

Thomas Honored

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Entertainer Danny Thomas was honored last night for showing "The great spirit of loyalty, courage and benevolence that is a tradition of the people of Lebanon." He received the Order of Adonis medal from the Sons of the Desert Shrine Club. Thomas is of Lebanese descent.

Like The Cold

CHICAGO (AP — The baboons have been left out in the cold at Brookfield Zoo this year and they seem to be thriving on it.

Zoo Director Peter Crowcroft reports they may get a bit cold sitting in the snow but their coats are thick and gleaming and they are healthier than in past years, when they wintered indoors.

Infrared heaters have been installed under some cave ledges to keep them from getting too cold.

Negro Leader Says Ray Not King Killer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference's nonviolent education and direct action wing says James Earl Ray is innocent of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. But he isn't saying what evidence he has.

At a news conference yesterday, Rev. James Bevel said, "I won't discuss the specific evidence now because it wouldn't be beneficial to James Earl Ray. But he's not guilty."

RAY TELEGRAM

Bevel, 32, a former liaison officer between SCLC and militant Negro groups, sent a telegram to Ray Saturday which read:

"I would like to inform you that I would be very happy to take your case without fee. I was present on April 4 at the Lorraine Motel when Dr. King died—you have been accused of murdering him. Of course, I know you are not guilty."

NABBED IN LONDON

King, who headed the SCLC, was shot to death in Memphis, Tenn., last April 4. Ray was arrested in London following an intensive manhunt and extradited to Memphis where he faces trial beginning March 3.

Bevel said he didn't step up with his alleged information sooner because "I hadn't been responsive to him.

"But then I thought, 'Here's a man sitting here that shouldn't be here.'"

Bevel said he would continue to be "very good and warm" toward Ray even if Ray decides not to accept his services.

Bevel is not a bar member, but a laywer "by circumstances." A native of Itta Bena, Miss., he has represented himself several times in civil rights cases in Mississippi.

There has been no comment from either public defender Hugh Stanton in Memphis or Ray's attorney, Percy Foreman of Houston, to Bevel's telegram.

Ray has been housed in a heavily guarded cell in Shelby County jail at Memphis since his extradition.

He originally was scheduled to go on trial in November but Judge W. Preston Battle ordered a delay after Ray fired his lawyer, Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, Ala.

And last week, when Foreman was taken ill, Battle ordered Stanton to begin preparing a defense for Ray in case Foreman could not be ready for the March trial.

One Person Is Slain In Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gunmen shot and killed one man and critically injured another during separate holdups in downtown San Francisco.

James McClellan, 50, died of a bullet wound in the chest after being accosted on the street yesterday by a man who took his wallet containing $20, police said.

On another corner, Francis E. Rhodes, 19, of Alameda was shot through the chest Sunday after he was approached by a man who said: "Give me a quarter."

The shooting occurred after Rhodes said he was carrying only three cents.

Marines Flush Out, Kill 23 Reds In Tunnel Fight

SAIGON (UPI) — Half naked Marines carrying .45-caliber pistols in one hand and flashlights in the other killed 23 Viet Cong and captured 136 more in a battle 30 feet underground, military spokesmen said today.

The fighting raged during the weekend in the guerrilla tunnel network uncovered by some of the 3,000 Marines and 2,000 South Vietnamese troops sweeping the two-mile-square Batangan Peninsula 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

The drive into the peninsula, long a guerrilla stronghold, marked the largest Marine amphibious operation since the Korean War.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, Communist forces greeted the Nixon administration today with assaults against two U.S. bases near Saigon and a raid into the Central highlands city of Ban Me Thuot. The attacks in the hours before Richard M. Nixon's inauguration killed six GIs and wounded 17 more. U.S. artillery blasted the guerrillas back into the jungles.

12th Sirhan Juror Due

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's defense indicates it may accept as jurors the 11 persons unexpectedly seated by the prosecution in the young Jordanian's trial on a charge of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The five women and six men were provisionally seated Friday at the close of the trial's first week after the prosecution said it would accept the jury "as now constituted."

Should the defense also waive its peremptory challenges when the trial resumes tomorrow, the 11 tentative jurors would be permanently seated.

In this event the only argument remaining would center on the 12th juror and the six alternates who must be chosen before testimony begins. It had been expected to take two more weeks to seat a jury.

Militant Action Hit By Students

STANFORD (AP) — More than 1,000 Stanford University students have signed petitions stating "the type of violence displayed by Students for a Democratic Society has no place in an academic environment," a spokesman for the university said yesterday.

The petition drive was launched by John Munger, senior political science major from Tucson, Ariz., after a meeting of Stanford trustees was disrupted last Tuesday.

"The response has really been enthusiastic," Munger said. "We didn't have enough petitions."

Moscow Proposes Weapons Session

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today reaffirmed its willingness to begin a "serious exchange of opinions" with the United States on the reduction of nuclear missile systems for both attack and defense.

The timing of the statement, coincident with the inauguration of President Nixon, emphasized the new Soviet effort to get missile talks started with the United States.

The Soviet government is ready to discuss the "mutual restriction and subsequent reduction of strategic means of delivery of nuclear weapons, including defensive systems," the statement said.

The Soviet government believes it is possible, "though not an easy thing," to settle "concrete questions of curbing the arms race," said a statement read to a news conference by Leonid I. Zamyatin, head of the Foreign Ministry press department.

The statement also called for the "earliest entry into force" of the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons and "its faithful and consistent implentation." The U.S. Senate balked at ratifying the treaty after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Zamyatin repeated the main points made in a Soviet memorandum last July calling for a ban on underground nuclear tests, abolition of foreign military bases, prohibition of flights of nuclear-armed bombers beyond national borders, a halt in the manufacture of nuclear weapons and other measures.

At the same time, however, the statement said Communist countries "must see to the further strengthening of security" because of what it called the aggressive policy of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

OMEGA OPENS AT GRANADA SCHOOL

Two students play chess in one of three commons areas in Omega, the last and largest of the Granada School classroom clusters completed earlier this month. The cluster, which holds 120 students ages 9-12, has six teaching stations and three commons areas, a modification of the original cluster design of four teaching stations and one common area. The building completes the Granada School complex which has been cited throughout the country since it first opened in 1964 as an outstanding example of ungraded school architecture. Muir Beach Water Supply Due Study

How to improve the poor quality of Muir Beach's water supply will be discussed by Muir Beach Community Services District directors Wednesday at the Marin County Civic Center.

Richard C. Bain, chairman of the district board, said the meeting is set for 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chamber on the third floor.

The district has its own well and supplies water to the community of 200 persons, but the water is hard and has a high iron content, Bain explained.

He said there are two possible solutions:

1. Provide water from an existing well about a mile up Frank's Valley by piping it down to Muir Beach.

2. Annex to the Marin Municipal Water District. This would entail a cost of about $238,000 to bring water over the ridge to Muir Beach.

Under the state's Davis-Grunsky act, Bain said the district could get a loan for the $238,000 at a low 2.5 per cent interest over a long period of about 50 years. Such a loan must be approved by a vote of the community.

Representatives from the state, the Marin Municipal Water District, Seascape subdivision, and residents of Muir Beach have been invited to the meeting.

Quail have been known to tunnel in snow to escape hunters.

Novato Volunteer Heads Sheriff's Marine Patrol

Al Miller of Novato, active in the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol for nine years, was installed Friday night as patrol captain at an annual dinner meeting and installation service at the Loch Lomond Yacht Club in San Rafael.

New patrol lieutenant is Norman A. Tomlin of Fairfax. William N. Berg of San Rafael is yeoman; William J. Treber of Novato is purser; and Joseph M. Thomas, also of Novato, is master-at-arms.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos was installing officer. Retiring Captain Muggenthaler told the near 85 persons attending that about 4,000 man hours were contributed the past year by the 35-member organization. He said 68 rescues were effected.

The patrol is a voluntary search and rescue group.

Goldenaires Set Installation Rite

Mrs. Mary England will be installed as president of the San Rafael Goldenaires at 11 a.m. Jan. 29 at the San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets.

Mrs. England, who has been first vice president, has been appointed president because Carl Rosenquist was unable to carry out the job on account of a recent injury. Mrs. Hazel Martin will become first vice president.

Adults over 50 years of age are invited to attend the meeting.

Teachers Set Walkout At Sonoma State

The Sonoma State College American Federation of Teachers local will join a one-day work stoppage if threats to fire striking San Jose State College faculty members is carried out.

Dr. Bernice Goldmark, president of AFT Local No. 1764, said none of the professors have officially been fired, but said a strike would come within 24 hours of the first termination.

This is finals week at Sonoma State College, so the strike will not effect classes. Dr. Goldmark said most professors will administer the exams, but will not conduct routine office hours or attend committee meetings. She noted the faculty will also stage a demonstration on the strike day called by the statewide AFT.

The union has received strike sanction from the Sonoma County Labor Council and has won support from the associated students and the state academic senate.

Auditions Seek Young Soloist

Preliminary auditions to select a young soloist to appear with the San Francisco Symphony in its annual Marin County Youth Concert will be held from 3:30 to 6 p.m. March 7 at San Domenico School.

The winner or winners of the audition will try out with other Bay Area winners before the conductor of the youth concerts, according to Hugo Rinaldi, who is conducting the local audition.

The youth concert will be on June 5 in the College of Marin gymnasium, he said.

High Court Limits Open Housing Repeals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court limited today the power of cities to repeal open housing laws.

In an 8-1 decision the court found Akron, Ohio, had put an unconstitutional "special burden" on its Negro residents by requiring bans on housing discrimination to have the approval of the majority of the voters in the city.

Justice Hugo L. Black, the only dissenter, protested strenuously that there was no foundation in the Constitution for this latest pronouncement on civil rights.

The test case was brought by Nellie Hunter, a Negro housewife, who had difficulty buying a house. She tried to rely on an open housing ordinance adopted by the city council that assured "equal opportunity" to decent housing facilities.

She was unsuccessful because the city charter had been amended to nullify the ordinance and to require that any future ones must be approved by the city electorate.

Justice Byron R. White, writing for the court, said the amendment "places special burdens on racial minorities within the government process." He added:

The court, before quitting early to attend the presidential inauguration of Richard M. Nixon, took these other actions:

Agreed to consider Capt. Dale E. Noyd's claim that the Air Force acted illegally in confining him while he was in the process of appealing his court-martial conviction to military courts. Noyd was confined on charges of refusing to train a student pilot for the Vietnam war.

Turned aside a challenge to the mobilization of Army reservists for Vietnam duty without a congressional declaration of war. A group of reservists from the Cleveland area, most of them already in Vietnam, had raised the challenge.

Refused to review lower court decisions which accorded victory to a mechanic who refused to pay a 25-cents-a-month union dues increase and wound up without a job. The mechanic, Vincent P. Brady of Wilmington, Del., won $10,617.80 in lost wages and the right to his old job back with Trans World Airlines.

Refused to prevent the establishment of a branch of Auburn University at Montgomery, Ala. An agency of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had contended opening of the branch would help segregated schooling.

gently forward" towards the goals of "full employment, better housing, excellence in education; in rebuilding our cities and improving our rural areas; in protecting our environment and enhancing the quality of life."

Retiring President Johnson laid down his burden of office with a smile that played about his face continually throughout the ceremony. When his Republican successor reached the platform, Johnson greeted him with a warm handshake and Texas-style backpatting embrace—which Nixon returned.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew took his oath of office shortly before Nixon was sworn in by his old California political rival, Chief Justice Earl Warren. It was in seeking the governorship of California in 1962 that Nixon suffered the defeat which nearly all politicians figured was fatal to his White House ambitions.

To Negroes, who voted overwhelmingly against him, Nixon pledged a continuation of the struggle for equal rights.

"No man can be fully free while his neighbor is not," he said. "To go forward at all is to go forward together. This means black and white together, as one nation, not two."

Nixon laid heavy stress on his administration's determination to work tirelessly for international peace, and to be "open" to new relationships with former adversaries.

"Let all nations know that during this administration our lines of communication will be open....We cannot expect to make everyone our friend, but we can try to make no one our enemy."

"To all who would be tempted by weakness, let us leave no doubt that we will be as strong as we need to be for as long as we need to be."

He challenged Communist bloc nations to "peaceful competition, not in conquering territory or extending dominion, but in enriching the life of man."

He also invited all nations to cooperate with America "to reduce the burden of arms, to strengthen the structure of peace, to lift up the poor and the hungry."

Nixon did not mention Vietnam by name. But he said:

"The peace we seek to win is not victory over any other people, but the peace that comes 'with healing in its wings' with compassion for those who have suffered; with understanding for those who have opposed us; with the opportunity for all the people of this Earth to choose their own destiny."

In his inaugural address, Nixon also said that America today finds itself "rich in goods, but ragged in spirit; reaching with magnificent precision for the moon, but falling into raucous discord here on earth."

"We are caught in war, wanting peace. We are torn by division, wanting unity. We see around us empty lives, wanting fulfillment. We see tasks that need doing, waiting for hands to do them."

To this "crisis of the spirit," Nixon said the only answer is a return to the basics of friendly hunan discourse.

He appealed particularly for a cessation of "angry rhetoric that fans discontents into hatreds."

"We cannot learn from one another until we stop shouting at one another—until we speak quietly enough so that our words can be heard as well as our voices."

He promised that his administration will listen to the voices of all the people, including "the voices of quiet anguish...that speak without words; the injured voices, the anxious voices, the voices that have despaired of being heard."

"Those who have been left out, we will try to bring in," he pledged, "Those left behind, we will help to catch up."

Nixon concluded the address with the Lincolnesque call to the nation to "go forward, firm in our faith, steadfast in our purpose, cautious of the dangers; but sustained by our confidence in the will of God and the promise of man."

Nixon, Agnew and their families went to the White House for "coffee and conversation" with the Johnsons about an hour before the start of the inaugural ceremony at the Capitol.

Johnson and Nixon rode to the Capitol together — a traditional act symbolizing the peaceful transfer of power which Americans have come to take for granted, but which is still regarded in some nations as a politica miracle.

Nixon wore formal daytime attire — club coat, striped trousers and homburg. Johnson, who insisted on wearing a plain business suit to his own 1965 inaugural, bowed to Nixon's preferences and dressed formally today.

IN MEMORIAM

NETTRO, ARTHUR "JIM"— In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, ARTHUR "JIM" NETTRO, who passed away January 20, 1963.

We often sit in silence
No eyes may see us weep;
But forever in our aching hearts,
His memory we will keep.

The call was short, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear;
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts he liveth still.

'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again,
Where parting is no more;
And that the one we truly loved
Has only gone before.

The flowers we lay upon his grave,
May wither and decay;
But love for him who sleeps beneath,
Will never fade away.

Five Marinites Taken For Draft

Five Marin men were inducted into the Army in January by the Marin Selective Service Board, according to Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary.

They were James Alan Alvarado and James Chalmers Ropp of San Rafael, Timothy Michael Green, Lonnie William Raab and Gerald James Stepler, all of Novato, and Robert Harvey Johnson of Mill Valley.

The county draft call quota for January was 23, but the quota is seldom filled, Mrs. Kinzer said. Thirty-four men from Marin County have been ordered for induction in February.

KEY IS FLEXIBILITY

What Is An Ideal Teen-Age Center?

By JOANNE GRANT

A place where the pressure is off — where competition and challenge have been removed and young people can relax and do their thing is the ideal youth center.

That is the philosophy Kevin Crawley of the successful Santa Clara Youth Village sketched Saturday in an all-day conference at San Rafael High School on establishing a youth center.

Crawley described in detail the flexible Santa Clara facility where teen-agers can go to dance, play pool, participate in group encounter sessions under trained staff, do a dozen other things or just sit.

His report and others by Ronald Koller of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department and William Burgess of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau serves as a starting point for the day's discussion sponsored by Interact, a San Rafael High School service club sponsored by Rotary.

Talk focused on what kind of a center is needed, where it should be, who it should serve, whether it should be operated as a public or private agency, funding, staff and how to get community support.

"A wholesome place to go," was the consensus of one study group as to the type of place, while another called for "a center of choices." The ideas were as numerous as the group.

A major concern of a few of the 60 adults and teens was the group itself.

"You guys are set pretty well," said Carl J. Jensen, a student at College of Marin who works with several recreation departments in the county. He described most of the short-haired, conservatively-dressed youths as "headed for Rotary" and "the Establishment."

He expressed concern that the group did not include young people who might really need a youth center and that the planning discussions weren't including their needs. He cited teen drug users — "more than you think" — as not included.

Gary Kasprzak, a student at Redwood High School, expressed dismay that there were no black students or long-haired youths. He urged these be included in future meetings, although Rick Haenggi, president of Interact, assured him they had been invited to the Saturday meeting.

Another concern was with duplication of effort, as several participants noted other youth center studies already underway.

"There are about four or five groups trying to get something going," Jensen commented. "It seems like you are trying to compete with them."

Lothar Salin, a member of the county parks and recreation commission, suggested extending Youth Power, a teen organization which has started a coffee house in Terra Linda, to more of the county. "It would avoid some duplication," he said.

At the end of more than six hours of discussion, the group agreed on one point — more study and meetings are needed.

But a substantial segment also wanted to get something started so the next meeting wouldn't just repeat the first one.

Twenty-six of the persons attending volunteered to investigate places, staff and funding for a youth center and then set up another meeting.

Dr. Alan Ellsberg, principal of San Rafael High School, and Jensen were named chairmen of the steering committee.

Mrs. Vreeland March will be installed as president of the Marin Senior Association at 10 a.m. Friday at the San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets.

Reed Trustees Face Giant Budget Trims

The Reed Union School District board in a special workshop Saturday began its struggle to reduce a $2,347,467 tentative 1969-70 budget to fit an estimated district income of $1,876,285.

The five-hour session at Bel Aire School was attended by about 85 persons and dealt mainly with two of 10 categories in a proposed budget: administration salaries and teachers' salaries.

The budget, prepared by Supt. H. Joe Edgington, his staff, and school principals at the request of the board, is a possible solution for slimming down expenditures by $471,182, the difference.

The remainder of the categories will be discussed at the regular board meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, also at the school.

These include salaries for certificated employees other than instructors, a psychologist, a counselor, and a director of research grants; classified salaries besides the administrative office employees; health services; transportation; district operation; maintenance; fixed costs including employee health and welfare benefits; and capital outlay.

Edgington's total income figure, the $1,876,285, compares to the $1,925,065 which is to be spent this year, a difference of $64,531.

The tentative 1969-70 budget of $2,347,467 included a 6 per cent cost of living pay raise for teachers, plus a $440 across-the-board increase to make up last year's requested increase. Too, the administrative staff has asked for at least an 8 per cent salary increase, as have non-teaching employees.

Edgington on Jan. 7 said one possibility was a tax rate increase election possibly to be held April 15, to raise the district tax rate by $1 per $100 valuation. The current general tax rate maximum is $2.25, excepting overrides, and $3.535 total with overrides.

Board president K. L. Rice Jr., however, opened yesterday's workshop with the statement that the district must "reconcile our expenditures to the income we have." He declared the meeting would result in no decisions about the new budget, and that the $1 tax rate hike will not be accepted for active consideration until the board has "adequately" explored other resources in having a balanced budget.

He said district taxpayers apparently are getting the feeling that the board is going to seek the hike. The board, however, doesn't yet feel this is a necessary solution, added Rice.

Edgington's balanced budget proposes a total expenditure of $79,565 for administrative salaries for the post of superintendent, assistant superintendent, and five administration clerical employees. It calls for a total increase of $1,689 over the current year, a new total of $27,027. The superintendent also receives $10,337 in another category for supervising activities, and the balanced budget proposes that this be increased to $11,026, a raise of $689.

Teaching salaries would be reduced by $46,453 to a total of $952,450. The figure calls for a reduction of the teaching staff by 10 employees and would grant two-thirds of the salary hike request.

Rice said further study should be made of whether the district should obtain data processing next year, whether the post of half-time director of research should be eliminated, and what conferences should be attended at district expense by administration and teachers.

The board noted that a new school to be built, Reedland Woods School, will likely open in September of 1970, rather than as scheduled next January. Because of this delay, the board agreed that $47,719 previously alloted for operation costs of the school until September, 1970 and for capital outlay can be instead applied to district income for next year.

The capital outlay could then be alloted in the 1970-71 budget, it was pointed out.

Drake Students Win Elections; Two Runoffs Due

Levy beat Donald Glew and Les Thoelecke. Michael Herndon, a junior, defeated Jim Lindauer for vice president. Patti Daly, secretary, and Betsi Herrmann, treasurer, were unopposed.

Senior class winners were: Lenny Marconi, president; Mary Caiati, secretary, and Corinne Sartorio, treasurer. A runoff election for vice president will be held on Wednesday between Sandy Re and Al Tyler.

Junior class winners were: Debbie Olson, president; Julie Mensing, secretary, and Pam Murray, treasurer. A runoff election will also be held for the office of vice president between Darcy Corman and Connie DeMoss.

Sophomore class winners were: Mark Shepherd, president; Larry Jones, vice president; Kris Moffatt, secretary, and a runoff will be held between Leslie Keating and Bill Schultz for treasurer, also on Wednesday.

Vote count was withheld by school authorities.

Park Land To Be Reviewed

Whether or not to accept the offer of the North Marin County Water District for use of a half-acre which it owns on the hill at Vallejo Avenue and Seventh Street for a park will be considered by the Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The water district board last Tuesday offered the site with a 10-foot easement up to it to the city for use as a park. The water district had a tank on the site for many years, but removed the tank to another site, leaving a large flat spot on the side hill which commands a view of downtown Novato. This was the site offered to the city.

The commission will also continue its review of the park master plan.

Jewelry Taken From Allen Home

A diamond ring worth $1,000 was listed among items taken in a daylight burglary Thursday at the James S. Allan home, 298 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, police reported.

Also missing was a gold coin bracelet valued at $400, a .357 magnum revolver, a stereo, a take deck and a synthetic ruby ring, police said.

Entrance was made through a louvered window, police reported.

Young Churchill Planning A Fight

CHICHESTER, England (AP) — In politics the Churchills "never give up," Winston Spencer Churchill said today.

The 28-year-old grandson of Britain's World War II leader said his failure to win the endorsement of the Chichester Conservative Association for the district's seat in the House of Commons would not deter him from a political career.

The local Conservatives nominated Christopher Chataway, a former athlete who served one term in Commons, as their nominee in the next national election. Chichester is a Tory stronghold and the incumbent, Walter Loveys, has announced he won't run again because of ill health.

Fatal Ski Bus Held Unsafe

WOODLAND (AP) — The California Highway Patrol says a chartered bus involved in a West Sacramento crash which killed one person Jan 11 was "an unsafe vehicle."

Highway Patrol officials in Yolo County met with the district attorney Friday after five days of investigation of the wrecked bus. Officers cited the bus's "worn tires and deteriorated air bellows."

William Stone, 16, of Orinda, was killed in the crash and 29 persons were injured. The Diablo Charter Lines bus was taking Contra Costa County ski club members to Squaw Valley.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Be Sure Of Discards Before Drawing Trumps At Two Level

Almost all experts in the United States use the weak opening two-bid. An opening bid of two spades, two hearts or two diamonds shows a strong six-card suit in a hand that is not quite worth an ordinary bid of one. (The opening bid of two clubs, reserved for all very powerful hands, will be our subject next week.)

OPENING BID

South's opening bid of two hearts is a typical example of the weak two-bid. If South passed, West would open with one club and would rebid in spades. East and West would bid at least two or three spades, perhaps even four.

West would make 10 tricks at spades, setting up the diamonds to get rid of his two low clubs. South is far better off playing the hand at two hearts, which may well be the case if both East and West are conservative customers. What's more, South can even make his part score by careful play.

SPADE OPENING

West opens the king of spades, and East signals encouragement by playing the nine. West continues spades, and South ruffs the third round. Now South must immediately lead a club, postponing the trumps until a more convenient time.

West plays a low club, and South tries a finesse with dummy's ten. Luck is with declarer, for East must use the king to win the trick. East shifts to a diamond, but it is too late.

DIAMOND WIN

South wins with the king of diamonds and leads his other club. West steps up with the ace of clubs and leads another diamond to dummy's ace. Declarer is now in position to lead the queen of clubs to get rid of his last diamond.

At last the time has come to lead trumps. Declarer leads the ten of hearts from dummy. East wins with the ace of hearts and leads another diamond, but South ruffs with the king of hearts and draws trumps with the queen and jack.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two hearts (a weak two-bid), and the next player passes. You hold:

♠—Q 9 7 2
♥—A 5
♦—Q 10 9 8
♣K 9 6.

What do you say?

Answer; Pass.

Partner has less than an ordinary opening bid, and so do you. If you both had opening bids, you would have a game. Since you both have less, the chances are that you can make only eight or nine tricks.

Police Raid Apartment, Nab Guns

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police discovered a cache of weapons plus Black Panther Party propaganda supplies early today when they raided an eighth-floor apartment reportedly being used as a base for sniper fire.

No injuries were reported from the rifle fire or the well coordinated police assault on the suspected apartment located about five blocks from city hall.

Two men and three juvenile girls were arrested at the apartment. The men were identified as Cleveland Brooks and Charles Henderson.

Officers said the girls admitted there had been rifle fire from the apartment, but they said the men were only shooting into the air "for kicks."

In addition to numerous rifles and several hundred rounds of ammunition, police said they found movie projectors and public address equipment belonging to San Francisco State College.

Police said the Black Panther Party materials included propaganda papers, membership application forms and a feature movie on the Panthers.

Blaze Destroys House Believed A Century Old

An unoccupied house, reported to be more than 100 years old, was destroyed by fire early yesterday on Shoreline Highway, two miles north of Tomales.

The two-story, eight-room, wooden house, formerly was the home of the Guldager family, pioneers in the Tomales area, reported Louis Bloom, county fire chief. Owned by the Guldager estate, it had been vacant for more than a year, the chief reported.

Marin County firemen got the call from a passerby at 12:20 a.m. and when the first truck arrived, the building was more than half destroyed, Chief Bloom said.

The cause of the fire is under investigation, and no estimate has been made yet of the loss, the chief said.

Four Hurt In Almonte Crash

Four persons were injured and one hospitalized yesterday after a pickup truck sideswiped two oncoming cars in Almonte, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Albert M. Decker, 49, of San Francisco, was reported in fair condition today at French Hospital, San Francisco, with four broken ribs and face cuts. His wife, Barbara J. Decker, 48, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes.

Another driver, Jack M. Lee, 27, of Hayward, was treated at Marin General Hospital for back strain and his passenger, Jeannie P. Hom, 21, of San Francisco, was treated there for a bruised scalp.

The highway patrol said the accident occurred at 3 p.m. on Almonte Boulevard when a truck driven by Sandra L. Tupper, 16, of 133 Locust Avenue, Mill Valley, crossed the center line and hit the Decker and Lee cars. She was cited for driving across the center line.

San Anselman Jailed In Theft Suspicion

A 33-year-old San Anselmo man was booked into County Jail early yesterday on suspicion of burglary after he attracted the attention to an off-duty patrolman while allegedly breaking into a coin laundry.

The suspect, Harry C. Hostetter, 33, of 1175 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, also was booked on suspicion of burglary tools and of possession of narcotics paraphernalia. He was held in lieu of $2,500 bail, and was to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. today.

Kosta, had just returned at 5:30 a.m. to his apartment at 100 Bayo Vista Way, San Rafael, when he heard Hostetter clanging around in an adjacent laundry room. Streets Review Set In Petaluma

The Petaluma City Council will review plans for the widening of Magnolia Avenue and the extension of Liberty Street at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today.

At the Oct. 7 council meeting, area property owners lodged complaints and caused council to turn down the plans and request more studies be made. The plan, as presented by City Engineer David Young, includes the widening of Magnolia Avenue to 70 feet from Petaluma Boulevard north of Keokuk Avenue and the extension of Liberty Street from West Street to Magnolia.

At the Jan. 6 meeting, the council denied the rezoning of four acres of Cherry Street at Magnolia because plans to construct apartment houses would interfere with extension of Liberty Street.

The study has been requested by UBAC, Shetterly said, to determine what services it should support in view of changing times and new needs.

The large amounts of governmental funds now available for human needs and the continuous emergence of new voluntary charitable organizations seeking community support are two factors that caused UBAC to seek the evaluation, he said.

What Kind Of President? Nixon's Words Tell Us

Richard Milhous Nixon today took the oath of office as President of the United States. In doing so, he acquired personal power matched by few other men in the world.

Political pundits and "just plain folks" have done a lot of speculating the past few months on what kind of President he will be.

Perhaps no man who enters the White House becomes just the sort of President he has planned to be. Probably none becomes just the sort of President he has promised to be. Some abandon completely campaign promises that were important in winning election.

RICHARD NIXON'S campaign statements, however, were for the most part consistent with his previous record as congressman, senator, and vice president. Thus, they may give a clearer picture of how he hopes to perform as President than do most of the cerebrations of the pundits.

Here, in his own words, are Nixon's stands on various issues as given during the campaign:

FOREIGN POLICY: "I think we need a foreign policy where other nations in the free world bear their share of the defense of freedom." "The United States is a Pacific power. Both our interests and our ideals propel us westward across the Pacific."

VIETNAM: "I would consider it to be a dishonorable settlement for the United States, under any kind of subterfuge, to pull out." "I oppose a coalition government."

ARMS RACE: "I would restore the strength of the United States" in nuclear weapons. "The Sentinel antiballistic missile system represents a major step."

RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA AND RED CHINA: "We must and shall negotiate. But where the Soviet Union is concerned, talking peace and acting weak does not promote peace." "Trade with China, recognition of China, admitting it to the UN should come only when the Chinese Communists indicate by deeds that they want to be a part of the civilized family of nations."

FOREIGN AID: "Let us help our friends who help themselves, but let us not help any who help our enemies."

DOMESTIC UNREST: "I will expect federal departments concerned with social problems all to be actively dedicated to the stimulation of new voluntary efforts." "What should the role of government in Washington be? To return to the states and cities the resources to do the job themselves."

CRIME: "We will reduce crime and violence when we enforce the laws." "The tragic lesson of guilty men walking free from hundreds of courtrooms across this country has not been lost on the criminal community."

SOCIAL SECURITY: "We must provide immediately for cost of living adjustments in Social Security and railroad retirement benefits."

These statements offer, at best, only a very general outline of what Nixon plans as President. A careful man, he probably avoided specific commitments in realization that they might rise to haunt him.

It has been said that "the President proposes, but Congress disposes." The Congress is controlled by Democrats. What kind of President the man from Whittier in Los Angeles County becomes may depend largely on how well he is able to work with a Democratic Congress. And that process is bound to work some changes in the nature of his presidency.

Thoughts On A Rainy Night

We sometimes feel a bit depressed when the rain pours and the winds blow with gale force and the temperature approaches freezing. Here we are stuck out in the Marin woods, while on the radio a brassy-voiced singer is belting out a tune about forgetting all your worries and cares downtown, where lights are all brighter and everyone's happy.

But our depression lasts only as long as it takes to scrape the mud from our shoes and shake off our raincoat. For forgetting worries and cares, there is nothing like snuggling into a warm chair with a good book, magazine or newspaper or watching television while the rain pounds on the roof.

The lights may be brighter, but we know everyone isn't happy out there. We've been there once or twice.

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The public's right to determine the future of education in local districts and its impact on the pocketbook may be reassured if a proposal by state Sen. John G. Schmitz, R. Tustin, gains passage in the 1969 legislative session.

His bill would repeal a part of AB-272, passed in 1967 by the Assembly as a part of an education package sought by then-Speaker Jesse Unruh, which allows all school districts to increase their tax rates without limit, beginning July 1, 1971, without going to the people for approval.

Efforts to repeal the measure in 1968 fell by the wayside.

IN AN ATTEMPT to get an early start in the 1969 Legislature, Schmitz introduced the bill, SB 35, and a resolution on the opening day and called his proposal "among the most important items in my 1969 legislative program."

Schmitz has obtained the signatures of 23 other senators, including seven Democrats, as co-authors. Thus a majority of the Senate is on record in favor of the repeal measure.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is reported to be in support of Schmitz's measure.

AS SOME legislative reviewers like to put it, to grant school officials the right to raise taxes as much as they wish, without the restraint of voter approval, is like turning a child loose in a candy store.

Nearly every educator believes that all elements of education should be expanded continually, without regard to the cost to the public. Many of them object to the need to go to the public for approval of any of their programs.

As Schmitz pointed out: "The cost of public schools is by far the largest single burden imposed by government on the local taxpayer, who is now able to exercise some control over their rising costs by limiting school taxation.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Of Teacher Strike And Old Profession

Recently, a reader referred to the present tactics of the AFT as "street fighting," while at about the same time, Mr. (Gary) Hawkins (AFT local president) was protesting, "We're professionals." (How they love that word!) Well, so are prostitutes, fella! The main difference between the two aforementioned groups of "professionals," at the moment, seems to be that one is honest, the other hypocritical. I leave it to the observer to decide which is which.

This is also a good time for the public to be told definitely whether, in fact, the striking teachers (you should pardon the expression) are going to be paid for the time they have been absent from the classroom. It might also not be a bad idea to inform the rank and file of other unions, who have been told to observe the picket lines (and who might thereby find their pay curtailed) that there have been many allegations from people at the state college camppus that the teachers (the "brains," y'know) have devised a pretty sneaky way of having their cake and eating it too. While ostensibly "on strike" (and with others out in sympathy with them,) they are allegedly having passes signed by Mr. Hawkins to enable them to go to classes and so avoid losing salary, and probably their jobs.

Is there anyone "out there" who can confirm or deny these allegations? If they are true, it is hard to understand how the San Francisco Labor Council with its responsibility to all union members could possibly sanction such a weird strike, where one union's members cross their own picket line, while asking members of other unions to honor it.

Senior Citizens Let Down Again

Senior citizens who placed their faith in President-elect Nixon, and his pledge of automatic Social Security increases to tie in with the rising cost of living, will be disappointed on reading tonight's (Jan. 14) I-J when they learn that Robert H. Finch advised our Persident-elect against this pledge!

The senior citizen in many cases pays state income taxes on his pension, also pays real estate taxes in order to live in his own home, rather than live in low-rent housing for the elderly which his taxes also help pay for!

Perhaps our very busy Assemblyman (William T.) Bagley can find time to represent the senior citizen, many of whom are in dire need of tax relief.

An alternative would be waiting for the senior citizen group (already organized statewide) to form tax relief committees to make a few demands of their own.

Consider the "dissidents" with the outstretched hand, their demands, all wanting part of the old man's pension. We can all hobble down to the polls though when it is time to vote again!

Arab Responsibility In Mid-East War

In answer to H. Cummings" letter of Jan. 7, I would like to state the following:

For hundreds of years the Arabs neglected the Holy Land which they conquered by force. The old Jewish land of "milk and honey" became a desolate desert, infested with malaria and hunger. In the last 60 years Jews returned to their old homeland and made the desert bloom again. The Arab land owners became rich, selling their arid land to the Jewish settlers for high prices. Hundred thousands of Arab workers from all over the Middle East migrated to Palestine to share the new prosperity. Arabs and Jews lived together in peace until the Moslem leaders enticed the Arab masses to a "holy war" against the Jews. This "holy war" was the beginning of the Middle East tragedy. Arabs and Jews became refugees when in 1948 the armies of five Arab states invaded Israel. While Israel absorbed and cared for the Jewish refugees from the Arab countries, the Arab nations failed to absorb the Arab refugees, but used them as political football.

If Arabs instead of negotiating with Israel continue this futile "holy war," then the children of the Middle East will end up like the children of Biafra.

Miwoks' Life Style Survived For Long

Until the (Josephine) Dawson letter appeared here Jan. 13, I missed your curious little editorial about the Coast Miwok Indians on Jan. 2. Late though this is, I hope it will relieve your concern over their lack of the "equivalent of money."

The Coast Miwok not only had money, they were the originators and central source of the medium of exchange for a great deal of Northern California, clamshell disk beads. As we use greenbacks as an equivalent of value, or trade medium, they used beads.

Much as you deplore the life style of the Coast Miwok, it must have been right for them. They lived in Marin for two to three thousand years until, as my book "The Wrath of Coyote" relates, the whites exterminated them. In view of what we've done in 150 years, what odds would you give on the "Effluent Society" lasting as long as the Miwok in Marin?

Think of the new customers you'll draw!" Quite unperturbed, the waitress answered, "Here in Waterbury, sir, we worry lots more about going tipless than topless!"

No Need To Wait For History To Evaluate Johnson's Successes

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is no need to wait for history's verdict on ths presidency of Lyndon B. Johnson.

During his five years in office Mr. Johnson has confronted more difficult crises than most of his predecessors and most of the time he has made the right decision at the right time for the right reasons.

A weaker, less determined President might have faltered. Lyndon Johnson faltered hardly at all and the result today is that in the cause of peace, in the cause of racial justice, in the case of ending poverty the nation has at most points been lifted up to a forward road.

THIS ISN'T JUST opinion without proof. And it is a judgment which we believe is shared by the next President. Richard Nixon is showing he intends to build on the innovative measures of the Johnson years and carry them forward, not undo them at any major point.

At the moment LBJ himself is tending to put a low-key estimate on his record "We tried," he is saying. The record is far better than that. Mr. Johnson not only "tried," he succeeded.

He has done more than any previous President to make better education available to more students from elementary schools to college.

He has done more than any previous President to make racial justice a reality in America and to enable black citizens to lay hold of their civil rights and voting rights.

The antipoverty program fumbled and faltered in some of its execution, but Lyndon Johnson is the first President to focus national attention on the problems of so much poverty in the midst of so much affluence and to galvanzie the nation's conscience into beginning to do something about it.

THE KENNEDY-JOHNSON years have been marked by a longer period of sustained prosperity and high economic growth than ever before. LBJ brought about a tax reduction when it was needed to stimulate the economy and, however tardily, persuaded Congress to increase taxes when it was critically needed to restrain the economy.

In all of these areas and in others Mr. Johnson succeeded in persuading Congress to enact the necessary legislation. It was a remarkable achievement, but not LBJ's alone. He was helped by two decades of advocacy and national debate which crystallized public support. Mr. Johnson inherited this public support and used it brilliantly.

In foreign policy the achievement to which history may pay the greatest attention is that the Johnson presidency avoided nuclear war and helped to negotiate the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

IT IS TOO SOON to attempt a verdict on the Vietnamese war because the wisdom of our defense of South Vietnam will be judged by the kind of peace which emerges from the Paris talks.

Mr. Johnson made these talks possible by stopping the bombing of North Vietnam and he did so not because of the pressures from his critics at home but because Hanoi finally accepted the conditions which he said would make ending the bombing possible.

And he gave up running for re-election at a time when there was every probability he would be renominated and when most political reporters thought his chances of re-election were better than even. He did so in the cause of peace.

TODAY LYNDON JOHNSON is leaving office under a cloud of animus and hostility primarily because of the Democratic liberals who didn't like his style and his southern accent and becaue of the anti-Vietnamese war critics who felt that the United States did not have enough at stake in Southeast Asia to defend a small country so far away.

But the two greatest presidential failures of the last 100 years — Ulysses S. Grant and Warren G. Harding — left office in the sunshine of popular praise.

History's verdict corrected these two misjudgments and will likely correct the other.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

U.S. Proposes To Build Radio Net For Saigon

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Latest multi-million dollar project for South Vietnam is the construction of a nationwide radio network.

It is to cost between $10 million and $20 million in foreign aid funds.

Unless this unannounced plan is junked by the incoming Nixon administration, the Agency for International Development proposes to build at least four powerful stations that would give all of South Vietnam modern radio coverage.

The network is to be completed within 18 months — provided a new large-scale Communist offensive doesn't wreck havoc. That's what happened last year when the Reds' surprise Tet assault destroyed or heavily damaged some stations of a network then being developed.

UNDER THE AID PLAN, the new network would have two channels — on military, one civilian. The former would be under U.S. control and solely for military purposes. The civilian channel would be run by the Saigon government, and not subject to the U.S. in any way.

AID authorities say the multi-million dollar radio project is favored by the State and Defense Departments.

This spring a powerful new Voice of America radio station will go into operation at Tinang in the Philippines. It is costing $27 million to build, will have 10 250,000-watt transmitters and will broadcast to all of Southeast Asia, Red China and reach deep into central and eastern Russia.

REPUBLICAN members of the potent House Education and Labor Committee are quietly but emphatically serving notice on President Nixon's advisers that they are to be fully consulted on the formulation of anti-poverty and welfare policies and legislation.

This demand is sharply laid down in a letter from Rep. William Ayres, O., ranking Republican on the committee, to Richard Nathan, of Brookings Institution, who is chairman of the task force on public welfare.

Inside word is that the Nathan panel has submitted a report recommending sweeping changes in the Johnson administration's anti-poverty and welfare programs. These findings have not been made public but are said to propose:

Dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity, which administers the anti-poverty program, and shifting of its various activities and projects to the Labor Department and Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Representative Carl Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, has introduced a bill to contribute OEO for another four years with an appropriation of $2.18 billion. For the current fiscal year, Congress voted only $1.79 billion.

Also proposed by Perkins are measures for scrutinizing and evaluating the anti-poverty and welfare programs.

This is ironic, as throughout last year the Democratic chairman persistently blocked and ignored Republican demands for studies and investigations of these operations. Representative Ayres repeatedly sought such inquiries.

You Want To Be On Welfare Better Hire A Good Photographer

Can you look at the picture of a welfare recipient and tell whether he deserves general relief aid, or whether he should be cut off and told to fend for himself?

If looks were the main criterion, there would be a drastic change in how you'd go about getting on relief. You Couldn't afford to go dragging into the welfare office with three kids in tow and hair looking like a wet mop to ask for help.

No, sir! You'd leave the kids with a baby sitter, go to the beauty parlor and manicurist, outfit yourself with the latest spring fashions, and take a taxi to the Civic Center so as not to muss up your coiffure. The clever ones might even take their own photographer along to make sure the photos don't look like a jail mug shot.

IT'S DOUBTFUL that the photo idea, a brainstorm of new County Supervisor Louis H. Baar, will ever be adopted. But we've gotta admit it would have enlivened the long sessions of the supervisors.

The conversation would go something like this.

"Now this one has short sideburns, is clean shaven and has an honest face. Give him $100 per week."

"Oo-lala! Look at her! The poor thing must have worn that same skirt since she was 10. Get her some clothes or she'll freeze."

"Now that's what I call a deserving man — crew cut, white shirt and tie, neatly pressed suit . . . But wait a minute. Wonder where he got the money to spruce himself up like that? Why, he looks better than I do. Let's hold up on him until we check out his laundry and cleaning bill."

THE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL Commissioner has other duties than chasing down bugs and insects. For example, just recently he brought a load of lettuce to a screaming halt at the gates of San Quentin. Agricultural Commissioner R. Allan Ballard and his men found, not contrabrand, but 19 crates of Romaine lettuce that were decaying.

But for the alert inspectors, the rotting lettuce would have gone into the prison menus. The whole shipment was dumped at Redwood Sanitary Dump in Novato.

MOST OF THE RED berries are gone from the pyracantha bushes at the Civic Center, which is good news in one respect. The fat and saucy robins that gorged themselves on the berries and messed up the parked cars will now have to go elsewhere.

THE SAUSALITO police station entrance to the inpectors' room on the second floor is pitch black at night. Any citizen who has occasion to visit the inspectors would have to be an experienced burglar type to make it safely in the dark. Wonder why they don't put up a bulb or two to light the way?

Tam Students Pick Officers

He defeated Steve Crain, 434 to 223.

In other offices, Vicki Goodman was elected secretary by a vote of 708 to 319 over Kathy Quigley; Chris White got 788 votes in an unopposed bid for re-election as treasurer; Mark Conlan was unopposed for rally commissioner, winning 726 votes, and Sue Clark and David Abrahams were unopposed for upper and lower class representative-at-large, respectively.

Gall Of Campus Dissidents –The Jews Have A Word For It

When first I heard the Yiddish word, chutzpa, I found it difficult to understand. Like the Spanish idiom, simpatico, which also has subtle and not readily translatable suggestions, I was left feeling that the English language is, alas, lacking in depth as it appeared incapable of rendering the full meanings and implications of many foreign idiomatic expressions.

My observation was not entirely accurate, of course, for there are many English words which, in turn, are not easily defined in other languages. But enough, let's go on.

CHUTZPA MEANS — and I'm groping for a satisfactory definition — a wringing out of every possible advantage in any given situation, a sort of overwhelming effrontery, gall to an appalling degree.

But, you see, I'm already on a snag, so I'll resort to a few examples:

A store holds a sale which limits two to a customer of a particular product and the entire family is brought in and each member buys two of the sale items. That's chutzpa.

A child murders his parents and then throws himself on the mercy of the court on the grounds he is an orphan. That's chutzpa.

NOW THE FRENCH have an expression, fin-de-siecle, which beyond its literal meaning (end of an era) also has certain connotations and shadings which escape true interpretation. Roughly, the phrase suggests a contempt for the traditional views of custom, morality and attitudes. Amplifying, it connotes the end of an established order that satisfies logic and restrains and fetters depravity and decadence.

An illustration: Two young ladies of good family chatting together. One says she's in love with Pierre and he with her. The other asks why then is she so sad? Pierre has no money is the reply, and my parents want me to marry Armand who is fat, bald but very rich. Well, says the friend, marry Armand and make Pierre your lover. Fin-de-siecle young ladies.

TODAY WE ARE experiencing conditions which exemplify these two widely separated words. Unfortunately, English has no words which properly vocalize the arrogance of behavior that chutzpa suggests nor the subtlety of the end of an era that fin-de-siecle implies. Yet our existing situations fairly cry out for such expressions and if we had them, we'd, no doubt, have a better perspective and a clearer focus of these matters.

Let's look at a few examples:

At several colleges and universities, students rebeling and using violence are demanding the right to control the administration, the curriculum and hiring and firing of faculty members. Chutzpa!

In the various poverty programs the idea is advanced that those who are the recipients of the largesse should have the control of the money to be spent because, ostensibly, they best know the needs of the poor. Chutzpa!

Among the many demands of black power militants there runs a recurring clamor that black people be reimbursed for the injustices and sufferings of their slave ancestors. Chutzpa!

And the very fact that, in many quarters, such nonsense is given forbearance, credence and serious consideration brings us to the French expression, fin-de-siecle!

Novato Trustees May Reassign Plan Contract

A contract with Kal Porter and Associates for designing the second half of the shop at San Marin High School will be considered by the Novato Unified School District board when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the administration building.

Rockwell and Banwell were the architects of the high school. Some members of the board of trustees were dissatisfied with it and at the Jan. 6 board meeting, asked Supt. James G. Bunker to contact Porter to see if he would complete the design on the shop. The district had just received approximately $166,800 in federal aid to districts impacted by military bases, for the project.

The board will receive a statement from Rockwell and Banwell for its architectural services, discuss completion of the playing field at San Jose Junior High School costing approximately $60,000 and discuss the summer school program.

257 More Persons Hijacked To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A young man clutching a Dominican Republic passport hurdled another passenger and ran "like a football player, dodging from tourist to first class" before grabbing a stewardess and forcing an Eastern Airlines jet to Cuba. It was one of two hijackings yesterday that took 257 persons to Havana.

The Eastern DC8 Jet—hijacked as it neared the end of its new York-to-Miami flight—and all but one of its 168 passengers flew on to Miami during the night.

An Ecuadorian prop-jet carrying 81 persons was seized by four men armed with submachine guns and remained in Cuba. There was no explanation why Cuban authorities, who cite safety in refusing to allow big jets to leave with passengers aboard, detained the smaller prop-jet.

These were the sixth and seventh commercial airliners hijacked to Cuba in 18 days.

Most passengers on the Eastern jet returned to Miami early today aboard two prop-jets sent to Varadero, Cuba, to get them. They told newsmen the young hijacker had given no indication that he planned to seize the plane before leaving his seat and grabbing stewardess Pamela Gates of Syracuse, N.Y.

Capt. R.D. Smith of Atlanta, Ga., said the hijacker held "what appeared to be a hand grenade. The thing had a little cap with a little handle down and he had the handle squeezed."

The Ecuadorian plane landed at Jose Marti Airport in Havana at 6:30 p.m.—12 minutes after Smith's jet landed at Miami. Aboard were a crew of six and 75 passengers, including four men reportedly carrying machine guns.

Bound to Miami from Guayaquil, Ecuador, the prop-jet lost radio contact with its base soon after takeoff. Communications were restored when pilot Dean Ricker, an American citizen, landed at Barranquilla, Colombia, to refuel.

Colombian President Carlos Lleras Restrepo refused to allow the plane to take on fuel, but Ricker told airport authorities by radio that one of the hijackers would kill him if fuel was not made available.

The Colombian Ministry of Defense then allowed the delivery.

DICK'S FORMER BOSS SAYS IT'S MR. PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon telephoned former President Dwight D. Eisenhower last night and said he was embarrassed when his former boss told him he won't be calling him Dick any more.

Nixon spent about 15 minutes on the telephone with the man he served as vice president.

"This is the last time I can call you Dick for a while," Eisenhower was quoted as saying to Nixon, sworn in as 37th president today.

"That is very, very embarrassing for me," Nixon replied. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reported that segment of the conversation but said the rest of their talk was private.

Tam Valley Accident Hurts Fairfax Man

California Highway Patrol officers said that Watson missed a turn in the road near Cabin Drive and his car went about 260 feet down a hill, hitting a power pole.

Four Die In Crashes Of Three Planes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Stormy weather was blamed in part for the crashes of three light airplanes over the weekend in which four persons died.

The plane carried two men identified as John D. Rutzebeck, 52, owner of a Hayward distributing firm, and Kenneth Brown, 43, of Bellevue, Wash. The pair was returning from Houston, Tex.

Witnesses said the plane came out of a cloud and plunged into the mountainside just north of Highway 96.

Chesterfield was on a flight from Fresno to Eugene, Ore. He had radioed that one of his engines had "iced up."

A retired Navy commander died in the third crash, also Saturday night. His plane went down while making a radar approach to Reno airport. The pilot was identified as Wayne J. Welty, 46.

Jet Is Tomb For 38 In Sea At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — On the bottom of the storm-tossed Pacific today lay the battered wreckage of a U.S. jetliner in which 38 persons died. A mile away rests the hull of a European jet in which 11 are entombed.

Aboard the United Air Lines Boeing 727 when it crashed Saturday night after take off for Denver, Colo., and Milwaukee, Wis., were a theology school president . . . a college coed . . . the parents of six Wisconsin youngsters . . . one of United's four "Flying Le Roys."

One body was recovered from the jet fuel-stained waters around the crash site. Searchers also found scraps of the fuselage and mail sacks in the waters cut by sharks' fins.

Heavy seas and rain hampered search operations yesterday.

"He was a wonderfully human man," said a friend of Dr. Lowell B. Swan, 58, president of Iliff School of Theology, a Methodist institution at Denver.

"If there is a good in this tragedy," said Dr. Harvey H. Pothoff, "it is that Dr. Swan—up to the last minute of his life—was doing the things he liked best."

The two had represented Iliff at a ministry recruitment conference at Claremont School of Theology near Los Angeles. Dr. Pothoff returned to Denver Friday.

Bonnie J. Cottle, 19, was returning to the University of Colorado after visiting her parents in Palos Verdes Estates near Los Angeles. Her father, Capt. J. Russell Cottle, is manager of United's flight operations at Los Angeles International Airport from which the plane took off.

In West Bend, Wis., six children ranging in age from 2 to 16 were told their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Shroeder Jr., apparently are dead.

Returning as a passenger to Denver to pilot his own flight was United Capt. Warren H. Le Roy who joined the airlines with his brother, Capt. Vernon Le Roy, on Feb. 7, 1944. Their cousins, First Officer J. E. and J. V. Le Roy of Chicago, were the rest of the quartet.

About a minute after the plane took off at 6:20 p.m., pilot Arnold Leverson radioed:

Radar showed the plane made a left-hand turn about 12 miles west of the coastal airport. Then radio contact with the plane was lost and its blip on radar screens disappeared.

MRS. RICHARD MILHOUS NIXON is facing a dream come true in her role as First Lady of the nation. When Pat Nixon moves into the White House, now that her husband has received the oath of office, she will be taking on one of the toughest jobs afforded a woman in this country. The campaign trail has been a long one and she will be asuming a multitude of responsibilities but her experiences from a humble beginning are expected to be of help. (AP Wirephoto)

Pat Eckhard Is Bride Of John Wieben

Patricia Merle Eckhard of Mill Valley and John Stewart Wieben of San Rafael exchanged nuptial vows Saturday evening in a ceremony at the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

Patricia's attendants were Janey Clark of San Francisco, maid of honor, and Becky Partridge of Corte Madera and Nancy Gorrill of Mill Valley, bridesmaids.

Grant Tanner of Corte Madera was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Col. John Douglas Wieben, army attache at the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv, Israel, and Mrs. Wieben.

Ushers were the bride's brother, Michael Eckhard of Mill Valley, and Roger Scullion of San Francisco.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. On their return from a wedding trip to Mendocino County the couple will live in San Rafael.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, the bride attended College of Marin and is employed with Rathbone, King and Seeley in San Francisco. John is also a graduate of Tamalpais High School, attended the University of Colorado and College of Marin and is now at the University of California at Irvine.

He has a brother, Eric Wieben, who is with his parents in Israel.

ROSS

Mayor's Wife Loves The West

By GRACE HENDERSON

This is the first of a series of articles and interviews of the wives of mayors in Marin County cities.

"Everything in the West is so big" said the lady who came from Schenectady, N.Y. to make her home in California. Mrs. Frederick S. Allen has came to appreciate the vastness of the western United States since her marriage April 17, 1937 and becoming a young housewife in San Francisco.

Barbara Allen compared the two areas of the country while seated in her comfortable house near the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, her home since 1946. Both ends of the country have beautiful scenery, she said, but that of her home state is confined to much smaller areas. She told of her love for the western United States, her home for many years now. Pictures and maps of her former home in upstate New York hang in the den off the kitchen, a well-used section of the house.

A most gracious woman, Barbara told of her problems with deer, the role of being a mayor's wife (Ross), of her rented home in San Francisco during World War II and of her family, an obvious source of enjoyment.

A civic-minded woman, Mrs. Allen recently released her position on the Marin County Cancer Board after serving 10 years. Now it is a rotating board with members being retired in turn. "But I'll probably be back next year," she added to emphasize her interest in cancer research.

Barbara is a member of the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary also, the Northgate Group of Marin Art and Garden Center and the Marin Garden Club. The family attends St. John Episcopal Church.

Fred Jr. is the only one of the four Allen children married. He and his family reside on Shady Lane in Ross. Living at home of Jonathan, Tommy makes his home in San Francisco; and daughter, Alice who just turned 21, is a student at Lake Forest College in Pine Manor, Chestnut Hill, Mass. Two grandchildren prompted a quick "sure" when Barbara was asked if she babysat.

To the query of "What advise would you have for other women whose husbands are contemplating being a town mayor?", the Ross matron replied "It's great. I like it and think any woman would enjoy the experience.

The family home, situated on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, embraces a house whose original rooms were constructed in 1906. Rooms have been added and the accumulation of nearly 32 years of married life has mellowed the rooms inside into a welcoming retreat.

A cheery fire dispelled the gloom of a dreary day as we sat chatting about the role Mrs. Allen plays in the city of Ross, population 2,768. All residents and their welfare are the concern of Mayor and Mrs. Allen and there is joy and satisfaction in watching their community progress, she said.

In the side yard of the rolling grounds is a now unused tether ball pole which was utilized by the children but now supports a flag pole from which the American flag flies, not because this is the residence of the town's highest official but because Mrs. Allen enjoys showing her pride in being part of America. In fact, on extra-patriotic days, Barbara flies a flag from an upstairs window also.

As for the friendly little deer who are rose-fed from Mrs. Allen's garden, they were fenced out this year but still surround the area. The bubbly creek through the front yard adds to the woodsy setting and is crossed by a picturesque wooden bridge, the large shake-covered house sits predominantly at the curve of a well-used driveway, all giving a feeling of serenity and stability, almost a retreat from a troubled world.

From the kitchen door and to the back, on a hillside, is what Barbara terms her "coffee walk", a path leading to a weather-worn wooden chair where she "communes with nature" during her frequent strolls for coffee breaks.

As she was escorting her guest out the front door following a tour of the home, Mrs. Allen pointed to a small packet of suspicious-looking fodder on a table in the front hall. She told of a young man having been to the house and, seeing the packet, expressed surprise that she, of all people, would have marijuana displayed so openly.

She says she now knows what marijuana looks like and the young man can identify catnip — that the mayor's wife keeps for her family cat.

MRS. FREDERICK S. ALLEN of Ross reflects on being the wife of the city mayor. Her love of nature is evident throughout the two-acre family home and grounds. "I have rose-fed deer" Mrs. Allen stated, adding she had fenced her roses this past summer in an effort to keep the four-footed pests from chewing petals from their stems. Woman Compares Self With First Lady

By JOAN SWEENEY

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — Ruth Matthews, who created many of the clothes Mrs. Richard Nixon wore during her husband's successful campaign for the presidency, said she designs for women who lead the kind of life she herself does.

THESE ARE BUSY, committed women with families who must travel a great deal —a description that fits Mrs. Nixon.

For these women, Miss Matthews does coordinated groupings -- coats, dresses, suits, sweaters, blouses, skirts, pants plus shoes, purses and scarves utilizing two or three colors in solid and print combinations—that can be worn interchangeably. The clothes are sold only in her own four shops in Beverly Hills, Palm Springs, New York and Chicago.

MRS. NIXON first came to her New York shop shortly before the Republican National Convention last summer.

"I don't know why. She just came into the store," said the tall (5-feet, 11-inches) slender designer who is in her late 40s. "I think one of her friends told her they liked my clothes."

"I did a lot of things for the campaign. I think all the things you saw on television during the Miami convention were mine."

BUT SHE ADDED frankly that she did not know whether she would continue to contribute to the new First Lady's wardrobe. "I don't know what's going to happen now. Mrs. Nixon buys from other people too," she said during an interview in her office above the store here. Her desk was piled high with sketches, swatches of fabrics and buttons.

Actually Matthews is a husband and wife team.

"I am very fortunate. I have a marvelous husband who runs the business," she said of her second husband, Arnold Albert, a former movie producer to whom she has been married for 20 years. They launched their marriage and their first shop about the same time.

THE COUPLE maintain homes in the Brentwood area of West Los Angeles and in Palm Springs and an apartment in New York. In addition to her 25-year-old son by her first marriage, she has a 14-year-old boy, Tracy, and a 12-year-old, Trevor.

"I don't do ball gowns because I don't go to balls," she said. "I do the kind of clothes for the kind of life I live and I'll tell you about my life:

"WE LIVE in three cities and we spend a good deal of time in Europe. We're sailors, my husband and I, we're golfers. I'm a painter. I'd like to be a much better painter. We live in a garden. Our house is filled with patios. Every room has a garden.

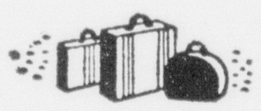
"We spend a good deal of time with our children.



Threrefore, I haven't been able to do the luncheons or partying ... I just don't have time. If I do have a lunch time I run over and take a French or Italian lesson."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Watch That Bachelor Buddy, Says An Old And Faithful Wife

I've watched this man operate for several years. Let me describe him as a warning to husbands who have bachelor buddies:

Now for the big job: Butter up the little wife. Give her the attention the husband overlooks. Be Mr. Helpful. Because the husband trusts his buddy, he allows many "alone" situations. The wife, meanwhile, has been artfully led to believe she is neglected. Oh, it takes "art" all right, to remain friends with a guy whose wife you are about to seduce.

Mission accomplished, the affair can go on right under hubby's nose. When the light dawns, it's exit for buddy, and maybe curtains for the marriage. The woman is just another notch in this bachelor's belt. He then goes back to an old faithful who is waiting and hoping that someday he'll marry her — when he gets married women out of his system.

Do you think he ever will? — OLD FAITHFUL

DEAR OLD FAITHFUL:

Only when his system no longer works, and then he'll be too old for anything buy notch-counting. Before you become a much older "Faithful," lock the door on this wolf. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is not a problem but a plea to in-laws: Don't take advantage!

Soon after I married my husband I discovered I had not married one man but an entire family. I was suddenly beseeched to play chauffeur, seamstress, chef, secretary, psychiatrist, babysitter, and to loan out my personal belongings to them at any time. All those talents of which I had been so proud, suddenly became curses. Many nights I came home dead tired from work and had to go out on some task for my sisters-in-law, none of whom work outside the home. I've tried to teach them the things I can do, but they'd rather have me do them.

I've been able to stand this because I knew we'd be moving soon. Next month we're going to another state. Some girls aren't so lucky. — DOORMAT NO LONGER

Preserve Fruit

Pomegranate, once the shell is broken, will keep longer if the seeds and juice are removed to a screw-top jar, mixed with sugar (about 1 tablespoon to ¼ cup of seeds), and refrigerated. The sugar helps preserve the fruit and intensifies the fresh pomegranate flavor and bright crimson color.

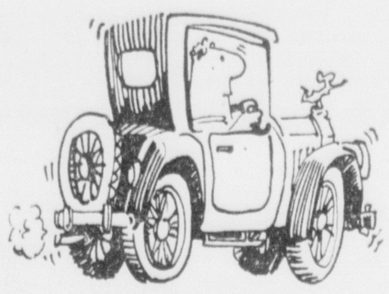
Vigilantes Appear In Alabama Town

By ROGER HAMMER

ASHLAND, Ala. (UPI)—The keeping of law and order has posed no big problem for this backwoods Alabama county. And a group of women, organized behind a pistol-toting beautician, are making sure things stay that way.

A few months back, someone observed that Clay County Sheriff John Green was very shorthanded—with only one deputy to police a county of 12,500 people.

Ethelyene Pope, a 50-year-old beautician with the voice of a seasoned drill sergeant, went into action. She formed the Clay County Women's Sheriff's Auxiliary—an 80-woman force.



They don't wear uniforms—but they all mean business.

"We plan to meet once a month," Mrs. Pope said. "It's more precautionary at this point than anything else. There hasn't been any real trouble."

The first meeting was at Mrs. Pope's house. It looked like any ladies' get-together attended by housewives, teachers and secretaries. But these ladies were learning how to break a stranglehold and how to disarm an attacker.

Things went so well they moved the second meeting to a dusty second floor courtroom at the county courthouse and took up firearms training.

The women brought their own weapons, including little purse-size Derringers and huge semiautomatic shotguns used to chase chicken thieves.

Two state troopers were on hand to help Sheriff Green instruct the women on how to handle the weapons.

"I've never seen so many different pistols," a trooper commented.

Interest ran high through the two hours of instruction. The women compared guns — "Yours is cute" — and figured out how they worked — "Mine must need oil."

When they felt they had mastered how to load and shoot guns, the women asked about firing practice and occasions when they might have to use arms.

An older woman, a look of determination on her face, asked about the possibility of a prowler inside her house.

"What should I do with him?" she asked. "Should I try to run him off by firing a few shots at his feet?"

Another woman, with silver gray hair, suggested politely, "Maybe you could just say, 'Would you kindly leave my house'?"

Some of the women live in lonely sections of the county without even a phone in their farmhouses.

Others work in small factories and drive as far as 30 miles to work each day. One woman told of being terrorized while driving one night when toughs tried to force her off the two-lane road.

Among the group were nurses who take hospital night calls and teachers who drive cheerleaders to football games at night.

"I'm responsible for them, too," a teacher said.

Mrs. Pope closed the meeting with an announcement that she would take orders for chemical disabling spray canisters from anyone who wanted them. She also said future meetings would discuss first aid, firing guns and judo.

Sheriff Green said he has had no trouble in the community which might warrant use of the women in an official capacity, but he said if needed they could be deputized.

And he added, "They could always bring the men coffee and sandwiches."

Markets Stock Many New Items

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—The average supermarket carries between 6,000 and 8,000 food items, many of which were not available five years ago.

The University of Nebraska Extension Service says that 1,500 new items appear on the market each year. Consider, for example, the amount of space now given to snack foods—cookies, crackers, beverages and candies, not necessarily new foods, but new forms of the well known.

She is a 40-year member of the organization and has served statewide with chairmanships in community service, finance, child welfare, radio and television and in veteran rehabiliation activities.

Among Marinites reporting on activities locally will be Mmes. Walter Johnson of San Anselmo, Richard Brown of Greenbrae, Jean Lestanguet of Fairfax and Francis M. Fugate of Corte Madera.

Mrs. Brown is the 1969 Girls State director; Mrs. Lestanguet is serving a year appointment as hospital representative for Auxiliary activities at Napa State Hospital; and Mrs. Fugate is editor of the Auxilairy's state newspaper.

Officiating as state secretary will be Mrs. Rae Zgraggen of Tiburon. Keynote speaker for the mid-year meeting will be Western Division president Mrs. David Kealoha of Hilo, Hawaii.

Also attending will be representatives of Marin units of the American Legion Auxiliary from Lloyd Hamilton unit 540 in Novato, Twin Cities unit 313 in Larkspur, Mill Valley unit 284 and San Anselmo 179.

THE SAN RAFAEL High School Parent-Teacher Association will meet tomorrow evening, 7:30, at the high school cafeteria. A faculty panel of seven members will present their view on the subject of an open campus.

The policy in question would allow students to leave the campus during the noon hour and free periods, something not now being done. Reports will be made on results of a telephone poll of parents and merchants in the Montecito shopping center and a vote taken by those present.

All parents of San Rafael High School students are urged to attend.

THE MARIN USO Mobile Unit members will receive USO service hour pins at the January meeting Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. Valentines will be addressed to servicemen in the 44th Signal Battalion and USO clubs in Vietnam and officers and councilmen for the Bay Area USO Mobile Unit will be elected.

GIRL SCOUTS from Marin and four other counties of the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council, who are troop consultants, troop organizers, registrars, trainers or field staff members, are invited to attend a staff conference at the Scottish Rite Auditorium in San Francisco on Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

THE LAWYERS WIVES of Marin will meet at the Tiburon Lodge at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday. Following a luncheon James Soetaert, director of Probation Services, will speak on "Delinquency in Marin."

THE WOMEN'S Guild of the Star of the Sea parish in Sausalito will sponsor a luncheon prepared by the Ladies Luncheon League on Thursday at noon in the parish hall, 161 Harrison Avenue. Reservations chairmen are Mmes. Norman Wohlschlaeger and George Kowski.

Ruffles Abound

Ruffles abound in many spring fashion collections, but one designer who doesn't include them is Karen Stark at Harvey Berin. Says Miss Stark, "I just don't think ruffles have a new look...they had it last year."

THE MARIN County Presidents' Council of Parent-Teacher Groups will meet at 10 a.m., tomorrow at St. Rita's Hall in Fairfax for its second quarterly meeting.

The Rev. Bernard Cummins, archdiocesan superintendent of schools, will be the speaker.

All P-TA members, chairmen, officers and school principals and confraternity of Christian doctrine are expected to attend. Financial problems of the various organizations and ideas concerning the utilization of community resources for the benefit of parochial schools, CCD groups, adult education and Newman clubs will be discussed.

THE OLIVE SCHOOL Parent-Teacher Association will present "The First of the 3 R's" for discussion at its meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the school in Novato.

Members of the Olive School faculty will be participants in the panel discussion. They are: Mrs. Beverly Pierson, kindergarten; Mrs. Barbara Barros, first grade; Gerald Bird, second grade; Mrs. Judy Stevens, third grade; and Mrs. Caroline Petersen, librarian. Mrs. Shirley Young, reading specialist at the school, will moderate the program.

ART REVIEW

It's A Grand Show For Marin Artists

By LAURA DEVENDORF

SAN FRANCISCO — In trying to create a word picture of non-objective art, it helps if there is something commonplace to relate it to.

Such comparisons are rarely easier than in this month's exhibit at the Arlene Lind Gallery, 473 Jackson Street, showing Patrick Haberman, and Marin artists Don Henrico and Julien Wood. On a grand and colorful scale, their show is like being surrounded by giant, half-eaten Lifesavers, by 3-dimensional letters of the alphabet and by nickel-plated steel spaghetti trees.

Haberman's canvases, gigantic or small, are nothing more than portions of overlapping circles which float in space and are cropped by the paintings' edges. His paint is flat and his colors are bluntly unbeautiful but he makes each canvas move and happen uniquely in spite of all of it.

Henrico paints simply, too, but his canvas shapes are not simple. Since last seen his designs have stayed the same, the "M," "Z," and interlocking "Gs" are still basic but he shows more confidence and depth.

The differences are noted in "3 Part Progression," a series of three-like shapes which grow in size and in heightened tones of blue and green. Another is an interlocking "G" that takes sophisticated advantage of flat black against gloss and the cut of a thin intense blue line which is echoed strongly in the wide painting edges.

One real departure is Henrico's addition of step-up levels in a rather sterile all white painting which needs heavier shadows, more levels or shades of white to make it really satisfying.

All the simple geometrics and bright hues on the walls are a perfect backdrop for Wood's gleaming twists of flat-edged metal. Growing up and out from a base, Wood's beautiful flow of lines forms moving outlines which suggest mass. It's like a mass of moving energy and the pointing, projecting ends suggest that it continues to grow and move into infinity.

The simplicity of the show is deceptive. The complexity underlying Wood's work is easiest to see but it is there for Henrico and Haberman too, both also artists of fresh and appealing talent.

She asked that she be awarded all communuity property.

The judge also ordered Considine to appear in court Feb. 3 to show cause why he should not be so permanently restrained and ordered to pay reasonable child support and alimony.

A VENETIAN CANAL — Two youngsters prepare to turn their street in Santa Venetia into a canal, using a rowboat instead of a gondola. This scene at La Pasada and Adrian Way was repeated throughout Santa Venetia today as some streets had as much as three feet of water flowing over them. (Independent-Journal photo by Frank Farrara)

Sausalitan Arrested On Gun Charge

A 20-year-old Sausalito musician and two companions were to appear before the U.S. commissioner in San Francisco today for setting of bail on a charge of illegal possession of machine guns.

Michael Maloney of Gate 1 was arrested Friday with his companions by agents of the federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division, accompanied by San Francisco and Oakland police.

The other two are, Albert C. Holbert, 31-year-old laborer from Newport Beach and James Winterbourne, 29, a salesman from Capistrano Beach.

The three were arrested, according to the division's area supervisor, B. K. Uptagrafft, after unloading a trailer of weapons and ammunition at a San Francisco warehouse.

Seized with the men were 30 World War I M-1 rifles, kits for rendering them fully automatic and a large quantity of ammunition.

Uptagrafft said the trio had been under surveillance for some time, but declined to give further details.

Maximum penalty for possession of such weapons is five years imprisonment and/or a $2.000 fine.

Holbert, who was armed, Uptagrafft said, faces an additional charge of being armed during the commission of a federal crime, a charge carrying a mandatory minimum one-year prison term on conviction with a maximum of 10 years.

Hub Man Arrested On Bench Warrant

Paul Kenneth McSweeney, 21, of 1380 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was arrested yesterday on a bench warrant for failing to appear in court to enter a plea on a charge of stealing a carbine from a car on April 29, last year.

McSweeney, who was held in lieu of $500 bail, was to appear in court today.

Ronald Melen, 37, of 47 Stetson Avenue, Corte Madera, suffered a fractured left hip socket when a large branch fell on him as he was on his way to notify PG & E of the power failure. He was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today.

A tree limb knocked out power on Curry Avenue in Sausalito from 6:34 to 7:05 p.m. Saturday, affecting about 50 customers.

Fifteen customers on Prospect Avenue and Barber Street in San Anselmo were without power from 7:30 p.m. Saturday to 4:30 a.m. Sunday when a tree crashed through a line and broke two poles.

A tree at 49 Palm Avenue, San Rafael, crashed through a power line and onto a car driven by Gustav D. Anderson, 31, of San Francisco, last night. Anderson was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut chin. About 25 customers in the area were without power until 6 a.m. today as a result of that uprooting.

A large earth slide blocked San Carlos Avenue at Bridgeway for several hours yesterday, but was cleared by mid-morning today. Other slides were reported on Filbert Street near Easterby Street, in Sausalito, an Panoramic Highway, on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Inverness and on Raven Road in Sleepy Hollow.

The Nalifornia Highway Patrol reported a slide at 9:30 p.m. Saturday on Highway 101 at the Rodeo Avenue crossing which caused two accidents.

The Marin County Fire Department's rescue squad was called out to aid three fishermen stranded on a large rock offshore from the Muir Beach Overlook yesterday.

Fire Chief Louis Bloom reported 16-year-old Lindly Prine III of San Pablo made it to shore to get help for his father, his sister and a friend at 12:33 p.m. The four had been fishing since 7:30 a.m.

Meanwhile, his father, Lindly Prine, and his sister, Linda Prine, made it off the rock and, when the rescue squad arrived, Prine was assisting Douglas P. Crane, 24, also of San Pablo, to shore.

Rain reports, covering 48 hours to 8 a.m. today included, Ross, 6.75 inches; Woodacre, 6.22; Civic Center, 5.12; Terra Linda, 3.4; Novato, 2.58; Petaluma, 1.99; Sausalito, 3.90; Bolinas, 2.82; Tamalpais Valley, 4; Mill Valley, 3.45; Tiburon, 2.92; Corte Madera, 5.12, and Hamilton Air Force Base, 3.32 inches.

In the 48 hours ending at noon today, San Rafael had 5.6 inches.

Storm reports indicated heavy damage throughout the state, with San Louis Obispo one of the hardest hit cities. Schools there were closed today as residents dug out of the storm which dumped about 14 inches of rain in 32 hours.

A total of 19 deaths were attributed to the storm in Southern California.

The most serious flooding was reported in the Sierra Nevada foothills from the Merced River to the Tule River. The Fresno and Chowchilla Rivers also were expected to peak near flood stage.

Four Drivers Are Sentenced

Four men were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court Friday for drunken driving.

George James Elkington, 35, of 783 Story Book Court, Novato, was fined $200 and placed on six months probation. He was arrested Dec. 17 on Highway 101 by the California Highway Patrol.

George Thomas Palmer, 30, of 7299 Brenda Way, Rohnert Park, was fined $150 and placed on six months probation. He was arrested Dec. 25 by the Highway Patrol on Highway 101.

Forrest Brown, 47, of 2 San Pablo Avenue, San Rafael was sentenced either to five days in jail or a $75 fine. He was arrested Jan. 5 on Highway 101.

Howard Whitfield Crail, 50, of Napa was placed on one year probation and fined $125. He was arrested Jan. 2 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Driver Treated For Injured Knee

Charles D. Harper, 25, of 939 Del Ganado Road, San Rafael, was treated Friday evening at Marin General Hospital for an injured knee suffered in a traffic accident on Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Harper was driving between Irwin Street and Lincoln Avenue when his car and another collided head-on. Harper's car overturned, and he was thrown 24 feet into a tree, police reported.

The driver of the other car, Evelyn D. Van Nest, 54, of 55 Marinero Circle, Tiburon, was not injured in the accident, which happened at 5:42 p.m.

Trees Damage Claimed In Suit

A Greenbrae man, upset over the wandering roots of his neighbor's trees, has filed suit against him in Marin County Superior Court asking that the trees be removed.

Dennis H. Lewenthall of 181 Via La Cumbre says that willow and poplar trees planted by his next door neighbor, C. W. Miner of 193 Via Cumbre, have already damaged his lawn and shrubbery and are now threatening the foundation of his house.

In addition to having the trees removed, Lewenthal wants Miner to pay an unspecified amount for damage.

Spray, Guns Used To Rob 7-11 Market

Two men armed with guns and chemical spray robbed the 7-11 Market, 703 B Street, San Rafael, of about $275 Saturday night, police reported.

A clerk, William A. Schaller, 52, told police the two walked into the store at about 7 p.m., pulled out dark blue .45-caliber automatics and ordered him to "open it up."

After he emptied the cash register, one of the gunmen told Schaller "look at this," and then sprayed his eyes with a chemical spray and struck his head with his gun.

While the holdup was going on, a customer, Ronald D. Abrao, 25, of Richmond, entered the store. He was sprayed in the face by the second gunman and knocked down.

The two were described as in their late 30s and from five feet, six inches tall, to six feet tall. One had a crew cut, and the other longer, parted hair.

Police said the same two men may also have been the two who robbed the Stop and Go Market in San Rafael of about $300 on Jan. 4. They also used spray chemical on their victims.

Apartment Bomb Scare–A Hoax

A bomb threat which resulted in the evacuation of residents of the Capri Apartments at 1520 San Anselmo Avenue early yesterday was a hoax, San Anselmo police reported.

Officers said an unidentified man telephoned police headquarters at 1:06 a.m., reporting a bomb was in the apartment house laundry room.

Officers said the residents returned to their apartments at 1:45 a.m.

The car, a white 1965 Chevrolet Impala two-door hardtop, license DUL 287, was stolen from a parking lot at Mission and Tamalpais avenues sometime Saturday night, reported its owner, William L. Watson of 912 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

The theft of the drugs, from the Medio Dental Pharmacy, 711 D Street, was discovered Friday night by a patrolman who spotted a rear window that had been forced open.

Proposal On Fill Before Council

The Sausalito City Council will study a proposal by Edgewater Yacht Co. to fill 6,900 square feet of Richardson Bay, when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

Edgewater plans to fill to provide on-site parking for a proposed restaurant. The council will hear a report by planning consultant William Spangle on whether the plan coincides with the city's master plan for the area.

Woman In Hospital For Cut On Wrist

Mrs. Mary Lou Cahill, 56, of 32 Hacienda Court, San Rafael, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a cut left wrist.

Police reported that her husband, Charles, called them to their home at 2:53 a.m. yesterday after she cut herself.

New Members Due

New board members will join the Marin Economic Opportunity Council when it meets at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Room 206 of the Marin County Court House. On the agenda is a report by Robert P. Simmons of a board training conference.

Council Will Review Baar Replacement

The San Rafael City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall, will consider appointment of a replacement for former Councilman Louis H. (Bud) Baar, who was elected a county supervisor.

The council also will consider a replacement for resigned city planning commissioner Carl S. Brown and a successor to Baar's seat on the parks and recreation commission.

A new councilman would serve only until the April 15 election. Among those in the running for the seat are three planning commissioners, attorney Frederick C. Robbins Jr., Joseph J. Garbarino, a proprietor of Marin Sanitary Service, and John J. Adams, a San Francisco auto sales executive.

In other business, the council is scheduled to give final approval to changes in the city's curfew ordinance to delete potentially unconstitutional language, to review police cadet duties and salaries and to consider charter amendments for a public vote to enable the council to appoint the police chief, city attorney, city clerk and city treasurer, all of whom are now elected.

Designer Board To Consider Lights

Plans for landscaping and lighting the Tiburon Waterfront Properties parking lot at Main Street and Paradise Drive will be reviewed by the Tiburon Board of Design Review at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

The board will also consider a sign permit application by Helen Torre for property at 1654 Tiburon Boulevard and plans for a chain fence at the Corinthian Yacht Club.

Brothers Linked To UCLA Slayings

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two brothers implicated by witnesses in the shooting deaths of two Black Panther Party members at the University of California at Los Angeles were sought by police today.

An all points bulletin was issued for George Phillip Stiner, 22, and Larry Joseph Stiner, 21, both identified as students at UCLA.

Black Panthers spokesmen reported here and in San Francisco that the party supplied the names of the two men to police, but West Los Angeles detectives refused to identify the affiliations of the sources.

"Several witnesses to the shootings linked the Stiner brothers to the murders," a police spokesman said. "They were able to supply us with the 'street names' of the two suspects, they couldn't give us the full names.

"Based on the street names we were able to show them some mug shots as a result of prior bookings and the witnesses identified these two people from the photographs."

The spokesman said the police "would rather not say at this time" whether the witnesses were members of the Black Panthers.

The meeting reportedly was to resolve a dispute between the Panthers, the Black Students Union and the US organization over who was to be appointed director of the center.

Three Los Angeles officials of the Panthers called a news conference today and said they would release photographs of four persons they believed were responsible for the shootings.

A spokesman said the photos would be turned over to West Los Angeles police detectives to demonstrate the cooperation of the Panthers with the investigation.

Police said the Stiner brothers had been wanted by Orange County authorities on suspicion of robbery, burglary and attempted murder in September, 1968.

Detectives said they voluntarily turned themselves in to Los Angeles police who remanded them to the custody of Santa Ana, Calif., authorities. Records of the final disposition of the case were not available yesterday.

The victims were John Jerome Huggins, 23, and Alprentice (Bunchy) Carter, 26. They were felled by three shots from a 357-magnum pistol. Huggins was an area captain of the Panthers and Carter was a deputy minister of defense.

A few hours after the shooting, police raided Huggins' home and arrested 17 Panthers. Several weapons were confiscated and police said they feared the group might be planning "retaliation" for the slayings.

LeMay Hinted As Candidate For Governor

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay, George Wallace's 1968 running mate, is being considered as a candidate for governor of California next year by the American Independent Party.

"We are thinking of Gen. LeMay," said Keith M. Greene of San Francisco, the new state chairman of the party which backed former Alabama Governor George Wallace for president.

TWO FACTIONS

The AIP-split into two warring factions—met in Sacramento yesterday and picked officers who pledged to carry on the party's conservative philosophy.

Another political party with an opposite philosophy — The Peace and Freedom Party—also met in Sacramento.

Now down to 35,000 official members, the Peace and Freedom group decided it would push its political activity at the local level.

Two men who favor control by community organizations, drawn from anti-war, black power and student oriented groups, were elected co-chairmen. They are John Haag of Venice and Mike Schen of Pasadena. Secretary is Bob Clark of Los Angeles

Greene, a former auto dealer, brought up LeMay's name as a potential AIP gubernatorial candidate as he chatted with newsmen just after defeating James Slaughter, a Sacramento rancher and worm farmer, for chairman of the party.

NO CONSENT

He said the party had not yet obtained LeMay's consent. The general, a Californian, once considered running for the U.S. Senate in the state, and was active on the fringes of politics before he became the AIP's vice presidential candidate last year.

Greene said that the next two years will be crucial for the AIP, and that Wallace will have to assume active control if the party is to survive.

Registration has dropped from more than 100,000 to 72,068 in California following the election.

Internal disputes that hampered the Wallace presidential campaign were evident at the yesterday state central committee meetings.

Greene's group—carrying the official sanction of the secretary of state's office—met in a suburban motel, and hired armed private guards to keep out a dissident faction.

The dissidents, meanwhile, met in an unguarded downtown lodge building in Sacramento and elected William K. Shearer as chairman. Shearer insisted his group—and not Greene's—was legal.

Clerk's Scream Scares Off A Possible Robber

The clerk, Judy L. Eddy, 26, of 8 Charlotte Drive, Apt. 3, San Rafael, told deputies a man in his mid-29s carrying a "long metal bar in his hand," approached her at 1:30 a.m. and she screamed.

The man dropped the weapon, which proved to be carriage assembly from a typewriter, and fled the building.

Hickel Gets Panel Nod, 14-3 Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Interior Committee today approved the appointment of Walter J. Hickel to be secretary of interior in the Nixon Administration.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the committee, said the vote in a closed session, to recommend confirmation was 14 to 3.

Other cabinet selections for the new administration either have been approved or were expected to be approved by Senate committees later today or by mid-week at the latest.

Jackson said a few details concerning divestiture by Hickel of some financial interests remained to be cleared up for the record, but said these presented no bar to the committee's approval.

"He has met the minimum standards for secretary," Jackson told reporters. "I think the President is entitled to his Cabinet choice."

Hickel stood by in a committee anteroom during the one-hour, 45-minutes the committee discussed his appointment.

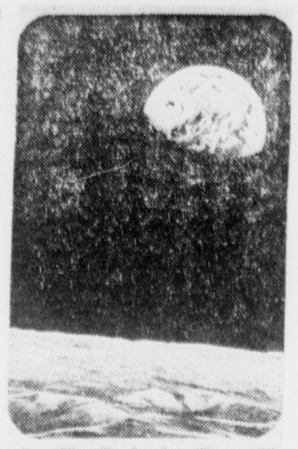
Fairfax Council To Review Budget

Fairfax City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Fairfax Women's Club, will review the 1968-69 budget.

Also on the agenda is a request from Matthew Farr for rezoning of property known as "Meadowland," a report on the city's newly created steno-clerk position and a cost-of-living increase for retired employees.



TO HONOR FLIGHT — The U.S. Postal Department today released this design for a new six-cent postage stamp to commemorate the Apollo 8 mission. It will be issued on May 5 at ceremonies in Houston, Tex. In colors of gray, blue and white, the moon surface is in the foreground with distant earth at the top.

Legislative Committee Lineup Due

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislators looked forward today to learning who will sit on which committees, and which lawmakers will be tapped for the powerful committee chairmanships in 1969.

Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, indicated he would release the upper house lineup early this week. No major dvelopments were anticipated, and seniority again was expected to be the chief guideline for picking committee members and chairmen.

COUNTS LESS

It's not the same story in the lower house, however, where seniority counts for less, and Republicans have a clear working majority over Democrats of 41-39. The Senate is 20-19 Republican, with one vacancy, but it takes 21 votes in the 40-seat upper house to conduct most business.

Aides to Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R - Tracy, said the new lower house leader probably will name most committee members and chairmen on Thursday. A substantial reshuffle will take place, with most Democratic chairmen ousted and Republicans taking numerical control of most committees.

It was the Democratic chairmen and majorities which often thwarted Gov. Ronald Reagan's "Creative Society" legislation in the past two years.

URBAN AFFAIRS

Monagan also was expected to make a special announcement on Wednesday of the chairman of the new committee dealing with urban affairs. Reports were that its chairman was likely to be one of the five Negro members of the Assembly, all of who come from urban areas.

Meanwhile, two Negro legislators said they will introduce legislation aiming to improve schooling of black children and give their parents a bigger say in their education.

Assemblyman Bill Greene and Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, both Democrats, said their bill will seek an independent, experimental school district centered in the south-central area of Los Angeles.

It would put a governing board in power separate from the city school system. Greene said he and Dymally spent time in New York last month looking at a similar system there, "and we are convinced the desired results can be produced for the education of our children, without encountering the problems and chaos which now exist in the New York school decentralization program."

Masked Gunmen Take $1,500 In Tavern Robbery

Two armed men, wearing stocking masks robbed the Buckhorn Tavern, 615 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma, of $1,500 shortly after the 2 a.m. closing Saturday.

Bartender Robert C. Sifield, 40, said the two men emerged from their apparent hiding place in a storeroom as he was putting the night's receipts in the safe. Waving revolvers at him, the pair taped Sifield's mouth, wrists and ankles and left him on the floor in the men's restroom.

Sifield was not found until 8 a.m. when owner Robert McCoy came to open up the bar.

Antimissile Sites Foes To Be Heard

Marin County's objections to antimissile sites will be discussed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow morning at the request of new Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Michael Wornum.

The old board of supervisors last August asked that Angel Island not be considered as a site, and "opposed an antimissile site in Southern Marin if another site can be found in Marin County, other than Angel Island."

More funds will be requested to meet increased activity in the courts and in the sheriff's department. The sheriff asks that the number of matrons be increased from the present seven to ten when the department moves into the new Hall of Justice, and additional funds for the drug abuse bureau.

In the afternoon, the county counsel will submit his opinion that the supervisors do not have the legal authority to photograph recipents of general relief.

Judges of Superior and Municipal Court will ask legislative bills to increase the salaries of court reporters and Court Commissioner E. L. Nininger. County Administrator Alan Bruce differs with the judges on the court commissioner's salary raise. Present salary is $1,000 per month. The judges propose that the court commissioner's salary be raised to $1,490 per month ($17,880 per year) for the first year, increasing through the fifth year to $21,720 per year.

The county administrator contends this is too big a jump, since the court commissioner is not an attorney and cannot act as judge pro tem.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Concepts Of Patient Care Have Changed Greatly For Angina

VAN DELLEN

Concepts of disease are in a constant state of flux. More than 30 years ago physicians were reluctant to tell a person with angina pectoris that he had heart trouble. In those days the diagnosis was tantamount to a death sentence.

Today, not only is the patient told of his condition but he is told how to live and work wth the disorder. He may even be encouraged to exercise more.

VARIOUS REASONS account for this change. Earlier diagnosis is possible, because our physicians are better trained and have more sophisticated diagnostic equipment. In the past, only advanced cases ere recognized.

In this disorder, chest pain is due to narrowing of the coronary arteries that supply blood to the heart muscle. Distress varies from a dull ache to a crushing, burning, or viselike pain in the region of the breastbone.

NITROGLYCERIN continues to be the medication of choice. A tablet is placed under the tongue whenever pain starts. But modern therapy also employs this remedy as a preventive. The person learns to take the drug before doing any thing he knows, from experience, will precipitate pain.

Inderal is used for the same purpose but is a prescription item.

TOBACCO IS BANNED in all cases. Certain surgical procedures are available to improve the cardiac circulation. Low-fat diets help reduce the cholestoral level in the blood. This decrease has a secondary effect upon hardened coronary arteries and helps keep the vessels open, so they can function better.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

TRACES OF LEAD

A reader writes: Could a person have lead in his bones for 30 years and not know it? After X-rays, my doctor asked me if I had been exposed to the metal. I was, more than 30 years ago.

REPLY

The only lead that shows under X-rays after this period of time comes from bullets or shrapnel. To my knowledge, there are no characteristic X-ray findings of the element in bones. There are other causes for such densities in the bones of grownups.

SOAKS AND GOUT

A reader writes: Will soaking a gouty foot in very hot and then very cold water relieve distress?

REPLY

No. Foot baths are not necessary because pain can be lessened within a few hours by taking drugs such as colchicine, cortisone, or the salicylates. There also are other products, such as Benemid and allopurinol that help prevent recurrences.

FATTY TUMORS

REPLY

Nothing, unless they are unsightly, or are located in an area where they interfere with shaving or wearing certain clothes. In these circumstances, removal is advised, although it is not absolutely necessary. Fatty tumors (lipomas) rarely become malignant.

Finch Views No Black Members In The Cabinet

Robert H. Finch, who will serve as Nixon's secretary of health, education and welfare, said in an interview in the Jan. 24 edition of Life magazine that one reason for this was a feeling by many Negro leaders that they have to be increasingly militant or lose their constituencies.

Apartment Looted Of Personal Items

Susan J. Wagoner, 25, of 49 Cole Drive, Apt. 15, Marin City, reported to sheriff's deputies that personal belongings, valued at $455, were taken from her apartment sometime between 5 and 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Taken were a television set, phonograph, coat, cameras, radio and set of chinaware, deputies reported.

Aldersly Home Owned By Nonprofit Group

TV REVIEW

ABC Adding Sports To Newscasts

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—ABC-TV, which has been trying various devices to increase the audience of its half-hour evening news, now is turning to sports reporting as an added attraction.

With its two larger network competitors, CBS-TV and NBC-TV, generally dominating the evening news audience, ABC-TV in the recent past has attempted more and more to go its own way, to carve out its own special niche.

First it announced that it would be gearing its attention to contemporary matters in the social sense, in addition, of course, to covering the news that had to be covered. The implication was that ABC-TV, whose specialty is the young audience, would be oriented more to pop events and people that deserved news attention and were of particular interest to youthful viewers.

Then ABC-TV introduced a whole slate of columnists-of-the-air who, ever since, have been popping off refreshingly on their views of the world. These editorialists have appeared often, whenever the occasion seemed right.

Now comes the big venture into sports reporting on a network's evening news program—an issue that is not at all quite as ordinary as some might suspect.

It is true that these evening news reports give mention to a major sports event when it occurs—such as a World Series game. But with the half-hour being such a relatively limited time in which to cover the world's news, precious attempts — or suggestions — concerning the inclusion of sports coverage have not always met with favor among key persons.

The sports department at ABC-TV, however, has more weight than at any other network. It has been a tremendous success, and an innovator of many aspects of network sports reporting. In terms of prestige, it is the single area in which ABC-TV can fairly claim frequent superiority to its larger competitors.

Thus, while most televiewers will continue to get the majority of their video sports news on local roundups, ABC-TV late this month will begin five-minute "instant sports specials" on the network's evening news broadcasts. These five-minute inserts will be shown, says ABC-TV, when breaking sports news "warrants in-depth coverage."

Two Persons Injured On Rainy Roads

Two persons were injured in storm related accidents in Marin Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Kathy McCarthy, 18, of Santa Rosa, suffered rib pains in a two-car collision on northbound Highway 101, opposite Harbor Street, San Rafael, at 11:50 p.m., officers reported.

Jewell braked when a spray of water hit his windshield and his car swerved, according to the patrol, colliding with a car by Donald E. Rossi, 22, of Santa Rosa.

In a one-car accident on San Geronimo Valley Drive, east of Park Street, Woodacre, Floyd Porteous, 17, of Woodacre, suffered body pains.

Porteous was a passenger in a westbound car driven by Michael Richard R. A. Shand, 19, of San Geronimo, which slid on wet pavement and rolled over three or four times, officers reported. Porteous told officers he would see his own doctor.

New Repertory Company Will Bow On Feb. 1

The Artist Repertory Company, a new group of Marin professional actors, will present three plays at the Sir Francis Drake High School Little Theater on Feb. 1.

At 2 p.m. "Bindlefrink To Get There, Fagroon To Get Back," an original musical fantasty for children, will be presented, according to Gregory Norgaard, managing director and founder of ARC.

That evening, "Sing To Me Through Open Windows" by Arthur Kopit and "Spoon River Anthology," a series of character vignettes by Edgar Lee Masters, will be seen at 8 o'clock.

Members of the company are Diana Gilbert and Jo Ann Sloane of Forest Knolls, Phillip Pratt of Fairfax, Sarah Lou Lacey of Larkspur, Charles Callister of Tiburon, Beth Dowling of Mill Valley, Cynthia Jones of Sausalito and Norgaard, who lives in San Anselmo.

Resignation Review Before Hub Board

Corlett resigned Jan. 7 but the board has asked him to contiune until expiration of his term on June 30.

Novato Victims Sue Over Tires

Alfred D. Rowland and his wife, Janet S. Rowland, of Novato, injured in an automobile accident in January, 1968, have filed $300,000 suits against San Rafael firms Triple S Auto Service and Ames Ford Sales charging that defective tires caused the accident.

Rowland, who was driving, suffered internal injuries and fractures of both legs when his car hit a chain link fence on Highway 101 at the Terra Linda overpass.

His wife also suffered fractures of both legs and facial cuts.

The Rowlands, who also named 30 John Does in the suit, ask $150,000 each as well as payment of medical expenses.

Rancho Olompali Suspects Deny Dope Charges

The residents of the Rancho Olompali commune north of Novato have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a variety of narcotics charges.

The district attorney changed his charges Friday, saying it was not heroin found in the main house at the ranch, but cocaine. Also found there were DMT, a dangerous drug, and peyote, a narcotic, according to the charges.

In addition, McKendrick is charged with possessing cocaine, peyote and DMT, and Doyle, Minakov and D'Amore are charged with possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

Any $7,000 car looks good in a glittering showroom. The Mercedes-Benz 280S shines in a tight spot on the highway.

Look underneath, and you'll begin to see why.

The Mercedes-Benz 280S does not have pin striping, a wall-to-wall grille, or a hood two feet longer than anything it pretends to enclose.

But its classic lines, free of faddish touches, will grace any driveway —and will still be pleasing long after newer styling furbelows have rendered this year's crop of "dreamboats" obsolete.

The real beauty of the 280S, though, lies not so much in how the car looks, as in what it does.

Endowed by Mercedes-Benz engineers with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans in the so-called "fine car" field, the 280S steers, maneuvers and stops as if your life depended on it.

This is one reason why Car and Driver magazine, with a world of cars to choose from, concludes that the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Of all cars in the "luxury class" field, the Mercedes-Benz 280S is rated the safest, most roadworthy. Read why.

Racing car suspension

For a clue to the almost uncanny handling and evasive ability of the 280S, scrunch down and look beneath the rear bumper—at the axle. It's not the rigid "beam" axle of most domestic cars. It is articulated.

This Mercedes-Benz low-pivot swing axle permits each rear wheel to move up and down independently of the other, just as the front wheels do. The result is leech-like roadability.

If you know what you're looking for, you can also spot heavy-duty thrust arms, individual coil springs and shocks, and a horizontal hydropneumatic load-leveling device.

All in all, suspension ideas more common on 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars than 5-passenger sedans.

Engineering extravagance?

A passenger car doesn't need a suspension fit for a racer, argue some critics. True, reply Mercedes-Benz engineers. For everyday city driving, this is sheer engineering extravagance.

But some day you might have to get off the pavement, onto a stretch of potholed back road. You might have to enter a sharp curve or a turn-off faster than you intended. You might have to jockey out of a tight spot while cruising at 65 mph on a busy highway.

And, suddenly, you realize that this engineering extravagance is no extravagance at all.

Sharp reflexes

Occasionally, it is also necessary for a 3,400-pound automobile hurtling along at high speed to stop abruptly.

Once more, Mercedes-Benz engineers draw on their experience with World Champion racing machinery. They employ the more expensive, but clearly superior, type of brakes used almost universally on today's professional racing circuits.

Disc brakes.

The engineers don't stint, either—by putting disc brakes only at the front wheels, and settling for conventional drum brakes on the rear. They insist on attaching a massive disc brake to every wheel of every Mercedes-Benz.

Someday, doubtless, 4-wheel disc brakes will be offered on a domestic "luxury" car.

Accurate steering is vital for maximum control, too. In an emergency, you don't have time for a sweeping twirl of the wheel.

The ingenious Mercedes-Benz recirculating-ball-type steering system of the 280S eliminates sloppy play in the wheel—and blesses you with the "feel" of the road. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Taut, sensitive steering is retained even with Mercedes-Benz power steering—characterized by Car and Driver as "unquestionably the most precise unit of its kind ever developed."

If trouble comes

The responsiveness which makes the 280S such a joy to drive is its best defense against blundering motorists. However, if the worst happens, the car is designed to shield you. Naturally, it meets all the U.S. safety regulations. But Mercedes-Benz safety goes beyond the letter of these laws.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay shut on impact. The front and rear of the car are engineered to crumple in a crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

"A fellow hit me when I stopped at a toll booth," reports one Mercedes-Benz owner. "People in his car were hospitalized. But I just opened my door and stepped out."

Showroom experiments

The 280S is as habitable as it is roadworthy and safe.

Slip behind the wheel, and flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, hour after hour. It should: it was designed with help from orthopedic physicians.

Check the rear shelf. Carpeted. Feel the underside of the dashboard. There's no spaghetti tangle of wires. It's fully finished off. Finger the wood trim—real walnut, not plastic.

No shortcuts

Every 280S begins life in a shower of sparks. It is not bolted into being, like a conventional car, but solidified by thousands of welds. After 50,000 miles or so, you may start to wonder if it will ever rattle.

More than four coats and 44 pounds of paint and primer rust protection are lavished on each car. Even the insides of the hubcaps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, the 280S gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

Unconventional? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not build conventional cars—and never will.

Fuel injection available

Machined to racing tolerances, the 2.8 liter, overhead cam, six-cylinder engine of the 280S is built to run flat-out on Germany's autobahns for hours on end (it often does)—and can cruise at any posted speeds in America, with energy in reserve.

However, if you'd like even more power, you may choose the 280SE. The "E"—for Einspritzmotor —gives you a Bosch 6-plunger fuel-injection system that boosts horsepower by nearly 15 percent, at virtually no sacrifice in gas mileage.

NOTE: Another variation, the 280SEL, affords a wheelbase 4 inches longer, and with four inches additional legroom in the rear compartment. Maneuverability is unimpaired.

24-page brochure

To learn more details of the remarkable 280S—$7,000 complete with automatic shift, power steering and electric windows ($6,249* without frills)—mail the coupon for a color brochure.

Better still, drop by the showroom and arrange to test the car. Driving is believing.

Other models to ponder:

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $4,780*.

HOW THE WEST WON—Ken Willard of the San Francisco 49ers, representing the West, plowed into a stiff East defense for a 10-yard gain in first quarter of yesterday's NFL Pro Bowl at Los Angeles. It took a trio of Easterners to stop Willard, including Chris Hanburger (55). The West won, 10-7. (AP Wirephoto)

West Wins In Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When they first started playing catch, quarterback Roman Gabriel and end Carroll Dale were reserves with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

Yesterday the pair combined for a last-quarter 25-yard gain and two plays later the West team scored to earn a 10-7 victory over the East in the NFL's 19th Pro Bowl game.

"It sure was great having Dale out there catching my passes again," Gabriel said after the victory.

"He and I came up the hard way together. He was a second-string receiver and I was a second-string quarterback. We would usually go into the game together after the first stringers were through."

Dale, now a regular with the Green Bay Packers, wound up with only three catches but the 25-yarder came with less than 3½ minutes to play and the West trailing 7-3.

Donny Anderson of the Packers bulled 22 yards up the middle one play later and Bill Brown of the Minnesota Vikings smashed the remaining yard for the go-ahead score.

Don Meredith of Dallas started for the East at quarterback but a stubborn West defensive line didn't allow a first down for the first 24½ minutes of the game. So midway in the second quarter, New York's Fran Tarkenton came in.

On his first offensive play, Tarkenton was dropped by Viking end Carl Eller for a nine-yard loss.

"Our defense played a fine game," said winning Coach George Allen of the Rams. "The footing was a little poor and the linemen put a lot of pressure on Tarkenton."

"But he's so unconventional, you can never really anticipate

Rain Washes Out Final Round Of Kaiser Golf

Barber Declared Winner

NAPA (AP) — Heavy rains for a third straight day forced cancellation today of the final rounds in the $135,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament and swept Miller Barber into the championship.

Barber, a veteran from Sherman, Tex., posted a 9-under-par 135 for 36 holes at the conclusion of play Friday and no more rounds could be finished.

So the Texan collects a top prize of $13,500, exactly one-half the top pay-off had the tournament gone the full 72-hole route.

Tournament director Jack Tuthill of the Professional Golfers' Association announced at 8:40 a.m. today, "We're not going to be able to finish. This course won't be playable tomorrow. You can't even get to the tees today."

Australian Bruce Devlin captured second place in the rain-abbreviated event with 136 and Arnold Palmer finished third at 137.

As they were Saturday, all scores were scratched yesterday, leaving the field just like Friday's night's.

Barber led with a 68-67—135 nine under par, a stroke ahead of Devlin, two ahead of Palmer and three ahead of Charles Coody of Abiline, Tex., and the first day leader, 23-year-old Bob Lunn of Sacramento.

The most popular club during the past two days has been an umbrella.

Sloshing through with five birdies, Tommy Aaron, in his eighth year on the tour, had gone nine under par for the tournament yesterday, tying him with Devlin, who had birdied his second hole and was playing his fifth when the round was suspended.

"I was surprised I was playing so well," said Aaron.

Forty-five players had completed nine holes including Californians Dave Stockton and John Miller, the only amateur in the field. Each shot a four-under 32.

Despite the rain yesterday, more than 1,000 fans followed the three-some of Palmer, Barber and Lunn. Lunn started off with a birdie, hit two bogeys and grabbed a birdie with a 15-foot downhill putt.

The last multi-rainout was at the Westchester Classic in 1967 when rounds were washed out Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The tour golfers now head for Monterey and the Bing Crosby invitational tourney, praying for no rain.

HOW THE WET WON—A greenskeeper looked like he was playing an aquatic version of suffleboard yesterday as he attempted to "squeegie" water off green at Napa's Silverado Country Club. But the heavy rains proved to be too much and play was canceled today in the second Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament. (AP Wirephoto)

Oaks Set New ABA Record

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Oaks hold the American Basketball Association record of 16 straight victories and will try to boost it to 17 Wednesday at Los Angeles.

The 116-105 victory over New York the Oaks posted yesterday afternoon at Commack, N.Y., erased the league record set last year by the Pittsburgh Pipers.

The Oaks beat the Pipers Saturday night 111-103 to tie the record.

WITHOUT RICK

Since losing their superstar Rick Barry Dec. 27 because of torn knee ligaments, the Oaks have won nine games. Their last loss was Dec. 9.

The Nets, for whom the loss was the sixth straight, led early in the second quarter and were behind only 96-92 with 7:35 left. Then the Oaks ran off 10 points to go out of reach.

Warren Armstrong scored 30 points for Oakland, and Levern Tart led the Nets with 28. Manny Leaks of New York and Doug Moe of the Oaks got 17 each, and Leaks had 23 rebounds.

Thurmond Leads S.F. Past 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach George Lee isn't saying his San Francisco Warriors would be in first place if Nate Thurmond hadn't missed 11 games with a thigh injury ,but he has some interesting figures.

Lee was discussing Thurmond's value after the Warriors defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 98-97 in a National Basketball Association game yesterday.

"They say," observed Lee, "that every time you get the ball, its worth one point. Thurmand averages 20 rebounds a game. He averages about 24 points. That's 44.

BLOCKS SIX

"You have to figure he blocks about six shots a game. That means he's worth about 50 points a game."

Lee also mentioned there were a number of times during a game that Thurmond intimidates a shooter. There was a good example in the contest yesterday.

San Francisco led 98-95 with less than 20 seconds remaining. Philadelphia's Archie Clark drove for the hoop for what appeared to be an easy lay-up. He missed, however, as Thurmond loomed alongside.

TOUGH BREAK

Thurmond, in addition to missing 11 games, played in one he shouldn't have, according to Lee. Considering that the Warriors are fourth in the Western Division, 12 games behind leading Los Angeles, the loss of Thurmond has been a crippling blow for San Francisco.

The 220-pound Thurmond virtually beat the 76ers himself yesterday, if you believe Lee's figures. He hauled down 34 rebounds, an NBA high this season. Wesley Unseld of Baltimore had the previous high of 29 in November.

Thurmond also blocked at least a half dozen shots and scored 35 points.

BACK OKAY

Thurmond says the thigh muscle is much better, but not yet 100 per cent. He noted that a back condition which has sidelined him in previous seasons hasn't given him any trouble, knocking on wood as he said it.

Lee feels that if Thurmond can remain healthy, the Warriors will improve their position in the West and be tough in the playoffs.

The smaller 76ers dropped out of second place in the East behind Boston as a result of the defeat, only the fourth this year on their home court where they've won 16.

Philadelphia had a cold-shooting afternoon—33 per cent from

Finn Leads Monte Carlo Auto Rally

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Finland's Rauno Aaltonen, in an Italian Lancia, led in the field of weary survivors who reached here at the end of the first stage of the 1969 Monte Carlo rally today.

Aaltonen, winner of the rally in 1966, along with the same British co-driver, Henry Liddon, reported no trouble en route and good weather all the way from Athens. Their car was in immaculate condition after a wash outside the town.

They were followed in by another Lancia, crewed by Britain's Tony Fall and John Davenport, who also started from Athens. Next came the Italian Giuseppe Ceccato, in a Fiat.

There were few reported dropouts during the night but the actual number could not be known until after the last arrival due here early this afternoon.

All the big teams were intact although overnight Pat Moss Carlsson of Britain erroneously had been reported as missing at one checkpoint in western France.

The British Ford team of three escort twin Cams was expected on time and manager Henry Taylor commented this morning "when they get here, the real job starts."

After a night's rest, the top-placed teams set out tomorrow on a 920-mile run over the Chambery loop in the mountains behind Monte Carlo. The deciding battle Wednesday will take the top 50 over 417 miles through seven special mountain stages.

Seals Win To Stay In Second

OAKLAND (UPI) — The National Hockey League season is only half over but the Oakland Seals have already bettered their entire 1967-68 victory total.

The expansion Seals gained their 16th victory of the campaign last night with a 6-3 triumph over Pittsburgh and, in addition, broke a winless home series against the Penguins.

IN SECOND

With its 16 wins, one better than the team registered a year ago, Oakland will go into the second half of the season with a firm hold on second place in the Western Division race.

The Seals are a distant 17 points behind St. Louis with a 16-24-6 record but are two points ahead of Los Angeles.

Hicke, who will be one of three Oakland players participating in tomorrow's NHL All-Star game, rapped in his 16th and 17th goals in the first and third periods. He also was credited with two assists.

ALL-STARS

Centerliner Laughton also rammed home two goals with Carol Vadnais and Norm Ferguson adding the other two Oakland tallies.

In addition to Hicke, Ted Hampson and Vadnais will represent the Seals in the All-Star clash which will be played in Montreal. Vadnais will be replacing Gary Jarrett, who was injured in a game last week.

The next Oakland game will be against the Canadiens in Montreal Thursday.

Tam Soccer Team Shuts Out Redwood

Andy Copperman scored the only goal and goalie Wayne Setnary turned in a shutout as the Tamalpais High School soccer team defeated Redwood of Larkspur, 1-0, Saturday in a Marin County Athletic League game at Mill Valley.

NBC DECLARES VICTORY IN TV RATING TEST

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. declared itself the winner of the first post-Super Bowl television ratings test.

Yesterday's all-star games — The American Football League at Jacksonville, Fla., and the National League at Los Angeles — were the first games since the AFL New York Jets upset the NFL Baltimore Colts 16-7 in the Super Bowl Jan. 12.

The Columbia Broadcasting System, which televises NFL games, usually is well ahead of NBC and the AFL games in the ratings.

But an NBC spokesman said the overnight Nielsen ratings for the New York area showed that NBC had a 21.3 rating yesterday to a 5-1 for CBS during the hour that the games overlapped.

The ratings mean that 45 per cent of the television audience was watching the AFL game on NBC from 4 to 5 p.m. while only 11 per cent was watching the NFL game on CBS. The AFL game was in the second half during that hour, the NFL game in the first half.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

MANILA—Bernabe Villacambo, 110, Manila, stopped Fernando Atzori, 110, Italy, 6.

Dawson Leads West Stars In Come-From-Behind Win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Len Dawson, 12 years a pro but overlooked by all of the American Football League coaches except his own, succeeded where youth failed as the West came from far back to defeat the New York-dominated East 38-25 in the league's annual All-Star game.

Although he topped the league in average yards gained during the regular season, the 33-year-old National League reject from Kansas City was overlooked by the coaches in favor of San Diego's 28-year-old John Hadl in their selection of the West's All-Star team.

But Hank Stram, coach of the West, lost no time correcting the error. He selected his Chiefs' quarterback as a member of the squad and it proved a smart move yesterday as the West chalked up its fourth All-Star victory against two defeats before a rainy day crowd of 43,869.

Dawson replaced Hadl at the start of the second half with the East leading 19-3 chiefly because of the passing and the smart signal calling of New York's Joe Namath, the league's Most Valuable Player. Broadway Joe completely overshadowed Hadl, who was far off in his passing.

New York's Jim Turner kicked the last of his six field goals early in the final quarter to lengthen the margin to 25-13 but that ended the East's scoring as Dawson took complete charge with assists from three comparative youngsters—Jim Lynch, Floyd Little and Paul Robinson, the league's No. 1 rookie from Cincinnati.

Little provided the first big burst when he took a short pass from Dawson. The bow-legged former Syracuse University All-American from Denver cut down the left side and wasn't stopped until 81 yards later on the one-yard line. Hewritt Dixon of Oakland went over on the fourth down.

Lynch successfully covered an onside kick and Dawson and his mates were on their way again from the East's 43. This time Robinson went over from the one for the first of his two quick touchdowns.

A pass from Dawson to Warren Wells of Oakland ate up 37

Roche Wins First Round Net Match

Roche, a pro, defeated Barry Phillips-Moore, a fellow Australian, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 while Mrs. Court, a registered player, stopped another Aussie, Judith Gohl 6-0, 6-0.

In other women's matches Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., defeated Francis Luff of Australia 6-1, 6-3 and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco knocked off Gail Chanfreau of Australia 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. In an all-Australian match Helen Gourlay upset Judy Tegart 2-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles led the American advance in men's competition, whipping Marc Bolle of Belgium 6-2, 6-2, 6-4. Gonzales is the top American seed at No. 6.

Riverside Race Put Off By Rain

RIVERSIDE (AP) — The 44 cars in the Motor Trend Riverside 500 race sat on blocks today, their radiators drained and battery cables disconnected, awaiting next Sunday and the rescheduled stock car race.

A steady downpour which pelted the 2.7-mile track and more than 20,000 fans forced officials to postpone yesterday's seventh annual running. It was the second weather delay in the race's history.

Two years ago, with Parnelli Jones leading after 50 laps, a sudden deluge forced a one-week postponement. Jones didn't seem to mind the delay, though. He maintained his lead and won.

It was the only year in which Dan Gurney failed to wind up with the checkered flag.

GOLF

MIAMI, Fla. — Joanne Gunderson Carner became the first amateur golfer to capture an LPGA-sponsored tournament when she won the $35,000 first annual Burdine's Invitational PGA by one stroke over veteran pro Shirley Englehorn with a par 216.

BOWLING

CANTON, Ohio — Dottie Fothergill of Attleboro, Mass., won the National Professional Women's Bowling Tournament with a 176-164 victory over Peggy DiBattista of Youngstown, Ohio, in the final one-game roll-off among the first five finishers.

SKIING

MADISON, Wis. — Adrian Watt of Duluth, Minn., outdistanced three of his Olympic teammates and won America's central division ski jumping championship with jumps of 205 and 204 feet on Blackhawk Hill.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. — Odd Hammerness of Norway soared 215 and 220 feet and scored an average 17 of 20 points for style on each to post an over-all 196.1 total and win the Masters Ski Jump Tournament.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. — George Krog, a 22-year-old University of Denver senior from Washington, D.C., made jumps of 234 and 225 feet on the 70-meter Olympic Hill to win by a 6½-point margin the initial event of the seven-week-long first Kennedy International Memorial Winter Games.

GENERAL

CLEVELAND — Warren Lahr, a defensive halfback for the Cleveland Browns of the NFL for 11 years and later a television sports announcer, died of an apparent heart attack at the age of 45.

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS — The Minnesota North Stars removed John Muckler as coach of the National Hockey League team and returned General Manager Wren Blair to the bench shortly after the North Stars went through their eighth straigh loss and 14th straight game without a victory.

TENNIS

SYDNEY, Australia — Tony Roche defeated fellow Australian Rod Laver 6-4, 4-6, 9-7, 12-10 in the final of the New South Wales Open Tennis Championship and Australia's Margaret Smith Court trounced Rosy Casals, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-2 in the women's singles final.

Raiders' Atkinson Arrested

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) —Oakland Raider George Atkinson, who intercepted a pass in the West's defeat of the East in the American Football League All-Star game yesterday, had a less glorious moment as he walked off the field and was arrested.

Atkinson, a 22-year-old rookie defensive halfback who was graduated from Morris Brown College, was arrested on a fugitive warrant charging him with abandoning two illegitimate children.

"Someone's trying to take me for a joy ride," the Savannah, Ga. native said. He said the suit was filed by a woman from his home town whom he had known several years ago.

"I was real proud of playing in this game in my first year and then this thing had to happen."

"I never heard from her, and now all of a sudden six years later, when I'm playing professional football, she comes up with this," Atkinson, who now lives in Atlanta, said.

Atkinson said he paid his own $2,000 bond and would go to Savannah today to make arrangements for a hearing on the suit.

The Warriors led most of the way and were in front 79-72 at the end of three periods. Philadelphia struck for eight quick points at the start of the final quarter for an 81-80 lead.

Lynch then came up with another great play when he grabbed Griese's pass and raced 37 yards to the one from where Robinson scored. Jan Stenrud of Kansas City kicked a 32-yard field goal in the closing minutes for the last of his three field goals—the longest of which was a 52-yarder in the opening period.

"We just gave away too much in the second half," said Wally Lemm of Houston, coach of the losers. "Alvin Reed (Houston) dropped a couple of good passes from Namath in the first half or we might well have been farther ahead. But loss of that onside kick, Emerson Boozer's fumble which led to a third-period touchdown, Little's long run and Lynch's interception really hurt us."

"Little's run gave us the spark," said Stram.

Most of the East's players, however, gave credit for the victory to Dawson, who was voted the game's outstanding back. George Webster of Houston, with two interceptions in the first half, was named the outstanding lineman.

Dawson held the advantage over the other three quarterbacks. He completed four of nine passes for 158 yards. Hadl gained only 23 with four completed of 19.

There wasn't much difference between the East's two passers. Namath was seven out of 18 for 98 yards and Griese nine out of 14 for 97.

what he's going to do," said Ram Merlin Olsen of Tarkenton. Olsen was a nearly unanimous pick as lineman of the game.

The East gained only 81 yards in the first half and trailed 3-0 at intermission on Ram Bruce Gossett's 20-yard field goal. An earlier 52-yard Gossett attempt bounced high off the cross bar and fell back onto the playing field.

Meredith got the East's only score midway through the third period on a 34-yard pass to Cleveland's Paul Warfield, who eluded San Francisco 49er defensive back Kermit Alexander and raced in for the touchdown.

Then Gabriel and Dale teamed up.

"We sent Anderson on a sweep," Allen explained. "Then, on the next play, Gabe used a play-action pass, faking to Brown. Dale was open up the middle."

"They just caught us in a zone defense with Dale one-on-one with (St. Louis Cardinal Larry) Wilson," said losing Coach Tom Landry of Dallas.

"Babe called all his own plays and I thought he mixed them up real well," said Allen.

Gabriel was named player of the game by writers.

It was the 12th West triumph. The East has won seven.

Western Power Teams UCLA, Santa Clara Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Very conceivably, the western regionals of the NCAA playoffs could wind up with two undefeated powerhouses pitted against each other.

Unless something unforeseen occurs during the remainder of the regular campaign—and it's not likely—UCLA and Santa Clara, nationally ranked first and third, respectively, will charge full-steam into the regionals with perfect seasons.

The same two teams met in the regional finals last year—but with blemished records. UCLA came out on top in that one, 87-66, to move into the NCAA championship round.

Johnny Wooden's Bruins ran their record to 12-0 Saturday as they scored a rousing 64 points in the second half to easily outdistance Houston, 100-64.

And the high-scoring victory was accomplished with the fabulous Lew Alcindor on the bench for most of the game with a throat ailment. However, with his sub, Steve Patterson, controlling the boards and keying several fast breaks, the Westwood quintet was unstoppable.

John Vallely paced the well-balanced UCLA scoring attack with 18 points with Bill Sweek adding 15 and Curt Rowe 14.

To record a new school mark of 16 straight triumphs, the Santa Clara Broncos had to journey to nearby San Jose where they shot a sparkling 55.1 per cent from the field to down the Spartans, 64-49.

Six-foot-ine junior center Dennis Awtrey, who was the game's top scorer with 22 points, led the first half attack with the Ogden boys, Ralph and Bud, picking up the scoring pace over the final 20 minutes.

The loss was San Jose's first in five West Coast Athletic Conference starts.

Surprising Washington gained sole possession of first place in the Pacific 8 Conference with a 60-42 victory over Oregon State. In posting their third straight conference win, the Huskies stormed to a 36-18 lead and were never headed.

Washington can stretch its Pac 8 lead to a full game over UCLA tonight when it hosts winless Oregon. In the only other league meeting, Oregon State travels to Washington State.

Ted Wierman dropped in a pair of free throws in the dying seconds to give Washington State a narrow 67-63 decision over a late-rallying Oregon five in another Pacific 8 game Saturday.

In other WCAC games, University of Pacific, with Bill Stricker scoring 27 points and grabbing 11 rebounds, defeated Pepperdine, 73-62; Santa Barbara edged San Francisco, 62-59; and St. Mary's downed Loyola, 78-73.

San Francisco State took over the lead in the Far Western Conference with a 78-63 nod over previously unbeaten Sacramento State; the Cal Aggies overpowered Humboldt State, 82-69; and Nevada scored a come-from-behind 87-80 decision over Hayward State.

Dee Andros To Stay As Oregon St. Coach

Dee Andros, whose name originally was Konstandies Demosthenes Androcoupolis, Saturday rejected an attractive offer to leave his head coaching job at Oregon State for Pittsburgh, which has had three 1-9 seasons.

"I guess you could say sentimental reasons are the main thing," he said. "It's tough to get together your own squad and then up and leave them."

Oregon State has finished second in the Pacific Eight Conference for three straight years and Andros has a 26-13-1 record during his four years here.

"We will go down our list again," said Athletic Director Casimir Myslinski of Pittsburgh.

Pitt had reportedly offered Andros $27,000 a year. This is believed to be about $5,000 more then he has been getting at Oregon State.

Andros is the third man to turn down the Pittsburgh job. Frank Kush of Arizona State and Jack Wiley, an assistant at Pitt, earlier rejected the position.

When Andros returned to the campus after a visit to the east he was met by several hundred students and the Oregon State pep band.

"Please don't go. We want you to stay," the students chanted.

Andros met Friday night with the school athletic board and said they came to "a very satisfactory agreement."

Andros' wife, Lou ,said she, too, was impressed by the student rally. "It really got to us...the band and the kids here," she said.

Headlines in Portland's two newspapers read:

"H'ray Great Pumpkin will stay" in the Oregon Journal and "Pumpkins Still in Season; Deecides to Stay" in the Oregonian.

FULL SLATE FOR MARIN PREP CAGERS

San Rafael High School's Bulldogs, still smarting from an 84-64 loss to Terra Linda basketballers Friday night, hope to get back on the winning track tomorrow afternoon — but the prospects aren't bright.

Coach Mike Diaz' Bulldogs must entertain the front-running Novato Hornets in the Marin County Athletic League's featured basketball game of the day. Novato has a 14-4 won-lost season record, best in he county, and 3-0 in league play as compared to San Rafael's 7-7, 2-1 credentials.

The other top game of tomorrow afternoon will pit Terra Linda at Tamalpais in Mill Valley, each with a 2-1 league mark. Elsewhere, it's San Marin of Novato (0-3) at Redwood (2-1) in Larkspur and Drake (0-3) at Marin Catholic (1-2) in Kentfield.

All games will start at 4 p.m. followed by junior varsity games.

Rough Day For West All-Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ken Willard, San Francisco's running back, suddenly pulled up after running a few yards for the victorious West in the third quarted of yesterday's Pro Bowl football game. No one had hit him.

Willard, it became known later, pulled a hamstring muscle and, apparently earlier, suffered a fractured collarbone.

Los Angeles Ram Deacon Jones was in and out of the game with a right ankle sprain. His teammate, Maxie Baughan, hurt his knee and will have surgery on it this week.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Executone Shows A Steady Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What stock could you suggest for a high school student with a limited amount to invest? — B.R.

A. Executone, a young and forward-looking communication company, seems to fit your situation.

Recently negotiated marketing agreements with the Swedish subsidiary of International Telephone and with RCA should expand Executone's sales base. Several of the company's products are medically oriented: a nurse call system, a doctor's pocket paging device and a patient-run remote control for operating TV, signaling a nurse, and so forth.

Sales, which have moved ahead annually, should be about $11 million for the year just ended. Final quarter earnings of about 60 cents will lift full year 1968 net to around $1.20 a share, up from 97 cents in 1967.

Q. Because of a company stock purchase plan, I own shares of common and $3.75 preferred Standard Oil of Ohio. Should I keep these? Now after a change in company policy I work for Leaseway Transport and am buying shares of this company under a similar arrangement. What is your advice? — B.R.

A. Sohio, primarily a petroleum refiner and marketer, more recently has expanded operations to include chemicals, minerals, coal, motels, restaurants and vending. Lacking significant crude production — a situation which could change dramatically if the Oil Shale venture moves ahead — the shares have had limited investor appeal in an other wise "hot" oil market.

However, on a long-term basis holdings should do well, with the petrochemical division providing additional stimulus.

Leaseway Transport, after two years of declining earnings, has estimated that 1968 gross and net will be at record levels. With 25 per cent of total revenues coming from automobile transportation, last year's high level of car production was an important factor in earnings improvement.

Internal expansion plus acquisitions — pursued aggressively — will help to offset the more cyclical car transport operations. Shares are an attractive holding, particularly in view of the growth in the more profitable leasing and contract areas of Leaseway's operations.

Market On Mixed Side At Closing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks closed mixed today, largely reflecting normal uncertainities that accompany a change of administration in Washington. Trading was moderate.

Steels were mixed. Motors also lacked direction.

Cities Service was weak. Sinclair held to the upside much of the day.

Northwest Industries moved forward after announcing plans for a tender offer for B.F. Goodrich. The latter hadn't opened for trading during the first three hours.

Airlines were mixed.

'Stripper' Wells

Potlatch Takes Over Prefab Building Firm

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Potlatch Forests, Inc., has acquired from C.I.T. Financial Corp. all of the physical assets of C.I.T.'s wholly owned subsidiary, Midwest Homes, Inc., for an undisclosed cash sum.

Midwest Homes is a manufacturer of factory-built, relocatable structures with plant facilities in Carlisle, Ind., and hometown, Pa., producing schools, commercial buildings, motels and residential structures. It will operate as a part of Speedspace Corp., a Potlatch subsidiary. Speedspace produces similar structures primarily for the western part of the U.S.

"Acquisition of the midwest homes facilities will enable us to expand nationwide our activities in factory-built structures," said Potlatch's chief executive officer.

"This modernized concept of industrialized building is rapidly growing and meets present-day needs for economical construction in a short amount of time."

The new Potlatch facilities will continue to be headed by Howard C. McKinley, Midwest Homes president. McKinley has been engaged in construction activity more than 20 years and has headed Midwest Homes since it was formed.
